Chief of Police W. H. Rawlinson said the young man admitted early today that he had forced A. B. Bryan, Clemson College extension editor, and J. E. Groce, Lyman mill personnel director, to drive their cars into the country at pistol points recently and robbed them.

Griffin waived a preliminary hearing today on two charges of burglary and one of highway robbery with firearms, lodged against him locally, and was bound over to the Richland court of general sessions under $3,000 bond. He remained in jail in lieu of bail.

Chief Rawlinson said any action by Spartanburg of Greenville authorities on the abduction confessions, which he and Detective R. F. Should the youth be convicted here, Rawlinson said, he could be turned over for trial up-state after serving his time here.

Farley Tells Rotary Convention President's Head Is Cool and His Feet on the Ground at All Times; New Deal Thought Out By Roosevelt Himself

Detroit, Mich., June 27. (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley assured delegates at the convention of Rotary International today that there is no danger of any college professor leading President Roosevelt off on a haphazard adventure.

He told them that the President's departure from the old practices of rugged individualism was long planned and is now beginning to pay dividends.

"I know of no man with a more definite mind than his," said Farley. "I know of no executive less likely to be swayed by impractical theories, regardless of their source, than the President."

"To listen to our critics, one would think that the various elements of the recovery program were haphazard adventures, made on the spur of the moment, because some professor whispered to him."

"This program was worked out in Mr. Roosevelt's mind before he was even nominated for the Presidency. There is nothing impulsive about him, except the impulse to serve his country, and you may be sure that his head is cool and his feet are on the ground at all times."

The brothers, Al and Fred Key, said they had not given up hope of breaking the present record, and announced they would make another attempt as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

"This is a very, very fine group which I know will render the State an intelligent and patriotic service," the governor said.
