London, April 29.—(AP)—Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons today: "The German government has intimated that orders have been given for construction of 12 submarines of 250 tons each. This matter now is under consideration."

Although Sir John did not amplify this statement, it was definitely stated in other quarters that the German construction was understood to have been under way for some time.

The foreign secretary said the government was considering the "legality" of the German submarine disclosures, but had not yet determined whether it should protest to the League of Nations.

He did not reply to questions as to whether it was proposed to go on with naval conversations between Great Britain and Germany.

"I might not be pressed to give a further answer today," said Sir John, under questioning.

One of the questions was whether the government would take immediate steps to bring notice of this further violation of the Versailles treaty to the League of Nations.

Sir John revealed that the government's information regarding the 12 submarines was dated April 25. He

President Strikes High Note of Optimism in Fireside Chat Over Radio Sunday Night; Answers Critics Who Say Administration Plan Is Confused

Washington, April 29.—(AP)—After appealing to all Americans to help make the $4,880,000,000 work-releaser drive "the most efficient and cleanest example of public enterprise the world has ever seen," President Roosevelt sought today to get the vast undertaking "in full swing by autumn."

Meanwhile, Congress faced the prospect of a prolonged session extending well into the hot summer. The President, in the "fireside chat" last night in which he outlined his work-releaser program had called for action on such controversial issues as social security, extension of NRA, banking and utility holding company legislation.

His remarks on works and legislation were regarded today as two salient portions of the address. Another was the note of optimism the President struck as he sat before the mi-

Meanwhile, House Begins Work on Bank Bill Roosevelt Said He Wanted This Session; Business Leaders Cheered By Optimism Voiced by President

Washington, April 29.—(AP)—Urged by President Roosevelt to enact his full "reconstruction" program, congressional leaders strove mightily today to break the legislative jam that is holding back NRA, social security and other big administration measures in the Senate.

The Senate Democratic steering committee was summoned into an extraordinary meeting to canvass possible strength behind a motion to sidetrack the controversial anti-lynching bill. This has caused the present snarl. Southern senators warned of a summer-long filibuster, if necessary, to defeat the measure.

Meanwhile, the House began debate on the omnibus banking bill, named by the President last night as legislation he wants this session.

Business leaders, noting Mr. Roosevelt's optimism over recovery prospects, met today at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, ready to ask that much of the administration's program, particularly anti-holding company legislation, be abandoned.

Speaker Byrnes predicted a new man today that "considerable discussion" would be provoked in the House by the utilities holding company bill if it contains the provision for abolition of all such companies.
