According to reports heard here from Tenslates. nessee, the Leas are vitally interested in the outcome of the three-cornered Republican and Socialist electors in contest for governor there, evidently in the hope that the man who is elected governor will be friendly to the Leas and refuse to honor extradition papers for them from North Carolina. tional ballot is smaller. This is based on the assumption, of course, that the United States Supreme Court will refuse to grant the Tuesday. The polls will open at sunpetition for a writ of certiorari, as rise and close at sunset, the opening it is espected to do, thus permitting the decision of the North Carolina Supreme Court that the Leas must fulfill the sentences imposed by the lower court, to stand.

It is generally agreed in political circles here that it will be impossible to extradite the Leas as long as Governor Henry Horton remains governor in Tennessee. This is because it is generally agreed that Governor

By CHARLES P. STEWART New York, Nov. 2. New York is not merely a politically doubtful state it is kaledoscopic.

It changes from day to day, almost from hour to hour, a little one way, a little the other. The stupendous bulk of the metropolitan area's population, its amazing mixture of ingredients, the utter impossibility of foreseeing its reactions with any certainty—these things have much to do with making the problem so baffling.

loss in agricultural values in Pitt county under the Hoover administration was a sum sufficient to pay all taxes in that county for forty years, Governor O. Max Gardner drew a comparison of the two political parties before an enthusiastic and over-flowing audience here last night.

Even as far back as his college days Governor Gardner said, the Republicans have been inviting a comparison of commodity prices under the Cleveland and the McKinley administrations. Governor Gardner explained that he proposed using Pitt County as the definite example. "You may change the figures as to Pitt County and apply the proper ones to each individual County and have the same picture," he said.

"Pitt is our greatest agricultural county. In 1919, under Woodrow Wilan, the crop value of Pitt County, reported by the U. S. Census, was $21, 000,000. In 1931, the crop value of Pitt County, under Herbert Hoover, had fallen to the bankrupting value of slightly more than $4,000,000. Here is a loss of $17,000,000."
