NORMALCY RAPIDLY BEING RESTORED IN CUBAN REVOLUTION

Transition Called by New President "Happy Success" as Progress Is Speeded Up

CLOSER RELATIONS WITH U. S. SOUGHT

Greater Attention to Labor Problems Also One of de Cespedes' Plans for Immediate Future; Promises Clean-Up of Political Conditions

Havana, August 19 (AP)—Cuba looked back today on an eventful week that saw the overthrow of one regime and the establishment of another, and had confidence in the new order.

It was a week of revolution against Gerardo Machado and of strikes, bread riots, revolution, hunger and tumult, but Provisional President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes called it one of "happy success."

"I'm satisfied with the progress of the matters of great import that have been confided to me," he said, referring to the reorganization of the government, conversations with United States Ambassador Welles about new financial arrangements, the general restoration of order and the partial settlement of widespread strikes.

The new administration has several problems on its hands, however. A harbor strike, threats of vengeance against Machadoists and communist agitation, particularly in Santiago, were among them.

De Cespedes has promised to outline soon his government's financial and economic program.

It was predicted his program would have four main points:

Closer financial and economic cooperation with the United States;

Greater and more sympathetic attention to the problems of laborers who with their general strike, proved to be an important force in pushing Machado out;

A complete clean-up of public life and politics and the vigorous prosecution of all malefactors under Machado;

A systematic reform of the Cuban judicial system.

67 Persons In State Die In Auto Crashes In July

403 Were Injured and There Were 267 Accidents; Total Dead for First Seven Months of 1933 Is 412 for State, With 2,432 Persons Injured

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Star-Waiter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—Automobile accidents killed 67 people and injured 403 in 267 crashes involving 405 cars in July, according to figures released by Director L. S. Harris of the motor vehicle bureau of the Department of Revenue. This total of the killed in July is seven less than the number killed in June, when 74 were fatally injured in automobile accidents. But the number of injured is larger, with 403 hurt in July as compared with 370 in June. There were also more accidents in July.

The casualty list for the first seven months of 1933 stands at 412 killed, 2,432 injured in 1,718 accidents, with the addition of the July figures. This total shows a larger number killed than in the same period in 1932, when 334 were killed and 2,548 injured in 1,770 accidents. The number of persons injured and the number of accidents is less than a year ago, however, the figures show. The increase in the number of fatal accidents, despite a de-

RALEIGH SHAKE-UP IS JUST STARTING; MORE IS TO COME

It Is Now Certain That Governor Is Determined To Have Things Run His Own Way

NAMING OF NOBLE BECOMING CLEARER

His Duty In Revenue Department Is Evident, and George Pou Evidently Is Speaking With Ehringhaus' Authority in Highway-Prison Changes

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Star-Waiter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—Things are popping so fast that even old timers are having a difficult time to keep up with them. No one knows what is going to happen next, but indications are that it is going to be plenty and that the shake down in the State Highway and Public Works Commission, followed by the reorganizations in the Revenue Department by Executive Commissioner of Revenue M. C. S. Noble, Jr., are little more than preliminaries to what may happen later on.

One thing seems certain, that is, that Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus is determined to have the various departments under his immediate authority run the way he thinks they should be run, and that he is going to insist on their being reorganized along the lines he desires. It is also evident that he is not entrusting this reorganization work to the titular heads of the various departments involved, but only to his personal representatives, named by him to carry out this work.

There is no longer any doubt as to why Dr. M. C. S. Noble, Jr., was appointed executive assistant commissioner of revenue, with power to hire, fire, reorganize and make changes both in organization and personnel without any direction from Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell. At first there were a good many who could not understand why this was done. Now, since Dr. Noble has completed his organization of the sales tax division, made some changes in the highway patrol and started his survey of other divisions of the department of a good many irregularities in the handling of State money by minor employees, the reason for his appointment and assignment to a definite task is becoming better understood.

For while nothing has as yet been found, so far as can be learned to reflect directly upon the heads of any of the divisions of the Department of Revenue, it is agreed that enough has already been turned up to make it look as if some of the division heads have been rather lax in their supervision of their employees. Some think developments make it seem that Commissioner Maxwell has been too lax in his supervision of his division heads. At any rate, it is now expected that when the various divisions of the Revenue Department have been re-organized, resulting in the turning up

Teachers' Salaries $45 To $90

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—(AP)—North Carolina's school teachers would be paid salaries ranging from $45 to $90 a month during the coming year under a scale to be submitted to the State Board of Education by a special committee.

A maximum salary of $115 a month was provided for principals of seven-teacher schools with a minimum of $95. Principals of city administrative units could not receive more than $2,800 a year.

The scale has been approved by the State School Commission and likely will be acted on within a few days by the education board.

Missouri Is 22nd State Voting Wet

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Prohibition's pros and cons in Missouri, where a number of the world's largest breweries are located, voted today in a referendum on repeal of the 18th amendment.

The question doesn't seem to be whether the "show me" state will join the 21 others which already have approved repeal, but just how big a majority the wets will pile up by selecting delegates to a State convention in Jefferson City, August 20.

Central Prison was given no other details of the escape and the camp authorities said no trace of the men had been found.

Machado Hatred Used as Revenge By Some Cubans

Havana, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Mob action in Cienfuegos led revolutionary leaders today to express fears that the hatred toward ousted President Machado was being played upon by some people to obtain revenge for personal grudges.

The house of former Lieutenant Lino Lomo, of the Cienfuegos municipal police, was destroyed by a mob over the protest of members of the ABC society, the spearhead of the revolution which deposed General Machado. Members of the family were not in the house at the time of the attack.

Code For Oil Industry Is Still Big Stumbling Block Johnson Is Wrestling With

COMING INTO LINE FOR UNCLE SAM

Andrew Mellon

J. P. Morgan

The United States industrial reorganization administration has had its greatest difficulty trying to bring the steel and coal industries into line. The largest corporations of these industries are buttressed by the greatest wealth in America. J. P. Morgan is the dominating factor in the United States steel corporation and its allied coal and coke corporations. Andrew Mellon also waxes tremendous power in coal and steel and banking. These powerful men have opposed unionization of plants and other factors that accepting a code would permit or entail. President Roosevelt threatened to invoke his powers to bring steel and coal into line.

Cotton Cut Drive Soon Will Begin

Still Too Much Cotton and It Must Be Reduced Further Cobb Asserts

Washington, August 19 (AP)—Describing the 1933 acreage reduction program as a "success," C. A. Cobb, farm administration official, said today in a statement "that as soon as it is possible, a definite practical program for next year and the year following will be taken to the field."

Cobb said that despite the program for this year, which resulted in an estimated reduction of more than 4,000,000 bales, there was still an excessive supply of cotton.

"Our present situation, and the results of the acreage adjustment campaign, emphasize the necessity of carrying on," Cobb said. "We have made only a beginning."

Cobb said that if there had been no reduction this year, production would have been around 16,500,000 bales.

FIVE-LOCK BOLLS COTTON PRODUCED

Sumter, S. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Some time, perhaps in the near future, cotton acreage reduction figures probably will have to be revised, for G. C. Rowland, Sumter banker, has developed a five-lock-boll cotton to take the place of the usual four-lock boll.

In addition, the new type is an early and high-proof variety, and weighs approximately 30 per cent more than the common staple.

Like a romance is the five year story of Rowland's painstaking efforts to produce the new type, which he says produces more cotton in the same amount of work and fertilizer.

Wake Cripple Boy May Be Cured As Result Shooting

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Tragedy in a Wake county home, caused by the fatal shooting of Cliff Dillard, 33, farmer, by his 10-year-old crippled son, Purvis, may lead to a complete cure of the boy's ailment.

Impressed by the lad's frank statement that he shot his father in defense of his mother, Capt. Robert E. Babbington, superintendent of the North Carolina Orthopaedic hospital at Gastonia, has become interested in Purvis and wants to treat his crippled leg in the hospital.

DEFER HEARING OF ACCUSED POLICEMAN

DIRECTOR OF NRA IS ALSO PRESSING FOR COAL ACCORD

Hopes To Get Steel and Oil Codes to President Before Latter Leaves Tonight

TO BLOCK EVASIONS BY RESTAURANT MEN

Johnson Rules They Cannot Charge Employees For Meals Unless That Was Policy as Far Back as June; Ford Still Holds Aloof from Auto Code

Washington, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Getting final drafts of NRA codes for steel and oils on President Roosevelt's desk today was Hugh S. Johnson's chief concern, but he found time also to press for an agreement among bituminous coal perators.

While the agreement on steel, reached in the early morning hours today, was being polished for the President's signature, Johnson met oil men, conferring with that industry's wing that favors more rigid price supervision than is contained in the administration's code. Then he went into conference with his own advisors.

Although speedy agreement of a coal agreement was another NRA intention, it was conceded by officials that a final code could not be placed on President Roosevelt's desk before he leaves tonight for Hyde Park.

Johnson, meanwhile, acted to prevent evasions of the modified reemployment agreement signed by the restaurant industry. He ruled that owners could not nullify the minimum wage agreement by charging their employees for meals, unless such were in effect June 30.

Henry Ford remained outside the group of automobile manufacturers supporting the industry's code. Although there were recurring reports that he intended to submit a code of his own, NRA officials said they had received no word from the Detroit manufacturer.

Increased Sales Of Tobacco Seen For Border Belt

Florence, S. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The week-end holiday found warehousemen of the South Carolina and border tobacco belt today preparing for increased sales next week.

They looked for the quality of offerings to increase as well as the volume.

Farmers appeared satisfied with results of the past week, which saw prices increased over the first week, particularly for the higher grades. The general average in the belt for the week was estimated unofficially at between 13 and 14 cents a pound.
