WASHINGTON WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, April 20.—President Roosevelt's plan to relieve small home owners (if a householder can be said to own a home upon which he cannot meet the mortgage) constitutes practically the first notice that the "white collar worker" has had taken of him since the depression began.

The new method of enabling mortgagors, up to the $10,000 limit, to escape foreclosure will, of course, benefit great numbers of mechanical workers also. More particularly, however, it is designed to provide for folk in the clerical classification, as distinguished from dependents of agriculture and the big industries.

Hitherto the white collar chap has been so literally the "forgotten man" that he probably will have to have the fact forcibly called to his attention that at last he is being offered a modicum of the help that better organized groups are having extended to them.

BEER "ON THE HILL"

The House of Representatives' restaurant, which has resumed beer-selling after a 30-year drought, reports a lukewarm demand for the beverage.

CUTS WOULD BE SEVERE

A bill is pending in Congress to deny government loans to corporations paying any single salary above $25,000 annually. In some cases this would involve cuts as much as $1,175,000; as much as $75,000 in many instances.

ONLY ONE PREMIER

Secret service men admit deep thankfulness that Ramsay MacDonald will be the only foreign premier at the coming economic chats in Washington. The burden of safeguarding such high-powered visiting celebrities is so heavy that federal sleuths confess they shuddered at the prospect of having MacDonald, Mussolini and Hitler here together.

Chicago, April 20.—Chicago's new mayor—Edward J. Kelly—has a new idea on combining useless jobs. Prior to his election by city council as mayor, Kelly was president of the South Park commissioners—an important post. He has decided to retain that job as well as the mayoralty, but will draw only one salary.

The mayor explains, "That nothing in the law which prohibits me from holding both offices, and I believe this is a good opportunity to experiment with consolidation of governments. The functions of the city and park board dovetail in many respects."

SOME PAY TO TEACHERS

Chicago school teachers may expect some pay soon. The city cannot afford to have world's fair visitors see as the chief exhibit public school teachers unpaid for a year.

The city, of course, expects to "borrow" the money from the federal government—the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

BANK LIQUIDATIONS

The middle west is learning the cost of bank liquidations through state officials.

Depositors in 285 defunct Missouri banks have received only 24 per cent of the total deposits of $48,086,623. This covers a period from Sept. 25, 1923, to Jan. 1, 1933.

In Ohio—in Cleveland, one state bank with $13,000,000 in deposits, closed a year and a half ago, has not one penny left for depositors.

That is the reason depositors in state banks have been clamoring for federal conservators.

COST OF RELIEF

Chicago estimates that President Roosevelt's various relief projects will require from seven to ten billion dollars. Of this, only two billion is expected to come directly from the public treasury.

Savings are put at 600 millions. A deficit in the U. S. treasury of $1,185,000,000 on June 30 is predicted.

HIGHS CLASH WITH MIDDLEBURG FRIDAY

Play at League Park At 4 p. m.; J. Mills Leads Team In Mitting

Henderson high's Bulldog nine is expecting very little opposition tomorrow afternoon at League Park when they hook up with Middleburg at 4 o'clock. A previous meeting of the two nines proved very disastrous to Middleburg when they bowed before the local boys 15 to 2 in a regular slugfest.

Tomorrow is Garland Harris regular turn on the mound but the opposition being such as it is, the high school mentors will probably send in one of their rookies pitchers and save Harris, the ace of the staff, for their tilt with Roanoke Rapids here next Tuesday.

Boys Hitting Well.
The locals are pounding the apple at a fast clip with James Mills, slugging first baseman leading the hitters with an astounding average of .562 for the four games he has played this season. Rip Rogers and Bill Scoggins trail him in the percentage column with Rogers batting .500 for his five games and Scoggins hitting at a .455 clip for his five. Frank Mills has an average with the stick of .348 for the season. The locals have scored 70 runs in their five games to their opponents' 18, having lost only one game this season, losing to Roanoke Rapids 7 to 6 in a 10-inning battle in their second game of the season.

Abandonment of Gold May Furnish Jobs To Workers

creasing the turnover of currency or credit, or both—has held that slightly higher costs of living should be welcomed by the country at large if it meant widespread gains in employment and a check to the steady decrease in payrolls which the nation has endured.

Check Living Costs
In the main, bankers and economists who discussed the problem were not inclined to look for much increase in living costs.

It was pointed out that the relapse in the dollar, in terms of other currencies, had effected chiefly the raw staples which had declined much more sharply than the cost of living.

The actual gains thus far in commodity levels have been but a small fraction of the slump of the past three years.

Deflation Checkedd
How far the advances would go in stocks or commodities remained a matter of conjecture. Speculators asked could monetary measures alone restore the value of staples in which there are huge surpluses overhanging the market.

Nevertheless with many questions still unanswered hope took wings as conviction spread that the grueling deflation of prices and wages of the past three years was checked.
