MOVIE STARS THREATEN STRIKE

Threats of a strike among movie actors and actresses in the event the proposed motion picture code under consideration in Washington provides for a salary fixing board have been hurled by Eddie Cantor, inset, president of the Screen Actors' Guild. The warning follows the revelation that President Roosevelt had ordered an investigation into the high salaries of the movie stars. Frederic March, left; Ann Harding, and Adolphe Menjou, three prominent stars of the movies, are pictured as they attended a session of the guild in Hollywood to consider the code.
