NORTH WAS AMBITIOUS
AN AMBITIOUS partner always seeks to risk game, run a game into a small slam or a small slam into a grand slam. Never missing an opportunity to go game is laudable, but the games missed through trying for slams often is heart breaking. The hand today shows how ambitious North was.

♠ A 8
♥ 7 4 2
♦ A 7 5 3
♣ A K Q 2

♠ 9 7 2
♥ 10 8
♦ K J 9
♣ J 9 6 4 3

♠ 5 4 3
♥ J 9 6 3
♦ Q 10 8
♣ 10 8 7

♠ None
♥ None
♦ None
♣ J

Three rounds of trumps followed, upon the last one dummy let go its lowest diamond. With six missing hearts the odds were 65 to 33 that one opponent or the other held at least four hearts, and so it proved to be in this case. At the third lead of the suit West showed out, by discarding the 3 of clubs. The declaring side had won nine tricks to date, and the cards held about the table were as shown:

♠ None
♥ None
♦ A 7 5

♠ None
♥ J
♦ Q 10 8
♣ None

♠ None
♥ 5
♣ None

Only North and South were vulnerable when the latter player made an opening bid of 1-Spade. North went 2-Clubs, and South bid 2-Hearts, whereupon North bid 3-No Trumps. South went 4-Spades, to show his better suit. North jumped to 5-Spades, and when South bid 6-Spades, his partner bid 7-Spades, just as the declarer feared might be the result.

The opening lead was the 4 of clubs. There was no chance of making more than three club tricks, but hearts might win four tricks, which with five trump tricks and one diamond trick would fulfill the ambitious contract. There was no danger in running off three immediate club tricks and the declarer did so, discarding two worthless diamonds upon the last two tricks. South had to make a double squeeze, by leading out his last two trumps. On the first of these two leads West let go his lowest diamond, so did dummy and East. When the last spade was led from South's hand West was pinched. He had to let go his J of diamonds as the 3 of clubs would become good if West let go his last card of that suit. Dummy discarded its last club. East also was squeezed. If he let go his heart the 5 would become good in the declaring hand, but if he let go his 10 of diamonds both cards of that suit would become good in dummy. Whichever discard East made the grand slam was assured South.

Currin Sisters In Charge of Program

The Middleburg Grange met in its regular session last night at 8 o'clock in the Middleburg high school auditorium, with a good percentage of its members present.

Following the business session, a discussion was had on forming a Grange baseball team, and a committee was appointed to meet with similar committees from the other county granges to work out the rules and regulations and a schedule. The committee that is to represent Middleburg at the meeting is C. P. Rogers, chairman, Jerome Jackson C. M. Watkins, W. W. White and W. W. Currin.

The literary program for the evening was in charge of the Currin sisters. Mrs. J. K. Plummer gave a talk before the assemblage on "How To Make Money To Build a Grange Hall." Her talk was very instructive and outlined a way for the Grange to make money to build their proposed hall and community building.

A reading contest was staged between G. B. Blum, Horace Roberson, and C. P. Rogers, with M. Blum being the winner. The contest was judged by W. W. White, Mrs. Edward Holloway and Miss Minnie Watkins.

A mixed quartet composed of Forest Ellington, Allen Holloway and Misses Mae Fleming and Rose Mabry offered several songs for the enjoyment of the members. It was announced that Mrs. Plummer, lecturer, will have charge of the program at the next regular meeting. Her topic will be "Flag Day."
