G. O. P. OLD GUARD HAS HEART SET ON COOLIDGE IN 1936

Waiting Only For Hoover To Get Out To Unfold Coolidge Emblem and Start Campaign

ELECTION NOT MUCH SURPRISE TO THEM

And Few of Them Care Much What Happened To Hoover, for They Could Not Get Along With Him; Boom For Cal Ready By Inauguration Day

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, Nov. 12. Just what the mastheads of the G. O. P. Old Guard?

Beginning by inauguration day, at the very latest, this banner will be seen fluttering from it.

"Calvin Coolidge for president in 1936!" Maybe the Old Guard will wait until Herbert Hoover is out of the White House before hoisting the Northampton ensign. Maybe not.

To unfurl the Coolidge emblem with Mr. Hoover not yet politically cold, so to speak, would be indecorous—the Old Guard knows that. Perhaps it can restrain itself until after the funeral but it is no certainty the old Guard longs mightily to see that banner streaming in the air.

There probably are not many folk who imagine that the election result was unexpected by the Old Guard. Doubtless the Old Guardsmen generally will be given credit for anticipating what was coming as foresightedly as anyone else.

There may be those, however, who assume that the G. O. P. Old Guard is in mourning for what befell on election day.

And, indeed, some Old Guardsmen are—for what befell them.

But as for what befell President Hoover? Not, but!

The woods are full of beaten Old Guardsmen who attribute their own defeat to Mr. Hoover, and if one could hear what they are all saying at the present moment, it is safe to state that one would be shocked.

The G. O. P. Old Guard was not

$123,000,000 DUE NEXT MONTH, WITH PAYMENT UNLIKELY

England And France Have Already Transmitted Notes to Washington On Subject

GREECE FAILED TO PAY ON THURSDAY

Hungary Has Advised She Cannot Pay; British Note Forwarded Hoover, And Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, Says Congress Will Get Question Again

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The many and varied speculations on the contents of the British and French debt notes, has caused the State Department to decide to make them public for Monday morning papers.

This decision was reached today after consultation with the British and French embassies. Simultaneous publication will be made in Europe.

Early publication was decided on to squelch reports that were declared misleading.

At first it seemed likely the noted would be kept secret until President Hoover's arrival in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Prospects that a Congress already on record against further reduction or cancellation may again be handed the war debts problem appeared today as President Hoover sped eastward to discuss the matter with government leaders.

Payments exceeding $123,000,000—the first since expiration of the moratorium last June—are due December 15, but already England and France have transmitted notes on the subject. Greece has failed to make a payment due last Thursday and Hungary has announced her inability to pay.

Secretary Stimson forwarded the British note to the President, who is due to arrive Tuesday. Stimson said it would be made public simultaneously in England and America, probably next Tuesday.

The French note was described as "in the same category." Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, meanwhile, said on Capitol Hill that the entire war debt problem "will be thrown into Congress" at the beginning of the December session. An administration spokesman, Reed took a prominent part in securing approval of the Hoover one-year moratorium.
