

Doubleheader Slated At Park Tomorrow Afternoon

Townsville, Tourists To Meet; Lions Also To Play

Combination Leans-Fats to Engage Lions in First Tilt at 3 P. M.

A doubleheader is scheduled tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at League Park as a feature of merchant's half holiday.

The Lions Club baseball team will play a combined team of Fats and Leans as a prelude to the main game, Townsville vs. Tourists. Last Wednesday, Townsville whipped the locals 2-1, in a pretty game as Powell's crippled Tourists stumbled through the nine innings and successfully kept the visitors away from the plate more than twice.

The Leans whipped the Fats two straight games and now the teams have combined to try the Lions with the Salvation Army getting a percentage of the gate.

Will Sutherland, who pitched the Leans to their two victories, is slated to handle the pitching duties for the combined team tomorrow, and he seems to be in fine fettle for the set-to. Pat Hight, who has pitched for the Lions a number of seasons, will work for them in tomorrow's encounter with Bill Royster behind the bat.

Goode Harris will catch for the Leans-Fats.

Rev. James A. Jones, according to the lineup, will occupy left field for the Leans.

The lineups as announced today were: Lions: W. Royster, c. Pat Hight, p. J. Holland, 1b. Loughlin, 2b. Pete Huft, ss. S. Watkins, 3b. Cannon, lf. Mat Powell, cf. and Henry Powell, rf. Sam Alford, Charlie Tanner and Watson Mixon will furnish the reserve. The Leans-Fats: W. Sutherland, p.

Goode Harris, c. John Langston, cf. George A. Harris, 1b. Euster Southernland, 2b. Bill Bailey ss. Red Ellington, 3b. Rev. J. A. Jones, lf. Atkins Stainback rf. W. C. Stainback, Fred Farris and Charlie Hicks, together with other Fats and Leans, will form the reserve strength.

LUCKIES, SLUGGERS YESTERDAY'S WINNERS

The Luckies and Junior Sluggers were winners in the South Henderson playground circuit yesterday afternoon, the Luckies copping their victory by the shut out route from the Weeping Willows. The Sluggers got an 8.7 verdict over the Oak Grovers. Much interest is being shown in the circuit by the boys, and fast brand of baseball for teen age boys is being exhibited. The teams clash again today in the circuit.

Tourists Are 3rd In Central State

Henderson Tourists occupy the third rung of the standing ladder in the second half of the Central State League, according to recent compilations. Ca-Vel, first half winners, are away in front in second half with nine wins and one defeat in the ten games played. Durham Bulls rank second with seven victories against three defeats; Henderson third, has played even baseball, winning four and losing four, Oxford fourth with three wins against six losses; Hillsboro, fifth, with two victories and six losses and Jaloog is in last place with seven defeats against two victories. Oxford gained on Henderson last Saturday in Oxford, winning 7 to 3 as Ed Powell's struggling Tourists battled on to complete the season.

AAA PROGRAMS ARE BOOST TO FARMING

Crop Adjustments Stimulating More Soil-Building Crops in State

College Station, Raleigh, Aug. 6.—The AAA crop adjustment programs are stimulating the production of more soil-building crops on North Carolina farms.

The purpose of the programs is not only to adjust the production of basic crops, said Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College, but also to stimulate better farming.

By growing legumes on acreage retired from the cultivation of cotton, tobacco, and other basic crops, he stated, farmers are giving their agricultural plants an overhauling which has been needed for years.

All over the nation, he added, farmers are improving their farming practices so as to build up their soil and conserve its fertility. This will mean the assurance of a continued and abundant supply of all farm crops which may be produced on the richer and improved soil of the future.

According to figures sent the dean from Washington, 27,600,000 acres have been withdrawn under AAA contracts from the production of basic crops this year. This is about one out of every 12 acres of cultivated land in the United States.

During the past year, the number of acres planted to alfalfa hay went from 11,482,000 to 13,198,000. Soybean acreage increased from 4,223,000 to 5,463,000.

Although no figures were given on the lespedeza acreage, the dean said, the increased amount of seed sold to growers has evidenced a great increase in the plantings this year.

Thad Eure Adopts Novel Advertising For His Campaign

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, Aug. 6.—Thad Eure, in his pursuit of the office of secretary of state, is sending out a cute little advertiser which is almost sure to drive his two competitors to extreme.

Mr. Eure has a picture of the capitol which is as much of a lady killer as fascinating countenance. In this campaign Mr. Eure employs both. He is an exceedingly handsome young man whose sense of proportion will the feminine vote. If such a suffrage be young, the picture of Mr. Eure will be abounding satisfactory. If the voter be not young and unmoved by the effigy of Mr. Eure she will fall hard for the beautiful State structure.

These pictures are going duty right now. The picture of the Capitol building made at night is a thing of supernal beauty. Mr. Eure undertakes to be a joy forever. And the combination working against the incumbent Stacey W. Wade, and the aspirant M. R. Dunnagan, is hard to beat. They have not solved the Eure style.

The political ways of Mr. Wade always have been effective. When he left the insurance commission he had certificates from big men that were good enough to carry him through any sort of employment. And when he returned to political business those same testimonials were used to help him along. Any man with such resourcefulness will hardly be down and out when he tackles the capital and Mr. Eure, good-looking as both of them happen to be.

And Mr. Dunnagan is going to concede the wimmen's vote to no man until he gets that vote. Which getting is made all the harder by Mr. Dunnagan's attachable bachelorhood.

COUNTRY GIRL IS TREATED IN BOOK

Girls in Rural Family Described in Release By University of North Carolina Press

Chapel Hill, Aug. 6.—"The Girl in the Rural Family," a book dealing with girls of families of different rural occupations in the South by Nora Miller, home demonstration agent at Appomattox, Va., has just been released by the University of North Carolina Press, W. T. Couch, director, announced today.

Giving a realistic picture of conditions in rural homes, Miss Miller bases her book on experience she has had with over 2,000 school girls. With particular emphasis on the problems she describes the homes and daily routine and summarizes recent changes in social conditions which influence lives of rural girls.

Suggestions are offered for types of programs planned to interest groups of girls in the period after they leave school and before they become established in homes of their own.

Describing both the dependent and the superior rural family, Miss Miller includes those occupied with mountain farming, cotton and tobacco farming, soft coal mining, and fishing.

We who make whiskey SAY:

"DRINK MODERATELY"

ON one point all thoughtful men have always agreed. On one point all connoisseurs in the art of enjoyable living have always agreed.

The lasting enjoyment of the pleasures of life depends on moderation.

December 5, 1934, marked the anniversary of Repeal. We think it is appropriate that we who make whiskey should emphasize, to you who drink whiskey, the desirability of moderation.

For a situation exists today which requires us both to take an honest, serious look at the future.

Our stake in that future is clear—our part in an industry in which we have held an honored position for 78 years.

Your stake is of vital concern.

It involves not only your health, your money expenditures, and your enjoyment of life—but a principle which is the very core and fibre of American history and tradition—your personal liberty.

The Threat to Liberty

When Repeal came, most brand names were unfamiliar. People lacked experience. They didn't know how to choose.

Many bought unwisely. And drank unwisely, too. Because this new whiskey was inexpensive, it was consumed freely. Because of its rawness and harshness, it could not be consumed as whiskey should be—for mellow warmth and flavor.

If we both think honestly and speak frankly, we must admit this condition is not in the tradition of fine living. It is not what any thoughtful person could desire.

What Common Sense Suggests

There is nothing new about drinking whiskey.

Through generations, it has always occupied a natural place in gracious living.

The House of Seagram believes that whiskey, properly used, is deserving of that position. Seagram's has always felt that the proper use of whiskey suggests a pleasure in its aroma, its flavor, its mellowness.

However, these characteristics are found only in whiskey that has been properly distilled and then brought to full mellowness, full wholesomeness by aging.

The real enjoyment which whiskey can add to the pleasures of gracious living is possible only to the man who drinks good, aged whiskey and drinks moderately.

Therefore, the lesson of generations of experience is not inapplicable to problems of today. The principle of moderation is not at variance with what common sense suggests as the right course for us today.

Drink moderately... Drink better whiskey.

Whiskey is a Luxury

Whiskey cannot take the place of milk, bread or meat. The pleasure which good whiskey offers is definitely a luxury.

On our part we feel so strongly that we say—the House of Seagram does not want a dollar that should be spent for the necessities of life.

And even to those to whom whiskey does not mean actual deprivation, we say—treat whiskey as a luxury. A pint of good, aged whiskey will bring you more enjoyment, more satisfaction, than a quart of whiskey of dubious quality.

We feel sure that you will agree with us that the desirable way of life is thoughtful, informed by experience, guided by common sense. Realizing this, we feel sure that you will prefer moderation in the enjoyment of the finest to the empty satisfaction that follows upon profusion of the second rate.
