Lookin' On By a Bystander

STILL PINCH HITTING' Once again this rookie has been called to bat for the regular player 'cause the regular player has been forced out of the game on account of the flu. They tell me that stuff is awful. I ain't had it yet but maybe my turn is coming.

WHAT TO WRITE

To write this column, one must be a bystander. Heck, since the bystander has been laying down, I ain't hardly had a chance to do any bystandin'. Course folks are still going on 'bout their business, and everyone you see is in a news story of some kind. That's a fact. Betcha any man you stop anywhere you can get a story from him of some description. Well I guess you folks wish I would stop this stuff I'm trying to do and go out and see some of the folks that would give me a real story. Maybe I will.

GETTING THE STORY

Folks it ain't much chance of getting a story. The post office job seekers are still on the job. Bill Coffin has at last got his signal equipment for the main drag. Cooley has gone to Washington so not many folks from here are journeying to Nashville, so you see it's right hard to get a story. Here's something that ain't a story, it's the truth. This Christmas time made me feel right good. Got some Christmas cards, two I believe, both of those from politicians that will figure in election in a few months. One of the fellas that's gonna figure in that didn't send me one. That's all right, I'll hit him for a ten cent cigar. He'd better come across cause there's six votes at my house.

Well, I gotta stop, ain't wrote nothing, but I've done what I hoped to do, give the hooty operators something to work on while I tried to figure out somekind of a head to fit some of those stories that I have. Yours 'til the regular batter returns.

Forester Looking To Fire Season

through organized counties in district No. 4 with headquarters at New Bern during the next several days, the Department of Conservation and Development announced today.

Mr. McCormick on the trip will visit Johnston, Wilson, Pitt, Lenoir, Beaufort, Greene, Wayne and Craven counties. He will visit all forest fire tower sites and inspect all fire-fighting equipment in the cooperating counties. In each case he will be accompanied by the county warden in going over the territory and outlining plans for the most effective control of fire.

One of the lightest forest fire seasons experienced in years was reported for last fall. Favorable weather, the assistant State forester declared, was of tremendous value to the fire control activities; and he believes that the protective organization has reached its highest peak of efficiency.

Another extremely valuable factor in the State's forest fire control program, according to Mr. McCormick, has been the work of the Civilian Conservation Corps which has constructed hundreds of miles of fire lines and hundreds of bridges to make the forests more accessible to fire fighters and to check the spread of flames. Considerable time has also been devoted by the corps to the actual suppression of fire in counties making provisions for the control of fires. Drilling of wells, erection of lookout towers, installation of forest fire telephone lines, and other improvements are also permanent contributions to the forest fire protection program.

What Will Live Out Of New Deal

employ will be negligible.

The uproar whether a broad federal housing plan is realistic or not will bring amused wonderment. (The social duty of a government will be considered obvious.)

The ruder production of crops as well as manufactured goods will be accepted as a necessity.

A fundamental single tax for the distribution of wealth probably will be here—forced by economic exigencies of federal and state governments as well as social pressure.

The money manipulations—the efforts to make one dollar seem two or three dollars—will seem looney, perhaps.

Crime prevention meetings will be looked back upon as something much further in the past than 1934-35—for the essence of crime will be seen then to be in the economic and social depths (which will have been alleviated greatly).

The mass movements of the age, the dictatorships, the organizations based on vision through prejudice or conquering through emotionalism will seem unreal and frightsome.

The cry to preserve individual rights, raised when monopolies and exploiters resisted efforts at control, will seem ironical.

Purely Vegetable Laxative

Theford's Black-Draught is one of the most popular laxatives sold today because it is made of the leaves and roots of medicinal plants, and because it brings refreshing relief from constipation troubles.

"Black-Draught helped me when I was bilious, constipated, feeling sluggish, dizzy, or had a bad taste in my mouth," writes Mrs. W. M. Bullock, Waynesburg, Ky. "I haven't found any medicine I like better than Black-Draught."

It's the favorite laxative of thousands of others. Have you tried it? THEFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT
