Washir -on, Feb. 23.-(AP)-A badly scrambled relief situation was left in the hands of Senate Democratic leaders today by President Roosevelt while Congress was in recess.

The $4,880,000.000 combination bill for direct and work-relief was back in the Senate Appropriations Committee containing the McCarran prevailing wage amendment which the White House has refused to accept. This was about all that could be said for the bill today.

All the Roosevelts, except the grand children, Sistie and Buzzie Dall, were away from the White House. The President planned to return late next week

It was Senator Byrns. Democrat South Carolina, an administration sup porter, who had said the bill had met its death. But some opponents of the McCarran prevailing wage amendment answered today that they telieved this was merely a "threat." Byrns amplified today a statement he made yesterday after the $4,880. 000.000 bill, to which the McCarran amendment had been tacked over the strenuous opposition of administration
