Albright for a hearing this afternoon.

Last Needy Cases Of 32 Are Taken; 8 More Presented

Response Quickest and Most Generous Ever Given Since Opportunities Have Been Offered Through Daily Dispatch; There Are Many Needy

All of the six Christmas Opportunities left yesterday in the list carried by the Daily Dispatch for the Salvation Army had been taken by generous-hearted citizens today, cleaning up a list of 32 needy families first published late last week. But there are many other needy families, and eight of them are given today for the first time.

Adjutant and Mrs. Joseph Willett, in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, vouch for the worthiness of every individual case offered, declaring that each one of them has been personally investigated and found to merit the assistance sought for them. As long as there is demand for cases of needy families as Christmas Opportunities there will be cases that can be furnished, it was said, as there are a great many of them. There is no disposition, it was said, to take advantage of a generous public's sympathy and willingness to be liberal, and families are not being trumped up merely because some one is ready to help. But there are many of them actually in destitute circumstances, it is said.

Both the Salvation Army and the Daily Dispatch are grateful to the Henderson public for the very liberal response that has been made so far. In the some 15 years the Daily Dispatch has carried on this work at Christmastime in cooperation with officers of the Salvation Army, there never has been such quick response as this season.

Cases taken since yesterday, and the eight new ones offered for the first time today, follows:

780 NEW LICENSES HAVE BEEN BOUGHT

Branch Office Here Disposing of 1935 State Tags At Rapid Pace

A total of 691 State automobile licenses for 1935 and 9 truck and trailer licenses, or 780 in all, had been sold at the local branch office of the Carolina Motor Club up to the close of business Tuesday, Miss Nell Jordan, manager of the office, said today. She also stated that motorists were crowding the office all day about as rapidly as they could be waited on, and that the demand for the new tags was greater than at this time a year ago.

The local office usually sells from 4,000 to 5,000 license plates a year, which means that several thousand motorists must still get their licenses between now and the first of the year.

Miss Jordan appealed to those who have not yet bought their licenses to do so as early as possible, so that they may avoid the rush and the long waits that will be necessary for those who do not come for their tags until the last day or two before the law requires the new ones to be displayed on automobiles, which is January 1. Those who display 1934 tags on their cars after January 1 will be liable to arrest and prosecution for not complying with the State law.

Japan Must Share World Markets If Peace Holds In Orient, Russell Says

Duke Professor, Home From Far East, Says Japs Like Americans and Pleads for Understanding of Those People; Speaks to Civic Club Meeting

If peace is to be assured through the years in the Far East, Japan must be given a share of the great world markets for her manufactures and her trade in general, and that is all the nation is asking, Dr. Elbert Russell, dean of the school of religion at Duke University, told a civic club gathering at West End Country Club here Tuesday evening. Some 150 to 200 persons attended.

The event was under the auspices of the Henderson Rotary club, with the arrangements made by E. F. Shaw, secretary of the club. Henderson Kiwanis and Lions clubs and Oxford Rotary club members also attended in a body, together with some invited guests. Each club member had the privilege of bringing a lady. It was the occasion of the Rotary club's observance of international relations night.

Rev. C. K. Proctor, superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage and president of the Oxford Rotary club, presented Dr. Russell, declaring it was appropriate at this season of the year to think of international peace and brotherly love.

S. H. Watkins, president of the Henderson Rotary club, presided, and the music was in charge of John A. Park, Raleigh Rotarian. Mr. Watkins welcomed the visitors after Rev. I. W. Hughes, rector of Holy Innocents Episcopal church of Henderson, had given the invocation. The presidents of the visiting clubs were recognized, with their wives. Mrs. E. F. Shaw, pianist for the Rotary club, accompanied the songs. Two numbers were given by the Kiwanis quartette, consisting of "Dutch" Glenn, J. C. Gardner, W. B. Harrison, Dorsey Evans, assisted by Miss Helen Kimball, and these eastern peoples, they had better keep out of those countries. The speaker did not think the governing class militaristic in Japan, but the great temptation is that the leaders, in order to avoid internal dissensions and revolution at home may some day start a foreign war to unite the people. He said the Japs are not going to colonize Manchukuo, that they took it for economic reasons.

Dr. Russell feared a great naval race with the breakdown of the disarmament discussions in London, and said that such a race for naval armaments would bankrupt Japan, and may force the ruling class to determine to fight the thing out, since they would have nothing to lose. They have adopted western civilization, and they know they are as good as we are, the speaker said. The Japs are a sensitive people, and are not so anxious for as big a navy as the United States and Great Britain as they are to have their own race recognized for its importance. They are not going to stand for the "superiority complex" of the western nations. Dr. Russell declared. He was proud that when Japan sought a model for her modern civilization she patterned her schools after the United States while taking the British navy and the German army as models for her war machines.

Japan may be forced to turn to a foreign war to cover up her deficit, which is growing larger every year, and the people will not long stand for much more of this.

China has not forgotten and will not forget the "Manchukuan steel" by Japan, and the young Chinese are tending toward militarism, with the thought of some day getting even with Japan. China's boycott of Japanese cotton goods is a more effective weapon than war, however.

The intolerable agrarian situation in the east is proving a fertile field for communism, which is being spread by Soviet Russia missionaries, and the farm peasants are taking to it as a hope of relief from the money lender, the landlord and the tax collector. Communism means that and nothing more to the Oriental, and unless western civilization offers something better, China and parts of India most likely will eventually go communistic, Dr. Russell said.
