

SATTERFIELD WILL OBTAIN REPRIEVE

Lawyers To Seek New Trial of Man Slated for Execution Friday

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. Baskerville.

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—Rufus Satterfield, of Goldsboro, sentenced to be electrocuted at Central Prison here Friday for the murder of Herbert Grice the night of October 22, 1933, in Goldsboro, will probably be granted a reprieve between now and Friday, it was indicated here today by Commissioner of Parole Edwin M. Gill. This reprieve, if granted, will be only to permit attorneys for Satterfield to make a motion for a new trial under the Casey case opinion of the State Supreme Court and will not take into consideration the merits of the case or any arguments presented at the hearing last week by attorneys for Satterfield, it was indicated. Since a motion for a new trial cannot be lodged until court convenes the first week in November, the reprieve is of course necessary.

Satterfield was convicted of killing Grice, supposed to have been a close friend of his, from ambush. The prosecution attempted to show that Satterfield was in love with Mrs. Grice and did show that he had been a frequent visitor in the Grice home, usually when Mr. Grice was absent at work. One witness definitely identified Satterfield as the man she saw leave the vacant lot and enter an automobile the night of the murder. Another witness said that Satterfield "looked like the man" she saw leave the vacant lot from which Grice was shot the night of the murder. There was also much circumstantial evidence involving Satterfield.

The basis for the request for a new trial is an alleged confession which Satterfield now says that Sasser, brother of Mrs. Grice and brother-in-law of the slain man, made to him in which Sasser said he shot Mr. Grice accidentally. It is evident that authorities here are not much impressed with this alleged confession and that they are inclined to wonder why Satterfield and his attorney waited until a week before the date for the execution to present this new evidence. However, it is regarded as certain that a reprieve will be granted to permit attorneys for Satterfield to present this new evidence to the presiding judge of the Superior Court in the Goldsboro district under the Casey case precedent.

School Group To Demand $25,000,000 Next Year

indicated it will ask for an appropriation of $25,000,000 next year and the next from State funds, this would indicate that the school forces intend to make a drive for a school appropriation of not less than $25,000,000 a year, an increase of $9,000,000 a year above the present appropriation of $16,000,000 a year for the public schools. This would be enough to grant a nine per cent increase in the salaries of all teachers, principals and superintendents, whose salaries have been cut only 30 per cent since 1929. When the State Department of Public Instruction recently appeared before the Advisory Budget Commission, it requested an appropriation of only $20,000,000 a year for the next two, which would have been sufficient to grant a salary increase of 25 per cent.

If the school forces could show the General Assembly how it can find revenue with which to provide $25,000,000 a year for schools as easily as the highway department can show how it can find $25,000,000 a year for roads, the matter would be comparatively simple, it is pointed out here. For the indicated revenue of the highway department for the next two years, including $2,528,000 a year which it will receive from the Federal government if matched by State funds, is $25,352,000 a year without calling for any increase in highway fund taxes. But if the schools are to get an increase of $9,000,000 a year in excess of the present appropriation of $16,000,000, the General Assembly must levy $9,000,000 a year in additional taxes of some sort. It is also pointed out that all the other State institu-

Bilious Attacks

For bilious attacks due to constipation, thousands of men and women take Theford's Black-Draught because it is purely vegetable and brings prompt, refreshing relief. "I have used Black-Draught," writes Mr. T. L. Austin, of McAdenville, N. C. "There is a package of it on my mantel now. I take it for biliousness. If I did not take it, the dizziness and headache would put me out of business. It is the quickest medicine to relieve me that I know."

tions and departments—the State University, the various teachers' colleges and other branches of the government—will also ask for substantial increases in appropriations for the next two years. In fact, the increase in the requests already made before the Advisory Budget Commission is almost $11,000,000 in excess of the present appropriations made by the 1933 General Assembly. If the school forces insist upon asking for $5,000,000 more a year for schools than the State Department of Public Instruction has already asked for, it will bring this total to $15,000,000 in excess of present appropriations, without including the highway requests.

The highway commission maintains it is justified in asking for an appropriation of $25,000,000 a year, since it has its own revenue supplied by those who use the highways, in the form of the gasoline tax and the automobile license tax. But those who pay the highway tax—the automobile, truck and bus operators—maintain that if the highway department is not permitted to use its own revenue, that none should be diverted to any other uses. Instead they maintain that the automobile and license taxes should be reduced. There is no doubt that this group is preparing to fight any highway fund diversion more bitterly than ever before.

The school forces are apparently in high spirits, according to those who have attended these recent meetings in Asheville and Greensboro, and seem certain they will be able to get from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year for schools from the next legislature.

Scramble Starts For Appointment For School Head

spirited contest between various factions in educational circles is going to develop, according to informed opinion here. In fact, some half a dozen names have been mentioned for several months as possible successors to Dr. Allen in case his health should not permit him to complete his term of office. There are also indications that the friends of some of these prospective candidates have already brought them to the attention of Governor Ehringhaus.

So far, of course, the governor has given no indication as to who he expects to appoint to succeed Dr. Allen. He may appoint some one whose name has not been mentioned at all. But if he does not make the appointment in the very near future it is agreed that very strong pressure will be brought to bear on him by the groups backing different candidates. Among those whose names are being mentioned as possible successors to Dr. Allen are T. Wingate Andrews, superintendent of the High Point city schools; Superintendent H. P. Harding, of the Charlotte city schools; County Superintendent Frank A. Edmondson, Mecklenburg county schools, at one time connected with the State Department of Public Instruction under Dr. Allen; Superintendent Guy E. Phillips, of the Greensboro city schools; County Superintendent Clyde A. Erwin, of the Rutherford county schools; Dr. J. Henry Highsmith, high school inspector for the State Department of Public Instruction; Dr. M. C. S. Noble, Jr., at present assistant commissioner of revenue, but formerly connected with the State Department of Public Instruction and several others.

While many here feel that some one like Mr. Andrews in High Point is the type needed to carry on the work so ably started by Dr. Allen, indications are that of those being mentioned, Superintendent Phillips of Greensboro and Superintendent Erwin, of Rutherford county, seem to have the strongest backing from the organized school forces. Reports heard here indicate the more extreme wing of the North Carolina Education Association especially the city superintendents and principals and those more bitterly opposed to State control and regulation of the schools, are backing Phillips for the appointment. On the other hand, many of the county superintendents and principals, as well as most of the textbook publishing companies and their representatives are reported to be urging the appointment of Erwin.

Both Phillips and Erwin are conceded to occupy a strong position as far as support from within the ranks of the school forces is concerned, since Phillips is now president of the North Carolina Education Association, with its membership of some 20,000 teachers, principals and superintendents, while Erwin is a past president of the association. Both Phillips and Erwin have been bitter opponents of State control of the schools and school funds and opposed the enactment of the present eight-months State-supported school plan in the 1933 General Assembly. Both favored the diversion of part of the highway fund to school purposes and are understood to still favor even more diversion than was obtained from the 1933 General Assembly which decreed that $1,000,000 a year should go from the highway fund into the general fund, ostensibly for school purposes.

It is agreed, however, that if either candidate had the backing of the entire association he would be much stronger. As it is, with city superintendents, principals and teachers and the "more money for schools at any price" element reported backing Phillips and the county superintendents, principals, teachers and school book publishers said to be backing Erwin, there is a possibility that the ranks of the school forces may become so divided that they will reach a stalemate and neither be appointed. In fact, a good many doubt if Governor Ehringhaus will name either Phillips or Erwin because of their known lack of sympathy with the present State school law.

directly in front of her with his hands on Mrs. Grice's lap, pleading: "Ruth, I am not afraid to die, but I want you to tell the truth. I have told the truth of my connection with it."

A police officer, thought to be the chief of the Goldsboro police, addressed Mrs. Grice and told her: "If you had seen Rufus when he broke down here at 2:30 this morning! If you could have been here and seen him weeping, you would not withhold a statement a moment longer."

Parole Commissioner Gill gave newspaper men a copy of the new confession which Satterfield made and which directly implicated Mrs. Grice in the slaying and charged Donald Sasser with doing the actual shooting.

Shortly thereafter Mr. Gill announced that Governor Ehringhaus had granted Satterfield a 30-day reprieve.

Portions of the written statement made by Satterfield, which Mr. Gill released for publication, were: "Donald Sasser and I went there to kill Grice because he had mistreated Mrs. Grice, and had threatened her, me and onal, and because Mrs. Grice asked us to. Mrs. Grice knew all about it. Herbert Grice had mistreated his wife and did not deserve to live. I loved Mrs. Grice, and I think a lot of her now."

Deposit 'Pay-Off' To Come Up Again

has paid only 21 cents, and indications are that will be all.

Deposits now are guaranteed up to $5,000 but the several million depositors who lost their money in closed banks haven't overly much to guarantee now. Thus the increasing probability of a depositors' payoff is again this coming session of Congress.

DEPOSITS INCREASE

Demand deposits in banks of the United States increased more than 1-2 billion dollars in the past year—and the amount of currency outstanding has increased nearly 100 millions over last year. Currency in circulation was high a year ago already.

Critics say that the increases were artificially created, and thus do set wheels into motion. Critics add, that real improvement comes from the reverse—business creating wealth, instead of money and credit, trying to create business.

Business is created by trade and international trade obstacles are such now that money will continue to pile up until it will be a mockery because of its worthlessness.

With the United States owning the most gold of any country in the world, with its bank deposits and its natural resources the greatest of any country, 10 to 11 million unemployed walk the streets or drain the country by a dole of some sort.

(The men, of course, ought not to be permitted to starve—the men ought to be put to work. That is what they desire more than anything else. The question is brought up here because critics point out that our chief problem is far from solved.)

ing, $2,000,000 shares were transferred. One stock broke 96 points another 77, a third 46, while breaks of $6 to $15 a share were common.

Even after a month of nervous and erratic markets, the disaster which engulfed Wall Street struck with unforeseen force. The morning paper of October 23 prominently displayed the statement of a leading economist that the market was not inflated.

FISH ROT WHILE NEEDY GO HUNGRY

Carteret County Fish Industry Finds Market Poor These Days

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. Baskerville.

Raleigh, Oct. 22.—Between 200,000 and 300,000 pounds of fish have gone to waste on the North Carolina coast during the last several weeks in spite of the fact that thousands of families in this State and elsewhere are in need of food, R. W. Prescott, secretary of the Carteret County Commercial Fishermen's Association, here in interest of the industry said today.

"I have seen 25,000 pounds of choice mullets pulled up on the beach to rot because there was no market recently," Mr. Prescott declared. "The fishermen are making good catches these days, especially of spots, mullets and bluefish but there is no demand, so a large part is being wasted. When the fishermen are able to find a market they get only about one or one and a half cents a pound for their fish."

"At the suggestion of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and the Department of Conservation and Development, the emergency relief administration through Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, State administrator, has agreed to purchase some of the fish for salting and distribution to those on relief rolls in the State. This should help to some extent by taking care of some of the immediate surplus, but the fishing industry needs more permanent measures to assist in the desperate situation."

A special committee including representatives of the Department of Conservation and Development and the new fishermen's organization is planning to go to Washington early next week for a conference with officials of the Bureau of Fisheries in an attempt to work out measures to help the fishermen. L. Ward, Jr., will represent the conservative board and Director R. Bruce Etheridge has asked Capt. John A. Nelson, fisheries commissioner, to represent the department. Mr. P. Scott plans to attend in the interest of the new fishermen's organization.

Governor Ehringhaus has written all the fish dealers on the coast to urge that every effort be made to pay the fishermen a more adequate price for their product.

ERROR IS MADE IN NAMING FURNITURE

The Daily Dispatch regrets the typographical error that caused a misspelling of the furniture advertised for sale last week by Mrs. F. L. Toepelman. The word "Sheridan" was used when it should have been "Sheraton". The error was in the handling of the advertising in the Dispatch office. Mrs. Toepelman had advertised that she had one Sheraton mahogany dining table and one Sheraton mahogany card table for sale.

AAA adjustment program, since the contracts were signed for a two year period, with the provision that the secretary of agriculture could terminate them at the end of one year if necessary.

When the referendum is conducted, the growers will have a chance to make known their wishes in regard to whether those who have signed contracts wish to be protected by the Bankhead Act from growers who do not sign, he observed.

Unless the act is continued, he said, non-signers will be able to increase their production as much as they wish and offset much of the work done by the signers in eliminating the surplus and bringing prices back to a fairer level.
