GIVING AND GETTING: Give, and it shall be given unto you; measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again.—Luke 6:38.

MORE LIKE EUROPE.
In the 150-odd years of its national life, the United States has been comparatively free from violence against its public officials. Foes of men in high office and their policies have for the most part been content to get their vengeance through the ballot.

Huey Long was poison to a large element of Americans. Vastly more of our people have been against his "share-the-wealth" idea and his "$5-000 for every family" program than have been for it.

But with all this, there is no place in the American picture for such violence as that which removed the Louisiana dictator from the scene as a factor in the nation's optical life.

was $70,000,000, while $30,000,000 of that amount already had been allocated for CCC camps, Federal highways, rural resettlements and subsistence homesteads.

Over 300 PWA applications have been filed in the State office at Chapel Hill for an outlay of $46,000,000, while more than 11,000 projects total $50,000,000.

The delegation, including Governor Ehringhaus, Senator J. W. Bailey and Representative Robert L. Doughton, of Sparta, was told by Hopkins in a conference yesterday that the State was assured of a $7,000,000 share in the huge Federal relief fund.

In the ordinary affairs of life we base our actions—consciously or unconsciously—on experience. And, if we have none of our own, we use that of others.

NOTABLE NATIVITIES
James Hopwood Jeans, b. 1877, one-time professor of applied mathematics at Princeton, now regarded as one of world's greatest physicists; author of the best book for laymen on present day philosophical physics: The Mysterious Universe... Field Marshal Erich von Falkenhayn, b. 1861, chief of the general staff, German army, 1914-16... William Sydney Porter, b. 1862. The short stories he wrote under the prosaic pseudonym, O. Henry, are the most imitated of all American literary works.

TODAY'S YESTERDAYS
125 years ago Today—James Pollock was born in Milton, Pa., destined to be a notable factor in the promotion of the table railroad to the Pacific, a governor of Pennsylvania and, for many years a Director of the Mint. As the latter, he was responsible for placing God, absent from the Constitution, upon our coins. (See Writing Wrongs)

His phrase in God We Trust was first impressed upon money—on 2c coins—in 1964. Original slogan on U. S. coins was Mind Your Business.

Sept. 11, 1814—Americans defeated British in the Battle of Plattsburg—Lake Champlain was the only battle in U. S. history in which Army and Navy engaged a foreign enemy simultaneously.

While Commander Thomas Macdonough, 31, with 14 ships, shattered a British fleet of 16 vessels under Commodore Andrew Downie, 6,000 U. S. soldiers under Brig. Gen. Alexander Macomb, 32, routed 12,000 Britons under Sir George Prevost, ashore.

Thus a second time U. S. fighters did what no foreign force had done before: defeat a British squadron.

Sept. 11, 1841—a situation unprecedented in U. S. history confronted John Tyler, 10th President. Every member of his Cabinet except one sent him their resignations—in protest over his veto of a bill providing for a federal bank.

The exception was Daniel Webster, who as Secretary of State, was in line for the Presidency. William Henry Harrison's death that Spring, a month after inauguration, had promoted Tyler to the Presidency and was no vice president.

The "Cabinet Strike" failed to make Tyler yield. He named a new one and succeeded in getting it confirmed.

Sept. 11, 1851—Sylvester Graham, a native of Suffield, Conn., died at 57 having learned that Vegetarianism didn't prolong life.

He's worth remembering because Graham bread is named for him.

Sept. 11, 1861—President Abraham Lincoln forbade emancipation of slaves.

He revoked the order of the commander of the western department, Maj. Gen. John C. Fremont, freeing the slaves of all those in his territory bearing arms against the United States.

(It was the next September that Lincoln issued his own emancipation proclamation, setting free slaves in rebel territory.)

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS
Judge Francis A. Garrecht of the 9th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeal, Spokane, Wash., born at Walla Walla, Wash., 65 years ago.

General William I. Westervelt of Sears Roebuck Co., Chicago, born at Corpus Christi, Tex., 59 years ago.

threatening the security of Britain's sea route to India. In Mesopotamia there was no fixed line of trenches, the antagonists fought old-fashioned war such as had become obsolete in Europe, with cavalry sweeps providing as effective as they had on this same terrain in the day of Alexander the Great.

Many a British soldier yearned for the Flanders trenches. Floods earlier in the year had made marshes of much of the British line of defense, and that meant mosquitoes and fever. There was no shade, and often it was 110 degrees at dawn. Water was doled out more sparingly than food.

WRITING WRONGS
You're in error if you suppose—That this is a Christian nation. It isn't except in the sense that Christianity is the prevailing religion of the people. Legally, it is not a Christian nation.

John G. Pollard, ex-governor of Virginia, decided: "Notwithstanding the dicta of some of the courts to the contrary, this is not a Christian nation... Christians in this country are entitled to no special rights or privileges... This is not a Christian nation in a religious sense, for religion is strictly a personal matter. Men are not saved by nations, but as individuals."

Also, you're wrong if you believe—That the bag-pipe is a Scottish musical instrument. There are even doubts if it is a musical instrument! It was introduced by the Romans into England and was popular both there and in Ireland before it was taken up in Scotland.

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARIES
1744—Sarah Bache, daughter of Benjamin Franklin, remembered for her good works in Revolutionary days, born in Philadelphia. Died Oct. 5, 1808.

1807—Pelix Grundy, noted Tennessee criminal lawyer, jurist, senator, attorney-general, born in Virginia. Died in Nashville, Dec. 19, 1840.

1833—William H. Hatch, Confederate soldier, Missouri congressman, a noted law maker, born near Georgetown, Ky. Died Dec. 23, 1896.

1738—John Ireland, famed St. Paul, Minn., Catholic prelate, leader of his church in this country, born in Ireland. Died in St. Paul, Sept. 25, 1913.

1855—William Mulholland, noted Los Angeles hydraulic engineer and aqueduct builder, born in Ireland. Died in Los Angeles, July 22, 1935.

1862—William Sidney Porter ("O. Henry") greatest short-story writer of his generation, born at Greensboro, N. C. Died in New York, June 5, 1910.

1862—Lord Byng of Vimy, famed Britain's world war soldier, London police head, born. Died June 6, 1935.

TODAY IN HISTORY
1777—Battle of Brandywine, Pa.—Americans under Washington defeated British.

1811—Nicholas Roosevelt of New York City, associated with Fulton in the introduction of steamboats, built and navigated the first steamboat launched on Ohio-Mississippi rivers, the "New Orleans," from Pittsburgh to New Orleans.

1826—William Morgan kidnaped from Canadagua, N. Y., allegedly for threatening to expose secret masonic ritual—never heard of again—caused great commotion over country and led to forming of a new political party.

1857—Mountain Meadow massacre in Southern Utah—of 140 California immigrants but 17 children saved from slaughter by Indians.

1862—San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board—first world exchange of mining securities—opened.

1918—German counter-attack French-American line, suffering heavy losses.

What Do You Know About North Carolina?
By FRED H. MAY

- 1. What did the Indians call a surveyor's compass?
2. What Richmond county boy became governor of Connecticut?
3. What was the court order in the execution of Quamino, negro robber?
4. What outfit fired the shot that caused the tragic death of "Stonewall" Jackson?
5. What was Jackson county named for and when was it formed?
6. How many acres of North Carolina's total area is covered by water?

ANSWERS
1. As the settlers pushed back, taking more and more of the Indians lands, a compass became known among the Indians as "land stealer" which, no doubt, was true.

2. Joseph Roswell Hawley, born at the old village of Stewartsville, October 31, 1826. Eleven years later he moved to Connecticut and later began the study of law. He attained the rank of a major-general in the North.

3. Quamino was tried at Wilmington, February 8, 1768 and sentenced to be hanged. Then the court ordered that his head be put up and displayed at a nearby point.

4. It is claimed shots were fired by both the Eighteenth North Carolina and the Fifteenth Virginia regiments but no one knows who fired the fatal shot. On the night of May 2, 1863 Jackson's forces had pushed the Federals back through the woods at Chancellorsville. There were no outposts when General Jackson, General A. P. Hill and about thirty others rode ahead of the lines. Union forces fired on them in the darkness and they hurriedly turned back through the woods. Not knowing General Jackson and his party were in front and expecting an attack anyway, Jackson's own men fired on what they thought was the enemy cavalry. The order to fire was given in the Eighteenth North Carolina by Colonel Thos. J. Purdie, of Bladen county.

5. Jackson county was formed in 1851 from Haywood and Macon, and was named for Andrew Jackson, twice elected President of the United States.

6. Two million, three hundred fifty-nine thousand and forty acres.

Bond Bros. Circus Here Next Monday

"Tusko" mighty bull elephant, largest beast that walks, featured with the Bond Brothers 3 Ring Wild Animal Circus, the world's newest circus with Capt. Sells fighting lions, featured at Chicago World's Fair which comes to Henderson, Monday, September 16th, for two performances on the Davis and Williams Streets circus grounds.

Monday, Sept. 16th is circus day in Henderson, the first circus of the season being the Bond Brothers three ring wild animal circus, the newest addition to the major circus now on tour, which big show will come to Henderson for two performances on that day pitching it's tented city on the Davis and Williams streets circus grounds.

Bond Brothers Circus fresh from its triumphant tour of the largest cities of the East and North brings to Henderson the greatest array of circus talent that has been assembled beneath one single title, presenting over fifty new feature circus acts including the famous Capt. Sells and his performing lions and tigers, direct from the Chicago World's Fair as the feature of that exposition for two consecutive years.

Three circus rings and massive steel arena are necessary in which to present this new giant of the circus world and over four hundred people are carried with this circus, introducing as it's outstanding features many acts which make their initial American appearance with the Bond Brothers Three Ring Wild Animal Circus.
