Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold. (Adv.)

Marian Martin Pattern

PATTERN 9510
The youthful cut and contour of this trim "shirtmaker" is one, two, three with its bold, contrasting buttons. If there's anything as chic as a well-tailored shirtmaker dress, we've yet to see it. This frock with its set-in sleeves, short for now and long for cold weather—has a bodice gathered to a narrow rectangular yoke, while an inverted pleat stitched almost the full length of the skirt in back, finally develops into an action pleat. For Fall, a light-weight wool or wool-like cotton, in monotone or mixture would make up smartly. Complete, diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart included.
Pattern 9510 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards 54 inch fabric.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.
Send your order to Daily Dispatch Pattern Department, 23 1/2 W 18th St., New York, N. Y.

man on duty there.
There also is a small hospital with Dr. Greist in charge, and an American school teacher. Every one in the vicinity of Point Barrow are Eskimos or Indians.

Stephen Early, a secretary to the President, communicated with Mr. Roosevelt's aides at Hyde Park in an effort to notify the President.

At the time of the call, Mr. Roosevelt was on an automobile trip and was not immediately informed.

Stephen B. Gibson, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of the coast guard, instructed the service to do anything possible to facilitate the transportation of the bodies.

The coast guard said its cutter Northland was thought to be in the immediate vicinity and would proceed to help.

Rural Electric Money for State Will Be Plentiful

tion within five years.
2. That the REA will lend the money needed for the construction of as many projects as can meet these requirements, so that North Carolina can count on getting anywhere between $2,500,000 and $10,000,000 for rural electrification, if it can develop enough projects which can meet the Federal qualifications.

"At the present time, indications are that not more than 1,000 miles of the 5,000 miles of proposed rural electric lines which have been surveyed can meet Federal qualifications and pay for themselves within five years," Bagley said. "For the surveys of the other 4,000 miles of lines desired by the farmers along them show that anywhere from six to 16 years would be required for them to pay out and that they would thus not be able to meet the qualifications necessary for a loan from the Federal REA. There is a possibility, of course, that re-surveys of many of these lines may result in sufficient increased consumption to bring them within the Federal specifications. But for the time being I do not think we can count on getting loans from the REA for more than 1,000 miles of new lines in this state."

The procedure most likely to be followed in developing electrification projects with a view to obtaining Federal aid from the REA, according to Bagley, will be to find a project containing from 100 to 150 miles of line that will pay for itself in five years, organize a corporation for this entire project and then issue the bonds necessary for the loan and exchange the bonds for the money.

The loans will run for a period of 20 years at 3 per cent interest, though they may be paid back sooner if desired. The REA takes the position, however, that lines which will not do enough business to pay for themselves in five years are not a good investment.
When the farmers in the state learn that these new electric lines will not be built unless they can provide enough business to make them pay out in five years and that whether a line will be built will depend upon the amount of electricity used, it is expected that many farmers will increase their estimated needs, Bagley said.
"We have consistently taken the position here in the state that a farmer should not be encouraged to wire his house and use electricity for lighting only and the Federal REA officials were delighted when we told them this," Bagley said. "They said we were entirely correct in taking his position and agreed that unless a farmer plans to use one or more electrical appliances, such as an electric refrigerator, stove, water pump, milking machine, motor-driven separator or other electric appliances, that he had better not use electricity at all. They also told us that North Carolina was apparently the only state taking this position."
The Federal REA has $100,000,000 available for rural electrification work and is in a position to make his money available to North Carolina and other states just as fast as they can develop and complete projects which will meet Federal specifications, Bagley said. He hopes to have several projects ready to submit to REA within the next few weeks.
