Japanese Delegation Given Welcome To Washington By Roosevelt

PRESIDENT HOST AT LUNCHEON FOR NIPPON'S MISSION

Conversations on International Problems Slated To Start During he Afternoon

FAR EAST PEACE IS AMERICAN AIM

President Also Hopes To Dispel Japanese Opposition to Reduction of Armaments; Outcome of Conferences Watched for Effect Upon World Peace

Washington, May 24 (AP)-After welcoming the Japanese delegation from the front portico of the White House, President Rossevelt tollay entertained the foreign visitors at luncheon preliminary to conversations on international problems.

"I am very glad to se eyou again," said Mr. Roosevelt to Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, of Japan as they shook hands. "Welcome to Washington." The viscount was accompanied by the Japanese ambassador, Igo Fukai. Mrs. Roosevelt was with the President on the portico.

The Roosevelt leadership today aimed it stull inflance at bringing peace in the Far East and to dispel Japanese objection to reduction of armaments.

With friendly diplomacy the President turned to face a delegation of Japanese officials, whose chief already had expressed disagreement with the Roosevelt definition of an aggressor nation-one whose troops are found beyond its own frontiers in violation of treaties.

The arrival of the group, headed by former Foreign Minister Kikujiro Ishii for a series of White House conversations, followed close on the President's appeal for a non-aggression

Murder Trial of Will Hessee Will Start In Durham

Durham, May 24 .- (AP) -- Motion to quash murder indictment against Wil H. Hessee, Durham furniture dealer, and Theodore Cooper, Negro, in the fatal shooting February 25 of J. N. Lasater wer denied hree today and Judge Walter L. Small ordered the NEWS ITEM STIRRED pair to trial tomorrow.

Hessee and Cooper were arraigned todya, and Judge Small ordered a special venire of 50 men from Alamance county drawn for duty. Attorneys for the prisoners made the motion to quash the indictments on grounds that Negroes had not beer included in the grand jury panel, but Judge Small held that the motion was ineffective because the defense had faild to advance evidence that any had been illegally excluded from the drawing.

A motion of attorneys for Hessee that the case be thrown out because "O. B. Smith, a grand juror, has not paid his taxes," also was denied.

Morgan Says Credits Extended to John W. Davis, Ambassador Davis, Vice-President Dawes and Others; Senate Hearing Continues Sensation

Washington, May 24.—(AP)-J. P. Morgan testified today to the Senate investigating committee that, although he paid no income taxes in this country in 1931 and 1932, he did pay suc ha tax in England.

Senate investigators today dug deeply into the Morgan banking secrets, developing objections from J. P. Morgan to having his private firm under regulations applied to commercial banks, obtaining names of bank officials to which Morgan money had been loaned, and finding out where more of that money was deposited. George Whitney, partner of the firm, testified its members had paid about $11,000,000 income tax for 1929. "And practically nothing since then," dryly remarked Ferdinand
