Comet Plane of Scott and Black Crosses Goal After Leaving London 71 Hours Before and Win $50,000 Speed Race of More Than 11,000 Miles

Melbourne, Australia, Wednesday, October 21 (AP)—Two Englishmen, Charles W. A. Scott, 31, and Tom Campbell Black, 35, won the $50,000 speed race from England to Melbourne yesterday, but their closest competitors, a Dutch team in an American plane, won a fight for their lives early today.

The flying Dutchmen, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, with five other persons in their big transport plane, were hours ahead of the closest competitors, Colonel Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn at midnight.

Then they became lost in rainstorms which were sweeping over the high uplands north of the Australian Alps. Anxious Australians on the ground saw flares dropping from the great ship from the sodden skies as the pilots wandered trying to locate their bearings.

Race headquarters in Melbourne received an SOS wireless message from the ship. No one could go to the rescue but a stream of radio messages was sent up in an effort to help the distressed fliers.

Soon after came news that Parmentier and Moll had landed safely at Albany, about 200 miles northeast of the finish line. They were only an hour from the home port.

The comet plane of Scott and Black crossed the finish line at 3:34 p. m., 12:20 a. m. eastern standard time yesterday, setting a record of 70 hours, 59 minutes, 50 seconds from Middenhall airdrome, England.

To Arraign Hauptmann Wednesday

Date To Be Fixed for Murder Trial In Kidnaping of Lindbergh Baby

Flemington, N. J., Oct. 23 (AP)—Erno Hauptmann will be arraigned tomorrow in the charge of murdering Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son. He will plead not guilty. That is the only answer to a first degree murder indictment which New Jersey law permits.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, who will preside, also is expected to fix the date for Hauptmann's trial, aftermath of the kidnaping of Charles Lindbergh, Jr., in 1932.

After the arraignment, the New York carpenter will go back to his cell in the Hunterdon county jail, there to resume his restless pacing and nervous consumption of cigarettes, and await the brief visits of his wife. She has asked that she be allowed to see his own infant son.

For all his stringently controlled agitation, Hauptmann, according to physicians who have examined him here, is in good physical condition, although he is thinner by 30 pounds than when he was arrested a month ago.

WEATHER FOR NORTH CAROLINA Fair, slightly colder on the north coast tonight; Wednesday fair.

It was Purvis who led the Federal agents who recently killed John Dillinger.

AMERICAN LEGION HOLDS ITS PARADE

All Miami Turns Out For Brilliant Coloring of National Convention

Miami, Fla., Oct. 23 (AP)—The American Legion went on parade today.

Thousands of uniformed Legionnaires cast convention business aside for the huge annual pageant of bands, drum and bugle corps and drill teams. And all of Miami except public utility workers took the day off so the city's 110,000 might cheer the marchers. It was a holiday by proclamation of Governor Dave Scholtz and local authorities.

The path of the marchers was the shortest in the history of Legion parades—scarcely two miles.

The route lay between long rows of newly-erected grandstands along palm-lined Biscayne boulevard and passed the reviewing stand before National Commander Edward A. Hayes and his distinguished guests.

Automobiles were barred from much of the city's downtown area that the parade might form and disperse without interference from vehicles.

Legionnaires estimated it would require at least five hours to pass the reviewing stand after the first units salute the national commander.

PICCARDS DRIFTING TOWARD SOUTHEAST OVER AKRON REGION

Traveling About 15 Miles an Hour After Leaving Detroit Airport in Early Morning

AIRPLANES SIGHT BAG AND GONDOLA

Barely Clears Clump of Trees as Mrs. Piccard, Only Licensed Woman Balloon Pilot in Nation, Throws Over 50 Pounds of Lead Ballast Carried Along

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23 (AP)—Veering southward, the stratospheric balloon in which Dr. Jean and Mrs. Jeanette Piccard are making observations of the cosmic rays was sighted over Akron, Ohio, about 1 p. m. today at an altitude of about 40,000 feet. The report received from the Akron airport said the balloon was drifting in a southeasterly direction at a speed about 15 miles an hour.

It was sighted from an airplane. At noon it had been seen over Cleveland, and fellow birdmen who sighted it said that apparently all was well with the husband and wife crew.

Lou Gravis, a United Air Lines pilot who sighted the huge silver bag over Cleveland said its altitude was "very high," and Beckwood J. Hill, chief of the ground crew here, said he believed the Piccards were 40,000 feet or more high.

Gravis saw the balloon at 11:45 a. m., eastern time. At 10:10 a. m., an American Air Line pilot, S. Stephens, reported sighting the stratospheric fliers between Sandusky and Lorain, Ohio, which meant they had completed the hazardous flight across Lake Erie.

The Piccards took off from Ford airport at 6:58 a. m., the gondola barely clearing a clump of trees as Mrs. Piccard, the only licensed woman balloon pilot in the United States, hastily dumped 50 pounds of lead ballast. The obstacles might have ended the flight disastrously within the view of the 45,000 spectators.

Five Years Ago Today It Started

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Five years ago this week crowds gathered in Wall Street to watch unwittingly the end of the "new era."

As panicky thousands listened to the muffled roar from the trading floor, officers of the law lined the steps of the sub-Treasury, blocked the entrance to the Federal Reserve Bank and guarded the stock exchange.

Through the streets and brushed against the doors of the exchange anxious for information.

At 3 p. m., on Wednesday, October 23, 1929, a shout of relief rose above the rumble of trading hysteria as the final gong rang. Exhausted traders had witnessed the sharpest crash in stock prices since the war, the beginning of the end of the fabulous era of the 20's.

CONDEMNED WAYNE MAN URGES WOMAN TO REVEAL TRUTH

Tells Mrs. Grice, Whose Husband He Was Convicted of Killing, He Is Not Afraid

READY TO DIE, BUT PLEADS FOR FACTS

Says He Has Unbosomed Whole Story; Calls Pardon Commissioner at 2:30 a. m. and Talks; Woman and Her Brother Brought From Goldsboro Under Arrest

Raleigh, Oct. 23 (AP)—Sensational developments in the case of Rufus Satterfield, Wayne county man scheduled to be electrocuted Friday for the alleged murder of Herbert Grice, came fast today after Satterfield called Parole Commissioner Edwin M. Gill to the prison at 2:30 this morning to make a new confession, and "tell the truth."

As a result of the new confession, Sheriff Paul Garrison, of Wayne county, this morning between 4 and 5 o'clock again, arrested Mrs. Ruth Grice, the widow of Herbert Grice, and her brother, Donald Sasser, in connection with the killing. Before Satterfield was tried, the two were indicted in the case, but no proceedings with leave were taken after Satterfield's conviction.

Sasser and Mrs. Grice were brought to Raleigh by Wayne police and this morning Mrs. Grice was confronted by Satterfield.

A newspaper man who entered the room where Mrs. Grice was being questioned was quickly ejected, but not before he saw Satterfield sitting

School Group To Demand $25,000,000 Next Year

"As Much Money for Schools as for Highways" Is Battle Cry of School Forces; But Highways Have Money and Schools Haven't and Nowhere To Get It

Daily Dispatch Bureau, in the Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. Baskerville.

Raleigh, Oct. 23—"As much money for schools as for highways" is to be the battle cry of the school forces in the forthcoming General Assembly which meets in January, with an accompanying effort to divert several million dollars a year from the highway fund to the general fund to be used for school purposes, according to those who have been attending the meetings held last week in Asheville and this week in Greensboro under the auspices of the Committee on the emergency in Education in North Carolina, of which E. C. Sisk, North Carolina representative of the Rand McNally Book Company, is chairman. Since the State Highway and Public Works Commission has already

To Increase Allotments For Cotton

College Station, Raleigh, Oct. 23.—Cotton allotments for 1935, under the adjustment contracts, will be 25 per cent larger than they were this year. This year a grower who had a base of 10 acres was allotted six acres to plant. Next year he probably will be allotted seven and a half acres, according to Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College.

The increase in allotments to be allowed is due largely to the fact that the cotton program has removed most of the surplus cotton that was responsible for the low prices of 1932 and growers can now start producing as much cotton as is consumed each year, the dean explained.

The exact size of the allotments will not be announced, Schaub added, until the AAA cotton section finishes its study of the cotton situation, including both domestic and foreign markets.

Growers who have already signed contracts will keep the contracts they have, while non-signers will be given another chance to join the program and participate in the rental and benefit payments.

Schaub pointed out that the referendum to be conducted on the Bank-head act will in no way effect the

DEPOSIT 'PAY-OFF' TO COME UP AGAIN

One of Problems New Deal Hasn't Helped Much as to Closed Banks

By LESLIE EICHEL (Central Press Staff Writer)

New York, Oct. 22.—Depositors in banks still closed are not feeling any too chirper. Not much publicity is given to what banks did not pay.

Depositors in national banks in receivership since the banking holiday have averaged only a little more than 50 cents on the dollar. State banks in receivership presumably have paid less. One of the largest of the state banks—the Guardian of Cleveland—

Revenue On Cigarettes At New Top

All-Time High Of $100,378,994 In 3 Months Ending On September 30

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—Internal revenue receipts from cigarettes reached an all-time high of $100,378,994 for the three months ending September 30.

At the same time, Treasury figures on collections from several other tobacco sources showed declines, indicative of changing habits.

Small cigarettes—the ordinary size—produced the great bulk of tobacco revenue. They brought in $9,648,776 more during the quarter than in the same period of 1933, and $25,000,000 more than in 1932.

The largest first quarter prior to this fiscal year was in 1930, when nearly $98,000,000 was collected.

The yield this year was approximately one-eighth of the quarter's receipts from all sources, after deducting silver income and processing levies.

While cigarette collections have steadily moved up year after year, tax revenues from cigars have shrunk steadily.
