Duke And Carolina Be Outstanding Grid Clash

Six Tar Heels Face Duke for Last Time; Championships At Stake

The outstanding football game of the 1934 season for the State is the coming clash between the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina and the Blue Devils of Duke University Saturday at Chapel Hill.

The ticket sale has been one of the best advanced ones in the records, according to G. E. Shepherd at the ticket office, but plenty of fine seats are still available.

Captain George Barclay and five other seniors will be making their final appearance against the Blue Devils and will be seeking their first victory over them. They are Kahn, Jim Tatum, Charlie Shaffer, Pepper Martin and Ralph Gardner.

The championship of both leagues will be at stake in the 47-year rivalry clash between the schools, and with both clubs pointing to victory, all indications are for a brilliant exhibition of football.

This year's game is drawing added interest from the fact that it will mark the first time that Duke's "old master" Wallace Wade, and Carolina's new miracle worker, Carl Snavely, have matched wits on the grid.

If the Tar Heels win Saturday, their season will rank as their finest record since 1929.

While Wade's forwards are lighter than those of Snavely, they are scrappers. They have spotted pounds to all save one team they have met this season, but they have performed their chores well and will go into that battle with the great Tar Heel line Saturday determined to give their all. It will be their greatest test.

One of the interesting "private duels" that will be watched in the game Saturday will be the battle between the two Captains, Barclay and Jack Dunlap, both men play the identical position, whipping guard on the offense and back up the line on the defense.

An added feature to the game, given it plenty of color, will be the two huge bands of the schools and the cheering sections facing each other across Kenan Stadium.

TODAY'S HOROSCOPE

You who were born on this day will probably achieve success as well as yesterday's child, but in a different way. There are trials before you and you will probably suffer some privation before you reach the goal. The mind is a little too sensitive and perhaps too critical, considering the conditions. There is danger of adverse influences from relatives.

STATE WILL PLAY GEORGIA SATURDAY

College Station, Raleigh, Nov. 14—Raymond Redding has no fear of Bulldogs, even if they are from Georgia.

A year ago State played Georgia in a football game at Athens, and that afternoon Redding nipped the Bulldogs more than once. He scored State's only touchdown, broke up Georgia's end runs, and did some fine blocking.

State meets Georgia again Saturday at Athens and Redding, co-captain of the State team, will lead the Wolves. Redding has been playing fine ball this fall, and although Georgia will be laying for him, the Bulldogs will find Redding troublesome even if they put two or even three men on him.

DUKE AND CAROLINA ARE AN EVEN BET

Durham, Nov. 14—Due to the marked similarity in their records for the season, Duke and North Carolina will enter their 1934 battle at Chapel Hill Saturday on even terms.

The two teams have battled mutual foes about on even terms and the experts are having a hard time deciding which eleven will win the annual classic. Carolina at times has shown better than the Blue Devils, and vice versa.

There can certainly be no "favorite" apparently the only difference is that the Tar Heels will be playing on their home field.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

New York, Nov. 14—Horse Show: Madison Square Garden... the great chameleon... Shifting color with a sharp, contrasty ease—from a mammoth beauty contest to the Rodeo to the Horse Show... Gum chewing cuties into swaggering, sunbrowned "laredos" into genteel, almost lady-like gentlemen in top hats, sitting on overgrown baby carriages behind sheepishly manicured steeds...

The Horse Show is worth a trip if only to get the feeling that prosperity is with us again... A jaunty "darky" and a bundle of mink to the square yard... Roseate gentlemen who seem to have had too much roast beef and pale tailed patriots who seem never to have had any... High-toned chatter round about with the Theater Guild, inferiority complexes, the Vanderbilt child-custody squabble H. G. Wells, new book, Billy Rose's Music Hall and other such lofty matters filling the air...

Here comes—why, of course, it is!—little Eileen Gillespie, who almost married an Astor... She enters with a slow of debilitates and a whispering dowager nearby pipes sotto voce that one of them is emmeshed in imitation fur... Eileen and her pals have a little "vesdropping" revells, dash away from one of the high-hat boxes to catch a smoke... To an old sociologist this cheers with reflection that the young folks still are subjected to stiff chaperonage...

State Is Driving On Laundries and Cleaners for Tax

Daily Dispatch Bureau, in the Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. Bankerville.

Raleigh, Nov. 14—A laundry that some way or other neglected to affix one of the State tax stamps to a package of laundry to a new customer, now wishes it had affixed the stamp showing the State tax of one per cent had been paid. For the new customer happened to be a deputy collector of the State Department of Revenue. Next day he started to investigate to see if the laundry had left the tax stamp off his package of laundry by accident or with intent to evade the tax. When he left the laundry, he had a check for $200, which he had collected after auditing the books of the laundry and comparing the gross receipts shown, as compared with the number of stamps the laundry had purchased.

"The experience of this inspector is being duplicated in every part of the State almost every day," according to George G. Scott, director of the division of accounts of the State Department of Revenue, and who told the above incident. "Now that we have about cleaned up all the license taxes and have the sales tax collections flowing in more smoothly all the time, the field deputies are having more time to devote to checking up on other taxes."

YOU'RE WRONG IF YOU BELIEVE—

That broadcasting began at Pittsburgh in November 1920, as is frequently claimed. It didn't. The first demonstration of broadcasting was given in 1902. Tufts College began broadcasting music in 1914. Dr. Lee De Forest broadcast productions of the Metropolitan Opera Co., prior to 1920. The air is the best conductor of radio waves. It isn't. Best conductor of radio signals is water. Second best: Ground. That Edison invented the electric light. That the jiricksha is a Japanese vehicle. That snakes are charmed by music. That tortoise-shell comes from tortoise.

Duke Line Stalwarts

Four stalwarts of the Duke line to whom followers of the Blue Devils will be looking in the Duke-Carolina game are shown above. Left to right are Jim Johnston, guard; Gus Durner tackle; Elmer Tarrall, end; and Tom Power, tackle. Tarrall, out of action for two weeks due to an injury, may be able to play against the Tar Heels.

BARIUM CHURCH TO REMEMBER ORPHANS

Barium Springs, Nov. 14.—Little Joe's Church, made up largely of boys and girls in the Presbyterian Orphans Home at Barium Springs and those who work at the institution, yesterday took the annual Thanksgiving offering and contributed the largest amount that has ever been given in the history of Little Joe's church. The amount given was $357.20, which exceeds the best sum of $345.03 contributed in 1928. When the 1934 Thanksgiving offering is finally completed next Sunday, the total will probably be somewhere in the neighborhood of $400.00.

Of great significance, too, was the fact that the children at the Orphanage contributed $42.75. Twenty-five dollars of this was given by the Virginia Hall Mission Band, a group of Orphanage girls who sell drinks, candies, etc., at the football games at Barium. This represents their profit and they gave it as their Thanksgiving Offering. The remaining $17.75 was given by other children at the Orphanage out of their meager earnings at odd jobs about the place.
