

Explains Textbook Rental That Apply To High School

Prof. Payne Lists Those That Can Be Had and Price Required; All Pupils Can Be Supplied at Their Class- es on Monday; Some Must Be Acquired New

A statement explaining the text- book rental system as it applies to the Henderson high school was made today by Prof. W. D. Ayne, the principal. Rental books will be available Monday, he said, including science, history and geography texts. All rentals will be cash in advance and all books must be rented at the same time.

The preliminary arrangements for the rental of textbooks at the Henderson high school have been completed, and all pupils will be permitted to secure the books at the regular class periods on Monday, September 23. The instructions of the State Textbook purchase and rental commission will be carefully followed in the administration of the book rentals at the local school.

At the present time it will not be possible to rent any of the high school textbooks except the science books, the history books and the geography books. All of the other books may be purchased by the pupils exactly as they have done in former years.

- Grade 11, Modern Physics, 50 cents. Any parent who prefers to buy the books is urged to do so, and in most cases it will be possible for a pupil to buy a second-hand book. There are a few of the books that have not been used at the local school before, and these will have to be bought now, or rented as the parent may prefer. The books that cannot be secured except new ones are as follows: 1. General Science for Today. 2. Dynamic Biology. 3. High School Chemistry. 4. Modern Physics. 5. The nation's at work (Geog).

COUNCIL TO HAVE A FULL PROGRAM

Cemetery, White Way Extension and Other Matters Due Monday

A busy program faces the Henderson City Council for its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, and matters of interest to many of the people of the community are likely to come up and to be acted upon.

A committee named a month ago to work out a plan for operation of Elmwood cemetery, now owned by the city, is to report, and it is expected the Council will take some definite action in that regard. Federal funds with which to proceed with the improvement and enlargement of the cemetery have already been allotted under the WPA set-up, and are to be made available as soon as the city is ready to proceed.

Another question that may be decided is that pertaining to the extension of the Garnett street white way along Montgomery from Garnett across the Seaboard Air Line railroad main line track to William street.

Employment Is Greater For August

(Continued from Page One.) 33 lumber industries inspected in August as compared with only 701 employed in the same 33 organizations six months ago. The next largest gain in employment has been in laundries, with a gain of 16.7 per cent in 57 laundries inspected. Six months ago 1,243 persons were employed in these laundries while in August the number had increased to 1,451.

The manufacturing industries showed the next largest gain in employment, with an increase of 14.1 per cent in 92 industries inspected in August, and which had 2,605 employees, as compared with 2,239 six months ago. A group of miscellaneous industries, including 140 different firms, showed an increase in employment of 12.2 per cent.

Officials Strive Hard To Ward off Soft Coal Strike

(Continued from Page One.) of the chamber's membership on a report which sharply criticized the "trend" of New Deal legislation. The capital read with interest that Hugh S. Johnson, former national recovery administrator, planned to make a number of speeches as a friendly but vigorous critic of administration policies. Johnson, now director of the Federal works program in New York City, emphasized, however, there was no break between him and the White House. In an interview, he said the present WPA-PWA works program was "wholly impractical," and said a new era "certainly should be enacted."

At relief headquarters official figures showed that 936,218 persons are on the work relief payrolls. The goal is to put 3,500,000 to work by November 1, a task that will mean finding jobs for 63,000 a day. More than half of those at work now are in CCC camps.

LOCAL PROGRAM ON RADIO AT RALEIGH

Two Brief Talks and Amos 'n' Andy Imitation Offered in Broadcast

A radio program was given over the Durham Life Insurance Company Station WPTF in Raleigh from 7 to 7:45 o'clock this morning, in which publicity was given to Henderson. Three Henderson men participated in the program.

It was one of a series of Saturday morning programs in which the Raleigh station is "saluting" towns and cities of the State. In addition to the talks, readers were given about several Henderson business concerns.

Mayor Irvine B. Watkins spoke first, giving certain data about his history of the city. The next talk was by Henry A. Dennis, who touched on the commercial activities of Henderson. Later Clyde L. Finch gave his well known impersonations of the Amos 'n' Andy radio characters, and provided a text that was in the way of boosting the Henderson community and its tobacco market.

J. B. Clark, former Henderson young man, was the announcer, "J. B." as he is known to a host of friends here, is a regular announcer for WPTF and is heard daily from that station. He interspersed personal remarks between the talks, and photograph records of popular numbers were given at intervals.

BIG CROWDS HERE TO RALEIGH MEET

Tobacco Growers Determined In Effort To Obtain Higher Prices

Big crowds of farmers and some business men who are also farmers went to Raleigh today for the mass meeting of tobacco growers in protest against low tobacco prices. They were in a slightly optimistic mood that possibly something could be done for the improvement of prices and were hopeful that this could be brought about, shortly.

Just what could or would be done local growers did not know when they left home. Resolutions adopted here in the week following a mass meeting proposed, however, that a tobacco holiday be declared, that the possible during the holiday, and that the AAA in Washington make immediate announcement of next year's crop cut. It was also proposed that the sale of allotment certificates by growers with less than their quotas to growers who produced surpluses above their allotments be discontinued for the remainder of this season.

Farmers in Vance and Warren counties were among the few in the tobacco belts of the State who held mass meetings in protest against low prices, and were instrumental in bringing about the call for today's big mass meeting of growers in Raleigh.
