TWO TALKS HEARD BY ROTARY CLUB

G. B. Blum and R. G. Harrison Speak to Civic Club on Farm Relations

Two very interesting talks were heard by the Rotary club at its regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the American Legion

George B. Blum, vocation agriculture teacher for Vance county, spoke to the group on "the obligation of the city man to the rural man." R. G. Harrison executive vice president of the First National Bank, followed with "The rural man's obligation to he city man.

Both talks were most interesting and clearly showed that the line of demarkation between the two is gradually fading as a result of rural electrification, R. F. D., good roads and other modern features. The speakers told of the friendly attitude that now exists between the two, how the frequent visits of the rural man to the city has brought him in closer contact with the city man, bringing on better relations Both speakers agreed that the rural and city man were each dependant upon the other.

The next meeting of the club, scheduled for Nov. 6, has been postponed in order that the group may meet in joint session with the American Legion and the remaining civic club in the city on Nov. 12 in celebration of Armistice Day.

On November 15, the club will go to Oxford for an inter-city meeting, this taking the place of their meeting for Nov. 13 it was stated by the secre-

COLORED FAIR IS OPENED TUESDAY

Successful Fair Expected With Many Exhibits and Shows In Place

(Reported to The Dispatch) The Vance County Colored Fair, after suspension for the past two or more years, stepped off Tuesday afternoon in fine order. The exhibit house was full of lovely produce and work of the surrounding community and bids fair to tax the minds of the judges in selecting the prize exhibits. The carniva, shows and attractions are up-to-date with a snappy colored band and a colored free act of slack wire walking and a dog high diver. The wire walker is more at home as his nimble feet glide up and down their almost imaginery path than orindary walkers are on mother earth. The well trained dogs ascend a ladder of about 50 feet, balances itself and springs off into a net safely and cleverly.

The outlook is that a fair is being held this year from which will come much honor and credit to the community at large. The success of this ing work of Robert Hawkins, general manager. Friday is school day for all school children.

LIBRARY RECEIVES A NEW DICTIONARY

This Edition of Webster's Volume Said To Have Cost One and One-Third Million Dollars

A copy of the new edition of Webster's New International Dictionary has just been received at the Perry Library, and is now re dy for reference by library patrons, Miss Louise McDearman, the librarian, an-nounced today. This new edition is aid to have been produced at a cost of one and one third million dollars.

In all, to date, there have been ten Webster and Merriam-Webster Dictionaries: An American Dictionary of the English language, edited by Noah Webster, in 1828; the Revised Edition, in 1840; a new and revised edition, edited by Chauncey A. Goodrich, in 1847; a revised and enlarged edition with pictoria; illustrations and a table of synonyms, edited by Chauncey A. Goodrich, in 1859; the Unabridged, with vocabulary three times the size of the 1828 dictionary, and with etymologies revised, with Noah Porter as editor in chief, in 1864; the Unabridged, with a pronouncing biographical dictionary in 1879, and with pronouncing gazetteer in 1884; the International with Noah Porter as editor in chief and oomis J. Campbell as general editor, in 1890; the Internation, with supplement, in 1900; and the New International, having more than 400,000 entries, with W. T. Harris as editor in chief and F. Sturges Alas general editor in 1909.

That Darwin was an athiest That pythons and boa-constrictors are poisonous. That Dumas created the character

D'Artagnan in "The Three Musketee-

That there isn't such a thing as an automatic revolver. Stuart Stair of the Volunteer Rifle and Pistol Club, Knoxville, Tenn. has got me on this After it was stated here Oct. 11 that automatic revolvers do no texist, he presented proof that there is a "Webley-Fosbery" automatic revolver, the only one made. This type of arm is rather scarce in this country, but is rather widely used in Europe."

"The distinguishing characteristic of a pistol is that the chamber holding the cartridge is integral with the barrel. A revolver, on the other hand, has a separate barrel, and the sylinder has a number of chambers, the mechanism of the arm bringing them one at a time in line with the
