

Middleburg Will Meet Tourists At Park Wednesday

Fast Contest Is Likely When Top Teams Clash

Tourists Pitching Staff Not So Hot; Visitors Have Strong Array

While marking time for the opening of the second half of the Central State League, the Henderson Tourists will tie up with Middleburg of the Golden Belt League here tomorrow afternoon at League Park at 3:30 o'clock in what should be an outstanding game.

Pahlman's charges will come up to the game not in the best of shape since his pitching staff is "shot". Pleasants being in the hospital with a minor ailment, and Woodlief has signed with Snow Hill in the Coastal Plain League.

The skipper will call upon Garland "Bulldog" Harris to do his hurling for him, and Buddy Kelly, third baseman borrowed from Middleburg, will play with that club tomorrow. Fletcher Langley will come in from left field to fill the hot corner. Old war horse Archie Boyd will take his glove out to patrol left field in the place of Langley.

Middleburg finished second in their loop as did the Tourists, and tomorrow's visitors will bring a fine pitching array with them for the encounter. They can count on Perry Ellington, Charles Breedlove and Woody Woodall to handle the pitching duties if called upon. All of these boys have plenty of stuff to baffle most any batter in this section.

The game will feature the regular Wednesday afternoon closing of business houses in the city.

Skeets Gilbert, former Louisville College hurler, joined the Tourists Monday, but will not likely see action against Middleburg if Harris shows the right form. He will make his debut at Wendell Thursday when the locals tangle there.

Wednesday's game will more or less determine the champion baseball club of the county, the two teams being the top ranking aggregations in the county.

A fine turnout of fans is expected by the management of the clubs, and a good support of fans from the Middleburg section can be counted upon since that section always supports its teams to the limit.

An interesting thing to watch will be Herman Breedlove's appearance with the Tourists against his home club, a team whom he has played with practically his entire baseball life. "Razz," as he is known, has been playing a fine second base for the locals, and he hopes to strut against his home team in Wednesday's setto.

THREE MORE GIVE FIGHT CHALLENGES

Jack Porter Wants Place on Local Card; Fighters to Start Training

Three more challenges were received over night by Promoter F. A. Jewell for the fights to take place at the Big Henderson Warehouse July 4th as part of the mammoth celebration planned for that day.

The outstanding battler who has so far signified his intention of fighting on the card is Jack Porter, who is now in training at Carolina Beach and in his own words he states: "I will fight anybody you can get up to ten rounds." He has over 300 fights to his credit with such boys as Sammy Mandel, former light-heavyweight champion of the world; Bennie Bass, of Philadelphia, Buster Brown, Baltimore, and other stellar fighters of the squared ring.

"Butch" Grissom, 155 pounder, has expressed his willingness to swap punches with anybody in his weight. Red Norvell will fight in the 145 class.

Promoter Jewell states that he is not going to match the boys until he has had a chance to look them over while they are in training, and then he will mate them up in their weight and class. In that way, he says, the fight fans can depend on some real high class boxing. All the fights will be on a per centage basis, the winner receiving the big end of the purse and the loser getting the short end, which is another incentive for the boys to get in there and really work hard.

It is expected that the ring and training quarters at the American Tourist Camp and "Red" Taylor's Hill Top will be completed today, and the public is cordially invited to come out and see the boys workout. This will all be free.

FAST LOOP FORMED WITH FOUR TEAMS

Service Company, Epsom, Aycock and Kittrell Make Up Circuit

A fast league, playing one game a week, has been formed between the Henderson Service Company, Kittrell, Aycock and Epsom and two games each have been played in the circuit it was made known today.

In the games of July 15, Aycock blanked Epsom 11-0 with Edwards hurling hitless ball, not an Epsom man reaching first base. The Service team whipped Kittrell on that date.

Last Saturday, with Roger Edwards on the Hill, Aycock again whipped Epsom, this time 9-5, and the Service team won over Kittrell.

Next Saturday will see the Aycock team tangling with the Service Company here.

Fast games are expected to be the order throughout the league as it progresses, the season to end with games of Saturday, September 14.

The remainder of the schedule to be played follows:

TO OPEN UP SCORE EMPLOYMENT POSTS

State Matches $75,000 With $80,000 Available for Purpose From Government

Raleigh, June 25—The State Department of Labor is rapidly completing its plans for the opening of almost a score of Federal-State Employment Offices over the State on July 1, Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher said today. The exact number of offices which will be opened will not be known until definite word is received from Washington, but is expected that they will number about 20 in all.

These new employment offices are being set up as a result of the appropriation of $75,000 a year made by the recent General Assembly by which the State will cooperate with the U. S. Department of Labor, under the Wagner-Peyser Act, and receive about $80,000 a year from the Federal government for maintaining these offices, in addition to what the state spends. In places where these new offices are opened, they will absorb the Reemployment Service offices.

more of Congress, is proving himself more of an enigma than ever to "men of affairs." While, on the other hand, he is strengthening his political appeal.

The hard-fought utilities holding company bill is a point in question. The banking bill is another. Naturally, New York financial interests will use every possible means to prevent encroachment on their domain. They can win enough senators—always. But then there is the President. At times he seems wavering. At times he seems "reasonable." Then, suddenly, he makes a move—to "protect the people and investors from holding companies," or "to take control of the banking and credit system from Wall Street and giving it to the people."

Then the mass of people rush forward, pushing their representatives and senators before them. Even the Republicans give heed.

Probably the most notable feature of future tax legislation will be the passage of a resolution to submit to the states a constitutional amendment permitting the Federal government to tax State and local securities now tax exempt. State legislatures are expected to ratify such an amendment quickly, for they obtain much of their funds now from the Federal government.

New Spending Orgy Slow in Starting

An appeal would be taken, it is a foregone conclusion, but there would be a deadlock in the meantime. Besides, executive officialdom is chary of the United States Supreme Court ever since the court tossed NRA practically into the discard.

It goes almost without saying that the person applying for such injunctive relief would not be a Republican, thus placing the G. O. P. in the position of blocking a popular policy of huge government expenditures. On no Democrat, if any one, will play that role. Plenty of them, will play that role. Scarcely anything could be better calculated to split the party and snarl up the 4,880-millions, with the Republicans simply sitting on the sidelines and laughing.

Besides, friction between Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes, as head of the works progress administration, further complicates the situation.

Hopkins wants work created, primarily for work's sake—as useful work as possible, but work anyway, to hasten wages into circulation.

Ickes insists on useful work. Useful work requires raw materials to work with. Therefore a given amount of money doesn't make so many jobs, part of it goes into raw materials.
