HOMEWARD. Birds! Companies of birds, flying over southern lands and northward bound! Wings swiftly beating, see them rise and fall! Circling, receding, sweeping round and round. As though no way to freedom could be found. Towards the distant mountain range they fly. Dappling the silt sky; Fast following their leader, forward, back. Across the blue air's track! There, some few stragglers halt, as if to be leaving so soon that sapphire summer sea! But now the leader gathers close his flock. Piled on you lofty rock— Then, what a rush of beating wings is heard. How straight, how fast. On the way home at last. Dipping no longer, here they come, they come. O winged heart of mine, thou wand'ring bird. What thou not also seek the straight flight home? Alma G. V. Harrison.

The Word of God

Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.—Psalm 119:105.

The Word of Jesus: All religious teaching, doctrine, or creed, if they are to have any claim upon the love, loyalty and devotion of the people, must be in harmony with the teachings of Jesus the Christ whose words fit into every fold and crevice of the human heart, and of whom it was said in John 7:46, "NEVER MAN SPAKE LIKE THIS MAN."

JESUS LOVES LITTLE CHILDREN. Mark 10:13-16. And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them; and his disciples rebuked those that brought them. 14. But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God. 15. Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein. 16. And he took them up in his arms, put his hands upon them, and blessed them.

MUSSOLINI FIGHTS TO HOLD HIS RULE

Trying to Divert Populace From Intolerable Domestic Situation

By CHARLES P. STEWART. Central Press Staff Writer. Washington, July 20.—It naturally would cost any Washington official his job to have it known that he had said so, but a strong suspicion unmistakably prevails in executive circles that Premier Mussolini considers a foreign war necessary to divert public attention from a bad state of economic affairs in Italy.

Reports from reliable sources, it confidentially is stated, have been indicating for some time that Italian trade and industry are flat, that unemployment is rampant and that discontent with the Mussolini regime

He said one rayon factory alone in Virginia employed 5,000 persons, which meant that 20,000 people were dependent upon it, and "yet the Senate, without one word of hearings, precipitates this proposition to tax out of existence this industry that is yet in its infancy."

more so. Er Riff, on the opposite hand, has a population of less than 1,000,000. Abyssinia, it is estimated, can put 1,000,000 fighting men into the field. Er Riff's armament consists of a skimpy rifle per warrior; nothing more. Abyssinia not only has an ample equipment of small arms and ammunition but machine guns, anti-aircraft weapons and a small air force likewise. Er Riff is as flat as a pancake; ideal for modern troops to maneuver in. Abyssinia is a mountainous country; ideal for natives to operate in, sniping at invaders.

was reaching alarming proportions. Ten II Duce began the development of his plan for a campaign in Abyssinia—which apparently has, it is agreed, served to re-arouse Fascist enthusiasm. It is, of course, an old method of consolidating a people behind its government—to unite it against some other people.

WAR "ESSENTIAL"? Thus the interpretation placed upon the Italian refusal even to discuss compromise is that Mussolini doesn't want war prevented, deeming it essential to him, as a counter-irritant, to domestic dissatisfaction. The policy is one which succeeds occasionally.

Not, indeed, but that military experts think the Italians, by fighting long enough, could defeat the Ethiopians. What they do question is that Italy has the financial resources to continue fighting long enough.

COMPARISON WITH SPAIN. Spain had a similar war in what is known as Er Riff, in northwestern Africa (Abyssinia is in eastern Africa). Spain is not as resourceful power as Italy, in men or money. Still, perhaps it is half as potent, or a little
