

Huey Long Still Filibustering On Glass Bank Bill

Senate Tries to Take Time Out for Considering Overriding of Philippine Bill

EASILY PASSES IN HOUSE OVER VETO

Varying Claims as to What Senate Will Do; Drastic Cloture May Be Invoked In Senate to Choke off Huey Long's Filibuster Tactics

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Filibuster, the Senate's dread old man of the sea, still rode astride that legislative body today, but the House after whopping down President Hoover's objections to Philippine independence, stepped ahead with the War Department supply bill.

Senator Long, Democrat, Louisiana, was ready to continue his delaying tactics against the Glass banking bill as the Senate came together to resume consideration of the measure. Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, author of the measure, was considering resorting to the stringent cloture rule to shut down the steady flow of debate that has swept over the Senate for the last four years.

The Philippine veto administered by President Hoover was in the Senate but leaders did not expect to call it up until Monday. The House overrode the objections of the President yesterday. There were varying claims as to what the Senate would do with it. The five-day week and extension of further Federal relief to the unemployed were considered by Senate committees while both Senate and House committees were busy with mortgage relief and bankruptcy legislation.

P. A. TILLERY DIES AT RALEIGH HOME

President of Carolina Power and Light Company Ill Five Months

Raleigh, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Paul A. Tillery, president of the Carolina Power and Light Company, died at his home here this morning after a critical illness of five months.

Mr. Tillery became ill exactly five months ago on August 14. His condition was recognized as critical almost at once, and he was treated at the Duke hospital, but was returned to his home here some time ago, when hope for his recovery was virtually abandoned.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence.

Mr. Tillery, who was 53 years old, was regarded as one of the outstanding men in the electrical power field in the South.

Paul A. Tillery crowned 22 years of association with the Carolina Power and Light Company by becoming its president in February, 1932, after it had been expanded into one of the major public service corporations of the south during his 13 years as general manager and vice president.

Unlike many other heads of large companies, Mr. Tillery was a specialist at his job. From the time he was graduated with a B. S. degree in electrical engineering by the Virginia

Old-Fashion Farm Method Suggested As Surest Way Of Solving Farm Problem

Blank's the actual name—still lives in southern Germany, tilling the same farm it has tilled for generations. A summer or two ago I visited it—an old-fashioned place I could almost recognize my wife's description.

"Investigating curiously, I learned that, in Grandfather Blank's time, the Blanks themselves had consumed approximately 90 per cent of their land's production, marketing the remaining 10 per cent for a little ready money. "Such isn't the case today. I have

Weather Map For East Is Like Patched Quilt

Almost All of Old Man Winter's Tricks Out of the Bag Along Atlantic Seaboard; Rain, Snow, Sunshine, Freezing and Sun; Fair and Warmer Sunday

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The weather map for the states east of the Mississippi river resembled a patched quilt today.

From Portland, Maine, to Miami, almost all of Old Man Winter's tricks were out of the bag. Rain, snow, sunshine, freezing temperatures—it were strewn along the way.

In Portland the mercury hovered just below freezing and the sky was overcast. In Atlantic City it was comparatively warm and there was a trace of rain.

In Buffalo, N. Y., the sun was out and the weather was crisp. In Pennsylvania and Maryland temperatures were well above freezing, but clouds obscured the sun.

In North Carolina the ground was white with snow, and freezing temperatures made outdoor activities difficult.

In the neighboring state of South Carolina the weather was fair, but the temperature lagged in the 30's.

In Georgia there was some sun and the cold was not as severe.

In Miami the temperature was in the 70's, but there was a trace of rain.

Fair weather and rising temperatures were promised for tomorrow in most of the southern states.

GET BILL CUTTING LEGISLATIVE WAGES

Employees Sharply Reduced In Measure To Be Reported Next Week

Raleigh, Jan. 14.—The General Assembly will receive from committee next week a substitute bill to cut the salaries of its employees, whose ranks have been depleted by more than fifty percent since the 1931 session.

The new bill will not recommend a horizontal salary cut of 15 percent, although it will result in about a 15 percent saving to the State. Members of the joint salaries and fees committee, in studying two separate measures submitted to them for consideration by a sub-committee, chose a bill stipulating the amount of the cut of each class of legislative employe rather than a bill cutting every one 15 percent. Both bills set a uniform mileage rate of five cents a mile. Under the 1931 law, most classes of employes were given ten cents a mile.

The new bill, as adopted by the joint committee, would slice the pay of the chief clerks from $7 a day to $6, and the pay of committee clerks from $5 to $4. Chief pages and other employes now getting $4 were cut to $3. The pay of the pages who get $2.50 a day, was not changed. The pay of first class laborers (white men) was cut from $3.50 to $3, and the pay

ECONOMY DRIVE IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY LOSING MOMENTUM

Despite Blare of Trumpets at Opening, No Legislation With Teeth Has Been Passed

ALL SALARIES ARE STILL ABOUT SAME

Status of More Important Economy Bills Thus Far Is Place in Committee, Where Some of Them May Be Kept for Long, Long Time

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Jan. 14.—

The drive for economy and salary slashing that opened with such a blare of trumpets ten days ago when the General Assembly first convened seems to be losing momentum. So far every person whose salary it was proposed to cut is still getting the same amount and at present the only bill that seems imminent of enactment is the one being prepared by the joint House and Senate committees on salary and fees to reduce the salaries of legislative employes an average of about $1 a day. This bill, if enacted, probably will not save the State more than $2,500 for the entire legislative session, which amount will not go far towards making up the present governmental operating deficit of about $5,000,000 a year.

The more important economy bills introduced so far and their status at present, are as follows:

1. The bill to reduce the salaries of all elected State officials, introduced the first day of the legislature by Representatives Johnson, of Chatham, Lumpkin, of Franklin, and Flannagan, of Pitt. The bill passed the House the first day, was passed by the Senate the second day but failed to be ratified by noon, January 7, so that it never became effective.

2. The bill by Representative Newman, of New Hanover, to reduce the salaries of members of the General Assembly to $8 a day. This bill is still in the House Salary and Fees Committee with indications that it will remain there indefinitely. Most of the members want to defer action on it until it is determined how long the assembly remains in session. If that is done, it will be too late. The bill is already regarded as being virtually dead.

AUTO LICENSE CUT WHOLLY UNLIKELY

State Needs Money Too Badly to Admit of Cutting This Out

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Jan. 14.—

Despite the number of bills being introduced in the General Assembly to reduce the cost of automobile licenses, it is a foregone conclusion that the finance committee will look with disfavor upon such legislation, since all of the bills of this character submitted to date would create an enormous hole in the State's revenue from this source of tax.

Two bills, one introduced in the house by Representative Makepeace, of Lee, and Cameron, of Moore, and

MONEY CAN BE HAD GOV. M'LEAN SAYS

Condition Now Much Same as When He Became Governor in 1925

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Jan. 14.—

While the present General Assembly and the new administration is undoubtedly facing a difficult problem in trying to find enough revenue to balance the State budget and fund the State deficit, the problem is not much bigger than that faced when he became governor in 1925, former Governor A. W. McLean, of Lumberton, said here yesterday. The only difference now is that revenue is undoubtedly harder to find than in 1925. "The present General Assembly is

Hill, of Durham, Tells Upper Body Action Is Needed to Stop Rumors Floating About

SPLIT ON GASOLINE TAX IS ALSO ASKED

Bill Would Have Third of State's Collections on That Commodity Returned to Counties for Payments on Their Bonded Indebtedness Account

Raleigh, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Nineteen members of the State Senate, attended a 24-minute session of the upper division of the General Assembly today. There are 50 Senate members.

The body adopted a resolution directing the Local Government Commission to furnish it with information regarding defaults in indebtedness payments by counties and municipal units of the State.

Senator Hill, of Durham, told the upper chamber that such action was needed "to stop rumors floating around among the creditors, bondholders and others in New York and other places."

The resolution of Senator Hill demands detailed information concerning all defaults.

Senator McNeill, of Ashe, introduced a bill calling for the State to turn back one-third of all gasoline taxes collected in the State to the various counties to be used in debt service payments.

The funds would be allocated to the counties on a three-point basis: road mileage, county population and county area. The money would be applied to either principal or interest payments on debts.

"I got tired of always finding the sink full of dirty dishes," his confession said. A plea of insanity was presented at the trial.

Party Lines Ignored In Veto Fight

Republicans and Democrats Favor Overriding Hoover On Philippine Bill

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—A Republican and a Democrat made common cause of Philippine independence in urging the Senate today to override the objection of President Hoover and grant the islands freedom.

Hardly had Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democrat leader, finished an appeal for the Senate to pass the independence measure over the presidential veto, before Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, Republican, was presented a similar argument.

Both contended that the President had presented no facts that would warrant the Senate in sustaining the veto.

The House overrode the veto yesterday.

The bill, if enacted, would abolish much of the governor's authority as director of the budget. Senator Kirkpatrick said he proposed to make it a law that State funds could be disbursed only on vouchers signed by the head of the department for which appropriations are made and counter-signed by the State treasurer.
