Funds Being Sought for Cause; Burgess Said to Be On Verge of Bankruptcy, but Others Say His Law Firm's Business Rises Due to His Publicity.

Dally Dispatch Bureau, In the SI- Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILL.

Raleigh, May 22 .- Cale K. Burgess executive vice-president, political strategist and lobbyist for the United Dry Forces, who several days ago announced he would make a statement today as to thep lans of his organization to prevent the holding of liquor elections in the 17 counties and two townships permitted to hold elections under the recent laws enceated by the General Assembly, said today that he had decided not to make any an nouncement, at least for the time be ing. When asked when he would have a statement to make he said:

Despite the failure of Burgess to issue any statement today, as he had indicated he would it is still believed that he and the United Drys will still do what he has "informatly" indicated they would do namely seek to they would do, namely, seek to prevent the holding of every liquor election in every county that calls one by seeking an injunction, and then carry a test case to the State Supreme Court to test the constitutionality of the new laws which permit these county elections on the establishment of county liquor stores The drys are already confident that these new laws are unconstitutional and that the Supreme Court will hold them null and void.

The liberal drys, however, are convinced that these 17 counties and two townships have the right to vote on whether or not they want to continue under the old Turlington Act or set up county liquor stores and county liquor control systems and that the General Assembly acted within its powers when it passed these laws giving these counties this right. It is expected that whatever move are made by Burgess and the United Drys to block the holding of the coun-
