THE FATHERLESS: A father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows, is God in His holy habitation. - Psalm 68: 5.

New York, April 20—Maybe if I live to be a hundred I will catch up with all the goings-on among New Yorkers seeking diversion. The subject fascinates me because, for all the assumptions to the contrary, there are gaps of nothing to do in this crazy stuff d hamlet. It isn't like it used to be back home, with a variety of lovely jamborees concocted along Iron street every evening after supper time.

But the latest addition to the note book reserved for the amusements of the other inmates dawning upon this reporter with a nervous jitter, driving home through Central Park at an hour earlier than he had any business being out—7:30 a. m., to be precise—he glimpsed a caravan of serious-faced men and women tiptoeing across the sward as they brandished field glasses and imposing black-bound volumes.

Now at noon he would have assumed that this was ballyhoo for an impending movie or a new brand of low-heeled shoes, but press agents don't get up that early.

The group was bird-walking. At the Museum of Natural History a determined, if joyous group gathered at 6:30 a. m., when the latest of the late spots is shutting up in the Furious Forties. They come clad in ancient, dun-colored garments, so as not to frighten the birds.

MEANEST MAN

I wonder whether it's true that there are epidemics of cruelty. From time to time the virus seems to flow through the backwash of the metropolises—as in recent weeks, when several cases of atrocious mistreatment of animals have come to light.

The other day a fat belonging to a woman tenant of a swanky apartment house was found slashed to death with a razor. Another kitty in the same building has been poisoned four times in as many months and now has only five lives left. So great was sentiment in the neighborhood that there was talk of a posse to apprehend the criminal or criminals.

Firsh still in many memories is the poisoning to death of 14 prize dachshunds in neighboring New Jersey. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is busier than has been its wont for some time, tracing and correcting if possible cases of apparently insane cruelty to hotuses.

To the observer with slightly mystic inclination, it is clear that there are evil crevasses in the town's gigantic and uneasy soul, out of which flit mental enmities at regular intervals.

TODAY'S HOROSCOPE: The general character of this day in independent and domineering. Since there is a tendency to dig deep into mysterious things, or perhaps to use various means or uncommon channels to gain your ends, a proper appreciation may not be gained from your ends, a proper appreciation may not be gained from myour associates and there is danger of consequent neglect by them. This will not necessarily cause much worry but you should try to avoid this lack of appreciation in order to receive the reward to which you are entitled.

BEER BILL FACES ITS TEST FRIDAY Discussion Will Be Had Tomorrow When Third Reading Is Due

Daily Dispatch Bureau, in the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILL.

Raleigh, April 20.—The beer machinery bill, as written by the two Judiciary No. 1 committees of the General Assembly, has passed first reading in the Senate, but the measure will not come up for discussion until Friday, when it comes up for third reading. The bill is now being printed, and since it is a tax-raising measure and has a pass through three separate readings, it has been agreed by the Senate that debate on the bill will be delayed until the final reading so that all members of the Senate can have a printed copy.

There is expected to be some opposition to the measure, but it is not believed, or that any major amendments will be offered, since the bill is understood to have the approval of the Department of Revenue, and there are virtually no matters of controversy contained in the bill. The measure is supplemental to the Francis bill, which has already been ratified and permits the sale of 3.2 percent beer in North Carolina beginning May 1.

Outside its taxing features, the principal thing in the machinery bill is that it legalizes the manufacture of beer in North Carolina as well as the sale of beer. The Francis bill made no provision for the manufacture of beer.

Gotham's New Chief

Commissioner Bolan Police Commissioner James S. Bolan of New York, who succeeds Edward P. Mulrooney as head of Gotham's 20,000 bluecoats, is photographed at his new desk at police headquarters. Bolan, a 60-year-old bachelor, had risen from the ranks to the post of deputy chief inspector.

To Die in Chair

Preparations for execution of the death sentence upon 18-year-old Russell McWilliams have been completed at the Illinois state prison at Joliet. Clarence Darrow, veteran Chicago lawyer, has filed a final plea for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment for the youth who shot a street car conductor to death in a holdup.

WOULD COLLECT ON FACE OF POLICIES

Ingram Bill Would Make Insurance Companies Pay Amounts Agreed

Daily Dispatch Bureau, in the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILL.

Raleigh, April 20.—A hearing is expected to be held within the next few days on the bill introduced by Senator Ingram, of Randolph, requiring all insurance companies to pay the full value of insurance policies. This bill has been pending before the Senate Insurance Committee for a week, but due to the fact that many members of the committee have been away from the capital for several days, a hearing on the bill has not been arranged.

Senator Ingram yesterday sought to have the bill recalled from the insurance committee and passed under a suspension of the rules, but he withdrew his motion when there developed considerable opposition to taking this course with a Statewide bill and members of the committee assured him that a hearing would be held within the week. Senator Ingram stated that he was not opposed to his bill being thrashed out by the committee, but that he was merely afraid that it might get caught in the legislative jam toward the end of the session and die. The Randolph senator would require the insurance companies to pay the face value of fire insurance policies, whereas they now pay only three-fourths of the insured value.

1933-COBLE'S FISHERMAN'S CALENDAR-1933 BLACKER THE FISH-BETTER THE DAY FOR FISHING

Calendar grid for 1933 showing months from January to December. Each day has a fish icon indicating fishing quality (black for better, white for worse).

On the above Fisherman's Calendar the best days for fishing are indicated by a solid black fish, days not so good by a partially black fish, and poor days for fishing by a white fish. This calendar is scientifically compiled, using the moon, the signs, and every known factor that has a bearing on fishing as used by the "Old Timer," as well as the modern Sportsman. Use discretion in selecting your fishing days, and you will find this calendar to be surprisingly accurate for both inland and deep sea fishing, and for any waters in or surrounding the United States and Canada.

COBLE'S FISHERMAN'S CALENDAR. SPECIAL OFFER: With an order for 5 booklets there will be included FREE 24 IMPORTED NORWEGIAN fish hooks—made by O. MUSTAD & SON, Oslo, Norway—the world's largest manufacturers of fish hooks. In this assortment are fifteen different patterns, and 24 different size hooks—no two hooks being exactly alike, with one gold plated, one silver plated, one nickel plated, and one brass plated hook in the lot. Here you should find just the hook you have been looking for.
