National Resources Board Recommends Purchase of 5,000,000 Acres Per Year

BOARD'S STUDY TO GUIDE EXPENDITURE

President Has Said He Would Use It As Standard In Use of Huge Four Billion Dollar Work-Making Fund; Would Stop Land Settlement

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A huge program to spend $675,000,000 in buying up poor land and retiring it from farm production was recommended to President Roosevelt today by the National Resources Board.

The purchasing would be extended over 15 years, 5,000,000 acres being bought each year at an annual cost of $45,000,000.

"This farm land, comprising 450,000 farms, should be withdrawn from agriculture," the board said, "in order that both the natural and human resources of the nation may be conserved."

The report, drawn by the board's land planning committee, was supplementary to the board's earlier study, which President Roosevelt told Congress would guide the expenditure of four billion dollars in his new work-making program. It urged that the Federal government and States take

NEGRO ATTACHE IN LEGISLATURE DIES

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Henry Awater, Negro attache in the rooming operated on the second floor of the State Capitol for legislators, dropped dead at his work about 9:30 a. m. today.

He had been an attache during Awater was about 50 years old, legislative meetings for several sessions. Dan Terry, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said.

May Relieve Sherriffs Of Collections

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—You may be freed with the unusual thing of having the sheriff refusing to take your tax money if the advice of the local government's commission is heeded. That, indeed, would be a novel experience for most North Carolinians; but don't think for a minute that you're going to avoid payment just because the sheriff is sticking to his job of still-raiding instead of collecting taxes, for the commission recommends that special tax collectors be

Senate Rule Prohibits "Wildcat" Measures Being Slipped Through

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—A shorter session of the North Carolina legislature is in prospect as a result of action taken by the Senate Rules Committee requiring a two-thirds majority vote by the Senate as a whole before a bill reported unfavorably by a committee can be placed on the calendar.

By taking this step the Senate has followed the lead of the lower house. For many sessions the House has required the two-thirds majority. However, the Senate went the House one

BRIEF SESSION OF LEGISLATURE HELD IN STATE CAPITAL

Local Bills Only To Be Considered Tomorrow, Then Adjourn To Monday Night

GOVERNOR MESSAGE WILL BE PRINTED

3,000 Copies To Be Made Available; Senate Resolves for Mr. Brummitt's Recovery from Pneumonia; Governor Asks Repeal of Toll Charges

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Measures to provide unemployment, old age and other social insurance to limit divorces in North Carolina, to remove tolls from Eastern North Carolina bridges and to increase penalties imposed on automobile drivers convicted of drunken driving were introduced in the House today.

The expected announcement of committee assignments did not materialize.

Dr. R. L. Carr, representative from Duplin, sent forward the unemployment insurance measure, which embodied other social insurance features.

Under his bill, compensation would be provided by the State to all workers, farmers and others who wish to work and cannot find jobs. All able-bodied, willing-to-work men would be compensated from the State treasury at the average local wage scale, with the minimum being $3 per week for all men over 18 years of age, plus $1 per week per dependent. For women workers, compensation would be provided for a period of eight weeks before and eight weeks after child birth.

If a man is able to obtain part time work, he is to be compensated to the amount of the difference between what he can earn and the minimum weekly compensation provided in the act.

The funds are to be derived by the State and are to be dispersed by the State treasurer. If additional taxation is needed, it is to be levied on inheritances, gifts and individual and corporation incomes in excess of $5,000 per year.

DRIVERS' LICENSE FIGHT IS STARTED

Pitt Legislator Has Measure of Drastic Proportions In The House

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, By C. A. PAUL

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—The opening gun in the battle to establish a drivers' license law for North Carolina was fired Thursday when Senator Arthur B. Corey, of Greenville, introduced such a bill. Corey thereby jumped the gun on Wake County's Senator Carroll W. Weathers, who plans to introduce a similar measure.

Complete control of automobile drivers would be placed in the hands of the highway patrol under Corey's bill. No licenses would be issued to any person under sixteen years of age, and applications for license from those under eighteen would require the signature of a parent, guardian, or employer. Chauffeurs would have to be at least eighteen. Car owners would be liable for the operation of a vehicle by minors.

Habitual drunkards, dope addicts, and mental incompetents would not be licensed. Those released from hos-

Favors Drivers' License for Motorists, and Recommends Greater Financial Support for University and Other State Institutions of Learning

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—The time has come for North Carolina again to loosen up its purse strings, turn its back on the gloomy outlook that prevailed in 1933, and provide more money for its essential activities, especially school teachers and State employees, whose salaries were so drastically reduced by the 1933 General Assembly, Governor J. C. Ehringhaus told the present General Assembly and the people of North Carolina in his message to the assembly last night.

While agreeing that the schools must be more adequately provided for, especially the teachers, Governor Ehringhaus made it clear that he does not have any sympathy for those who see only bad in the present State supported eight months school plan and declared that in many respects the schools in North Carolina are as

ROOSEVELT BUDGET HARD TO ANALYZE

An Utterly Hopeless Undertaking for Any Ordinary Individual

By CHARLES P. STEWART Washington, Jan. 11.—For any ordinary individual to try to analyze the Roosevelt administration's budget program is a perfectly hopeless undertaking.

Experts may be able to comprehend it but I doubt even that.

President Roosevelt seems to understand it, and I think he does understand it to this extent:

It appears to me to have been framed with a view to keeping the pot a-boiling, without boiling over, until the end of the 1935-36 fiscal year. By that time the next presidential

Directed Preparation of Ransom Money That Was Paid For Lindbergh Child

IDENTIFIES MONEY FOUND IN GARAGE

Says Currency in Hauptmann's Garage Was Part of Ransom Payment; Witness Forms Important Link in State's Effort To Convict Hauptmann

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 11.—(AP)—A handwriting expert today named Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the writer of the 14 ransom note received by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh after the kidnaping of his 20-month-old baby. The State struck two other important blows in its effort to send Hauptmann to the electric chair for murder.

The defense scored when it established that a slip signed "J. J. Faulkner," which accompanied exchange of $2,980 of the ransom money at the New York Federal Reserve Bank was not in Hauptmann's writing.

The significance attached to this point by the defense was emphasized in its cross-questioning of Frank Wilson, special government investigator, about the investigation of "J. J. Faulkner," and about the subsequent suicide of a man of that name.

(Two days after the exchange of the ransom gold notes was disclosed, Jerome K. Faulkner, an advertising copy writer, plunged to his death from the top of the Chrysler building.)

Wilson, who is chief of the intelligence department of the United States Department of Internal Revenue said he investigated several Faulknors, but could not trace the man making the exchange.

Identification of the handwriting on the ransom note as that of Hauptmann was made by Albert S. Osborne, Sr., who examined both the notes and specimens of Hauptmann's handwriting made after his arrest.

The State considers it one of its strongest pieces of testimony to link Hauptmann to the actual stealing and killing of the baby. Previous testimony was concerned chiefly with identification of Hauptmann as the ransom receiver.

The fit ransom note was left on the window sill of the Lindbergh nursery when the baby was taken and the State contends that the writer of that note was the kidnaper and murderer of the baby. It is contended Hauptmann wrote that note.

"How," Attorney General David T. Wilentz, asked the expert Osborne

Fight Upon Long Grows In Louisiana

Governor's Resignation Denied, However; Long Feigns Indifference

New Orleans, La., Jan. 11.—(AP)—With Senator Huey P. Long in New York deriding his opponents, the Square Deal Association organized at Baton Rouge to fight his "dictatorship" spread today to the neighboring parish of Iberville.

A group of Claquemine citizens signed a call for a meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock to form a parish group. Meanwhile, reports that Governor O. K. Allen had resigned were discounted in official circles. Senator Long vigorously denied the reported resignation. Other officials likewise denied it.

The Square Deal Association, at a meeting Wednesday night, talked of possible bloodshed unless Long's dictatorship is lifted.

Long, in New York, said he "wasn't a damn bit interested" in the Senate, and threats.

Lethal Gas Death Plan Is Favored
