

Tourists Tangle With Ca-Vel Wednesday For League Leadership

Both Teams Met Defeat First Time On Saturday

Play Clarksville Here Today; Woodruff's Injury Is Causing Worry.

While battling Clarksville here this afternoon, Skipper Pahlman's mind wandered into thoughts of tomorrow's game with the powerful Ca-Vel team in Roxboro in a regular Central State League game.

The Tourist and Ca-Vel are in a tie for the top post in the loop standing, and tomorrow's game will decide which shall occupy that post for the time being.

The once undefeated Tourists and Ca-Vel teams met their Waterloo together last Saturday, Henderson bowing to Oxford, 5-3, while Durham dropped Ca-Vel in a wild game, 11-10. With the defeat last Saturday of the top teams, the league standing became a little more congested, demonstrating that the clubs are closely matched.

Injury Worries Pahlman

An old leg injury to Woody Woodruff, stellar centerfielder for the Tourists, is bothering that footed-out lad, and is hampering his fielding although he remains in the lineup. This is causing Skipper Pahlman no little worry as Woodruff is a very good hitter as well as a fine outfielder. The injury limits the ground that he can cover, letting safe hits fall where they should be outs after a reasonably hard try. However, this lad is expected to come around in a short while, hitting his old stride that labeled him as an outstanding fly chaser.

Support at the gate has been very good considering the breaks in the weather for home games, but the skipper is calling on fans to lend him their aid as it requires funds to run his ball club and the bad breaks in gate attendance haven't swelled the pot.

The Senate passed the amended omnibus school bill and returned it to the House for concurrence in amendments.

The House did not start its regular work until mid-afternoon, but received a favorable report on the biennial school machinery bill, which proposes to make the State superintendent of public instruction the executive secretary of the school commission.

FIRST OR LAST?

Louis XIV on one occasion said, "Punctuality is the politeness of kings, the duty of gentlemen, and the necessity of men of business." Every one admires a person who always has his work on time.

As we are now nearing the end of our school year, much extra work is having to be done. Naturally, with so many outside activities students are not spending as much time on schoolwork. This would be excused if it weren't for the fact that every time we fail to be punctual it causes extra work for the teacher or someone else. The best thing to do is to face the facts—put work first and then start out with a real determination to make the best of the last few days of school. Be punctual—it is not the thief of time.

Our invitations have arrived and before long you will receive yours. They are beautifully embossed with blue and white. We are really proud of our invitations and we hope all the people who receive them, as well as others, will attend the graduation exercises. When invitations are sent the real meaning behind the action is not "give me a present"; but, that we like you enough to request your presence at one of our greatest steps, High School Education. Usually the people to whom invitations are sent are close friends of the student or of the family, relatives, or some other acquaintance. The practice of giving presents in return for invitations has changed the real meaning of the idea although and instills in the incident an unattractive element.

The work on the pamphlet is fast being rounded out and will be completed before very long. The advertising committee has been busily engaged in soliciting advertisements and before long the efforts of all the workers will be rewarded.

"Spring, with that nameless pathos in the air
Which dwells in all things fair,
Spring, with her golden suns and silvery rain,
Is with us once again."
—Henry Timrod.

Spring has once more returned to us. The violets are peeping from the greening woods, the pansies, tulips, Jonquils and lilacs have again sprung up from the brown earth. The blue birds, robins and sparrows begin their songs as they happily bustle around searching for food. We see school children going to school with huge armfuls of flowers for "teacher". Spring is the season for everyone to be happy so let's all give a "huge" shout for spring.

The Sophomores had a good time during the Easter Holidays. Some visited out of town, some had a busy time in town and others just rested.

Almost all of the High School teachers went home—Miss Morton, Miss Turnage and Miss Taylor. Miss Kyle visited in Kingston, Miss Bickley was Miss Taylor's guest, and Miss Corde visited in Orlina.

On Friday afternoon the "One To Ten Club" went on a picnic to Balance Rock. They went on a truck with Mr. Pigford chaperoning the group. Several games, in charge of Libby Jenkins, were played and later there was a treasure hunt, with two pound boxes of candy for the treasure. Then some went in wading and a few accidents of flowers for "teacher". Mr. Pigford surprised them with a Easter egg hunt and some races. After a big supper the picnicers, tired but happy, returned home, singing on the truck.

The Seniors and Sophomores went to Chapel Thursday. Miss Kyle's Sophomore home room was in charge of the program. A short play "Spring Party" was given. Bessie Mae Johnson, as Patty and Juanita Stainback as Marg, were the characters. It was funny and enjoyed very much by all.
Boy Scouts went to Chapel Hill Thursday of the Sophomores who are day to attend the Dogwood festival. Some of them are: Walter Stone, Charles Cooper, Billy Vaughn, Burnette Kelly, and Stanley Norwich.

FRESHMEN HAVE UNUSUAL CHAPEL PROGRAM
Tuesday the Freshmen and Juniors assembled for their regular Chapel program. Rev. Hale of the First Baptist church conducted the program in a very unique manner. His material was taken from a book entitled, "The Lost Bible." This book was written by a very noted preacher and was made into a test and given to 18,000 school students. The average grade of these students was 46 percent.

At the first of the program Rev. Hale picked ten freshmen and ten juniors. He formed two teams out of these students for the contest. The freshmen tied the juniors so they felt very proud. Although the freshmen thought they were pretty good there were only four of the fifteen questions answered correctly.

A. F. OF L. FIGHTS FOR ITS EXISTENCE

Old-Line Leaders Losing Power; Separate Industry Unions Coming

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer
New York, April 29.—The American Federation of Labor is beginning to view itself as being in a fight for existence.

On the one hand, the old-line leaders see themselves being closed in on by a massed array of employers. (The employers have been winning the NRA battles.) On the other hand, the old-line leaders see the rank and file rising, asking: "What kind of leadership have we?"

In the major industries of steel, autos and rubber, it is believed that, if ever a comprehensive organization of workers is achieved, it will be an independent organization.

WAGNER EXPLAINS BILL
The information of both workers and business, Senator Wagner explains his bill.
"The virtual collapse of Section 7-A is a matter of common knowledge. The immediate result of shutting out employes from full participation in the recovery program has been to deny their full share of the fruits of recovery. While profits have risen with gratifying regularity, re-employment has slowed down to a snail's pace and we are still confronted by the horrible spectacle of eight to ten million people who search earnestly and hopelessly for some form of work. While minimum wage rates have been raised under the codes, a substantial part of this gain has been charged to wage earners in the upper brackets and to the vast consuming public in the form of inordinately high prices."

"If these conditions persist, it is only a question of time until the burden will be borne by business itself. The upswing of business cannot be maintained indefinitely unless there is a tremendous reduction in unemployment. A sustained rise in purchasing power, and an removal of the present industrial discontent based so largely upon a denial of legal as well as ethical rights."

"It is to these ends that any National Labor Relations bill in direct. From the date of its introduction this bill has been misconstrued and misrepresented by the opponents, both secret and avowed of the principle of freedom for the man who works. The malicious falsehood has been widely circulated that the measure was designed to force men into unions although the text provides in simple English prose that workmen shall be absolutely free to belong or to refrain from belonging to any organization."

"Practically every one has heard the charge that the bill imposes a closed shop and a union monopoly upon the whole United States when, in fact, it does absolutely nothing to change in any state the existing law in regard to the closed shop. Millions of printed pamphlets, emanating from a few sources of prejudice or reaction, contain the concoction that the bill enlists the government in favor of some particular kind of union."
