Books for Boys and Girls
By the Perry Library

Story Hour.
Story hour will be held at the H. Leslie Perry Memorial Library tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. Mrs. Paul Cummings will tell the stories. Children who did not get a ticket last week may get one by asking at the library.

Among the new books for children which have been placed on the library shelves are several that you will want to read when you choose a hobby to ride.

For older boys and girls there is "When the Stars Come Out" by Robert Baker. The book opens with a description of the heavens as they appeared to the shepherds of old Chaldea. It shows how men have studied the stars and their ways, the moon in its phases, its relation to the earth and the sun and other planets, what the sun's eclipses mean, what the sun is, the Milky Way, and the earth's place. The book itself is a joy to look at because of the clear and simple illustrations in blue and white. Have you ever seen the Northern Cross in the Milky Way, or a comet, or spots on the sun or the Seven Sisters? Whether you have or not, you will want to read about them and see the pictures in this book.

Do you like birds, and do you want to know more about them? Then read or just look at the pictures in "Bird Portraits in Color" with text by Thomas S. Roberts. Ninety colored plates illustrate this book. Here you can learn about the songs and calls of birds, enough so that you can recognize a bird by its cry. In addition to the plates, life histories of the birds are given. Bird lovers or would-be bird lovers will enjoy this book.

Another nature book is "The Burgess Seashore Book for Children." Danny Meadow Mouse finds himself unexpectedly at the seashore, and begins to explore. Jimmy Skunk tells him about the crabs that went sideways and the clams that gave Danny unexpected shower baths. They watch starfish force oysters to open their shells; they see the sand eels bury themselves, and the stickleback bury himself in the tide pool.

"Because you've never seen a thing, Don't say it cannot be; The strangest thing you've ever seen May common be to me." A seashore hobby would be a nice thing to read up on now, so when next summer comes and you go to the beach, you can know and collect lobsters, starfish, and the other mysteries of the seashore.

For the smaller folk there are two new books which they will like for the photographs from life and the simple stories told. These are "The Steamship Book and The Fire Engine Book" by Pryor. The first is a story about a little girl who went with her old brother and sister from New York to the Panama Canal. The Fire Engine Book tells about a city fire department, and how it works from turning in of the alarm to fighting a big fire.

My Poetry Book, an anthology of modern verse for boys and girls selected and arranged by Huffard and Carlisle in collaboration with Helen Ferris, invites you to make a hobby of poetry. This is a collection of familiar poems such as Robert Louis Stevenson's "Land of Story Books" and the "Swing," and James Whitcomb Riley's "Little Orphan Annie" and the "Itanaway Boy," poems by Eugene Field and Walter Scott, as well as some newer verses.

In Prizes and Presents by Edwin T. Hamilton, girls and boys who have a hobby for wood carving, making useful presents, sewing, and other handicraft, will find suggestions on new things to make.

Bowie Will Urge Scaling of Debts

the taxes required to carry that heavy bonded indebtedness. He put through the legislature an act levying taxes in proportion to the ability of the people to pay.

Now it is understood that Mr. Bowie means to make a legal adjustment of those debts and that the bondholders who are now selling Ashe bonds at $40 on the $100 are willing to make the adjustment in accordance with ability of the people to pay and on the basis that when these bonds were issued farm prices were very high and the labor and materials which were put into the work for which these bonds paid, were also very high.

The plan appeals to a great many other counties, according to friends of Mr. Bowie, many of which find themselves in default and apparently unable to pay their interest and amortization charges. Mr. Bowie has intimated on former occasions that he may tender his plan to the people of the State, many indeed offer it in a bill. He thinks it would be the kind of settlement that the State is making with its workers and the kind also that individuals are making in private business. Mr. Bowie does not regard this default, but a just settlement.

Monthly Pains Relieved.

Women who take CARDUI have found that severe monthly pains have been relieved and that by continued use of it for a reasonable length of time their strength has been renewed and their general health improved.

"I am glad to speak a few words for Cardui, the medicine I have taken for a weak, run-down condition, for bad pains in my side and back and for irregular periods," writes Mrs. Roy Chandler, of Cusseta, Ala. "Cardui straightened me out and I felt 100 per cent better. It certainly helped me."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
