Plans Near Completion For President's Ball For Community Jan. 30

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the President's Ball to be presented in the Big Henderson Warehouse Tuesday evening, January 30, simultaneously with similar affairs throughout the entire United States as a complement to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the occasion being his 52nd birthday.

A meeting of the general committee, of which C. B. Sturges is chairman, has been called for Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the H. Leslie Perry Memorial Library to which every member of the committee is asked to attend as many important features are to come before the committee for their action.

Indications, at present, are that Henderson's ball will draw one of the largest crowds probably ever to attend such an affair in this city, the public being invited to participate in this compliment to the President.

President Roosevelt, himself, was stricken with this paralysis and heard of Warm Springs and went there, was benefited and saw the benefit that others were getting from bathing in its tepid pools, that he was instrumental in raising funds for the work of the Springs to be spread in order that more children could be benefited by it.

Refreshments will be sold by a group of high school girls, the net proceeds from their sale will go to the general fund for the endowment of the Foundation.

A very famous orchestra, Gene Sammarco and his Californians, have volunteered their services for the evening, the only expense being their transportation from Columbia, S. C., here and return. The band is one of the headliners of the country, having played in many of the leading cities throughout America and will be on a tour of the leading southern schools playing for mid-winter dances when it comes to this city. This gesture on his part of this famous band is truly in keeping with the spirit of the affair, that of everyone doing his part to honor the man that is doing everything in his power to bring this country back to normalcy.

It was stated today that every cent over and above actual expenses will go to the fund to be turned over to the Foundation and that no complimentary tickets will be given to anyone regardless of what part they may play in the staging of the ball.

The committee in charge of selecting the patronesses and junior patronesses gave their list in today as follows: The patronesses are: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mills, Miss Carrie Burton, Miss Elizabeth Fox, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney P. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Latta, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Kittrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carter, Dr. and Mrs. I. H. Hoyle, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Aiford, Mayor and Mrs. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Tankersley, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rollins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Alston, Rev. and Mrs. I.

This spectator sports ensemble, worn by that platinum blonde, Jean Harlow, consists of a swagger coat of logwood seal lined with gay Scotch plaid woolen, and wrap around skirt of the plaid wool. The skirt pockets are emphasized by seal bands, and the sweeter blouse is a slipover angora.

Tightening Up On CWA-NRS Planned plan is approved and announced by Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, State CWA administrator and Capus M. Wayne, State director of the National Reemployment Service, to set up definite machinery for handling complaints and for fixing responsibility where any irregularities are found. So far as is known, North Carolina is the first state in which such a plan has been worked out and set up by the directors of these two services, entirely upon their own initiative, without waiting for instructions from Washington.

This new plan, which is expected to be put into operation immediately, provides for the thorough investigation of every complaint in the county of its origin by a committee of four, composed of the county CWA director, the county Reemployment Service manager, one member of the CWA advisory committee and one member from the county NRS advisory committee. But this county complaint board or committee will have no executive authority. It will merely investigate all complaints and make a written report on its findings to Mrs. O'Berry and Director Wayne, who

CONTRACT BRIDGE WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS BY E. V. SHEPARD FAMOUS BRIDGE TEACHER

TRYING TO MAKE GOOD AN OVERBID

FEW OF US fail to be saddled with slam declarations, every once in a while, which are beyond reasonable hopes of fulfillment, and that only can be made good by favorable card distributions and the use of the greatest care. Provided such overbids of values can be made to fulfill their contracts the declarer experiences one of the greatest thrills of the game. Sitting South my partner favored me with that pleasure on the hand shown. Neither side was vulnerable.

Hand diagram showing cards: ♠ K 9 7 6 2, ♥ Q 8, ♦ 7 6 4, ♣ A 7 4, ♠ 8 5 3, ♥ 10 9 7 6, ♦ 3 2, ♣ J 8 2, ♠ A 10, ♥ A K J, ♦ A Q 10, ♣ K 10 6 5 2

Dealing went: South, 1-Club, which certainly was a modest call; North, 1-Spades; South, 3-No Trumps, as a tenaced hand may win several tricks more as declarer than as dummy; North, 4-No Trumps, when he should have passed; South, thinking that partner must hold nearly all the missing high cards, 6-No Trumps, which West promptly doubled, thereby helping the subsequent play. The opening lead was the 3 of diamonds, going to declarer's 10. Doubtless the doubler was strong in both black suits. As the Q-J-9 were missing from my suit, it appeared better to try to establish the spades. The Ace of spades was led, followed by the 10. West covered. Dummy's K won. A low spade cleared the suit. West winning the trick with the Q.

West had no intention of leading up to my A-Q of diamonds. It would not have aided his cause to lead a short heart. He did his best when he led the Q of clubs. Declarer's K won the trick, and three rounds of hearts were taken, to the suit. West winning the trick with the Q.

The 10 of clubs was covered with West's J. Dummy's Ace won. Dummy ran its two good spades. I let go two clubs. Eleven tricks had been played. I held only the A-Q of diamonds. Dummy had the 7 of clubs and the 7 of diamonds. On the first long spade led West had to discard either his lone and good 9 of clubs, or from his K-3-5 of diamonds. He let go his lowest diamond. Upon the eleventh trick when the last spade was led from dummy, West had to again discard. If he let go his club dummy's club and the Ace of diamonds would win the last two tricks. If West let go a diamond, the Ace and Q must win the two last tricks. West was squeezed for the small slam. He let go his diamond.

Textbook Commission To Offer New History Soon

Daily Dispatch Bureau. In the Star Hotel, Raleigh, Jan. 22. Having completed its hearing of 21 history textbook publishers, the State Elementary Textbook Commission now faces the task of selecting what it considers the six to eight best history books and history series presented by these publishers. The commission is then expected to recommend the adoption of one of these series by the State Board of Education for use in the schools of the State for the next five years. For 21 textbook contracts are let for a minimum period of five years.

The commission also expects to complete its work in formulating a new course of study by February 1, according to Superintendent Clyde A. Erwin, of Rutherford county, chairman of the commission. For the law also requires the commission to prepare a new outline for a course of study in history.

Although the members of the commission have already devoted much will then take whatever action they deem necessary.

"There is nothing in this plan for the handling of complaints that gives to the local CWA or NRS officials the power to settle complaints made against them, since all decisions will eventually be made here in Raleigh by the heads of the two services," Director Wayne said today. "It does compel the heads of these two services, together with a member of the advisory committee for each service, to both hear and investigate all complaints that are made and submit a written report on their findings to me, O'Berry and he here. It will also prevent duplication of investigation by both services and the buck passing that has been going on between local managers with regard to complaints. For with a joint investigation by both managers and committees from both services mandatory, we will now be able to fix the responsibility for any violations of regulations or any other irregularities."

All complaints, as on the past, should be sent direct either to Mrs. O'Berry or Director Wayne here in Raleigh. These in turn will be referred back to the county committee for their investigation. The reports on the investigations will then be sent back here in duplicate to Mrs. O'Berry and Wayne who will have full power to act.

Director Wayne has already announced that he is going to insist more than ever that county and city reemployment managers adhere to the letter of the law more strictly than ever in making placements on CWA projects and that he will not hesitate to displace managers and put in new ones wherever irregularities are found. There are also indications that Mrs. O'Berry is going to insist upon greater efficiency on the part of county CWA managers and that those who are not measuring up to the necessary requirements are likely to be dropped. For under the law, Mrs. O'Berry has full authority to change any county administrator at any time.

NRA Wipes Out A National Blot

The new NRA Code has stabilized minimum prices for dry cleaning which average, across the country, about ONE-HALF what prices averaged four or five years ago.

True, it ends the so-called "bargains"—trick merchandising—and price wars. But, as a good citizen, you should welcome the change.

The other path led to nowhere but sweatshop hours, breadline wages, deception and dishonest practices. Conditions were frankly becoming an ugly blot on our civilization. The CODE gives you the comforting assurance that those who handle your clothes and belongings are employed on decent American standards.

For quality odorless dry cleaning, an all-round service and a square deal—and an equal price. PHONE 464.
