

Durham And Henderson Divided Week-End Games

Bulls Win Saturday, 12-7; Beal Hurls 10-2 Victory

Tolson Remembered With Collection; Season Brought to Close Here

Henderson and the Durham Bulls divided their two game series here this week-end, Durham winning the Saturday game, 12 to 7 and the Tourists took the Sunday encounter behind beautiful pitching of Walter Beal, 10-2.

The Bulls, substituting for the Durham All-Stars, had two big innings in Saturday's game, the third and fourth in which they scored nine of their tallies.

Henderson got two in the first inning and four in the seventh and one in the ninth to account for their runs.

Sunday's Game Different
With Sunday as "Walter Beal Day" a large number of fans flocked to League Park to witness the exhibition of the pitching prowess of a former big league star, Walter Beal, and those who came saw, for Beal showed down the opposition almost at will all during the contest, allowing only seven hits.

Lefty Perry pitched for the visitors being effective only at times. He was rapped hard and often.

Saturday's game saw Breedlove start, Pleasants continued and Beal finished. No runs came off Beal. Veasey and Parker pitched the victory.

Tolson Remembered
During Sunday's game, a collection was taken for Toby Tolson, former ball player here who died of the heights to star in the Chicago-Philadelphia World Series some years ago. Tolson has not played baseball for the past three years, his health having failed him. He lives in Washington and is only a skeleton of his former self, according to Walter Beal, his pal here. Tolson at one time weighed 220 pounds and today his weight was said to be about 108.

The collection amounted to $13.30 and it was turned over to G. W. Knott, baseball fan, to be sent Tolson.

Baseball Over For Powell
Ed Powell stated today that as far as he was concerned here the baseball season has been brought to a close. He had planned to have games here next week but a misunderstanding has caused him to call off further activities.

HIGHS START FULL WEEK OF PRACTICE

All Boys Fighting Hard for Position on First Eleven for Opener Oct. 4

Henderson high school's football squad swung into its first full week of drills this afternoon with a lot of work in prospect before they open their season here on October 4.

It is the hope of Coach H. H. Crosby that in the next two weeks, his raw material will show some signs of developing into something that will stand him in good stead when the season is in full swing.

The boys are working hard and fighting for their positions, realizing that they must convince the members that they are capable of handling their positions.

Duke Faces Three Tough Conference Battles in a Row

Durham, Sept. 23—Opening their Southern conference campaign with South Carolina in Duke stadium Saturday, there is nothing but hard-going ahead for Wallace Wade's Duke Blue Devils.

The up-and-coming Gamecocks, who surprised even their most optimistic followers with the margin of victory over Erskine Saturday, will be much tougher than anticipated early this season. Carl Voyles, Duke end coach who scouted the Birds, reported that they had a smooth team, with a bevy of fast and dangerous backs. Wilburn Clary and Jack Derwick are great backs, he said.

Voyles' report bears out the statement of S. L. Latimer, Jr., veteran sports editor of the Columbia State, who said in a letter last week, "I firmly believe the South Carolina team is better than pictured by most observers."

Early attention in the Southern conference is focused on Duke's game in Richmond, Va., October 5 against Washington and Lee's 1934 conference champions. The Generals "have got 'em" this year with a line averaging over 200 pounds and an entire team that will top the beam at the 200 mark—probably the biggest team in the country. It will be one of the hardest games Duke has had since Wallace Wade came here.

A week after the Generals core Clemson's powerful Tigers who opened their season with a 25-6 victory over the fighting and excellent Presbyterian team. It was the first time in five years that Clemson has been able to beat the Blue Stockings by more than one touchdown. While the conference coaches have picked Duke in the conference, many observers believe Clemson has the team this year that will cop the crown.

After those three conference games Duke goes into the Southeastern conference for three battles—Georgia Tech in Atlanta, October 19, Auburn at Durham, October 25, and that annual "Battle of the South" with Tennessee in Duke stadium November 2.

TRIBUTE FROM ONE GREAT TO ANOTHER

Durham, Sept. 23—Clarence (Ace) Parker, the Portsmouth, Va., boy who quarterbacked the Duke Blue Devils and led them to a 26-7 victory over Wake Forest in the opener Saturday night, praised Walton Kitchin, the lad who does the same thing for the Demon Deacons, as one of the best backs he ever saw. Parker said that Kitchin does everything well—is a great punter, a great passer, a great runner, a great field general and a great defensive man. It is likely that Kitchin feels the same way about Parker after the Duke lad's great performance Saturday night.

BARCLAY'S SUCCESSOR VERSATILE PLAYER

Chapel Hill, Sept. 23.—Johnnie Shisack, who has been assigned the role played by All-American Barclay last fall, has been tried at practically every post on the backfield in the last winter practice, and landed up at end. Now he is playing guard, and doing a fine job of it. The sophomore leads the interference and backs up the line on defense. He is said to be faster than Barclay.

Carolina's First Team Given "Iron Man" Role

Injuries and Withdrawals From College Make Deep Cuts in Reserve Strength, Which Appeared Strong First of Season—Wake Forest Game Saturday

Chapel Hill, Sept. 23.—Can Carolina's whole first team play the role as the "iron man eleven"? The answer to that question now appears vitally important to Coach Carl Snavey and all Tar Heel followers this season.

At the first of the pre-season practice everything pointed to plenty of good reserves, but injuries and withdrawals from college due to financial difficulties have cut the reserve strength to shreds.

Injuries have taken Al Gaydos, sophomore, for the rest of the season and have claimed Randy Cooner, leading halfback reserve, and Buck McCann, star letter end, for at least one week and mayb more. Numerous minor injuries hamper hard work which is essential in getting the men in shape and in building up a team.

Four men, all good reserves, are said to be leaving college, one having already gone. These subs showed promise, two of them making nice performances in the last scrimmages. The opening game this coming Saturday with Wake Forest will give a good indication of just how well the "first team" can take it. Coach Snavey and his assistants know they have a tough assignment. They are working the entire squad hard.

129 MINES NOW IN WORKING IN STATE

They Range From Coal To Gold and Produce Many Mineral Products

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the St. Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—Mining is a major industry in North Carolina, which has 129 registered mines, located in 28 different counties and producing minerals all the way from gold to coal and road-building materials. It was pointed out here today by Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher, who has just returned from a trip during which he inspected most of these mines. One of the duties of the commissioner of labor is the inspection of all mines in the State to see that the operators conform to the various mining laws. Fifteen of these 129 mines now in operation in the State are gold mines, ranging from mere "prospects" to large mines which are making regular shipments of gold-bearing ore. The largest gold mine is the Rudisill mine in the city of Charlotte.

"With the exception of this Rudisill mine, there is not much in the 'gold fields' to get excited about," Commissioner Fletcher said. "But this mine appears to be operating in a thoroughly businesslike manner, and there is every reason to believe it will prove profitable. The present operating company has spent about $70,000 in pumping water out of the old shafts and in re-timbering them and so far has produced about $5,000 worth of ore. The mine was in regular operation prior to 1885 and produced much gold. While many of the richer veins have already been worked, it is believed that it is still capable of producing much rich ore."

The inspection trip made by Commissioner Fletcher, Murray M. Grier, safety engineer and mine inspector for the Department of Labor and Frank E. Cash, district engineer of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, started with the coal mines in the Lee and Moore counties, then to the gold mines in Stanly, Montgomery and Mecklenburg counties and thence on over to the talc, mica and feldspar mines in the mountains, especially in Mitchell and Yancey counties.

The party also visited the Fontana copper mines in Swain county, where the main shaft has reached a depth of 2,600 feet. This is the most extensive mining operation now in progress in the state and has been in constant operation for three years.

The student government association had charge of the chapel program at the college yesterday afternoon. Miss Mary Louise Shepherd, of Durham, president of the association, presided. Other student government officers who spoke to students assembled in Aycock auditorium were: Misses Betty Griesinger, Cleveland Heights, O., vice-president of the student government association; Justine Ullrich, Mt. Clemens, Mich., secretary; and Lucy Spinks, Fayetteville, treasurer.

Three Are Added On Music Staff At State University

Chapel Hill, Sept. 23.—Music Department of the University of North Carolina has been strengthened by the addition of three new staff members, two of whom will replace professors who resigned last spring.

The new members of the staff are Prof. Benjamin F. Swain, who comes here from DePaw University and who will teach violin, historical subjects and conduct orchestras; Prof. Jan Philip Schinhan, who comes here from the University of California and who will teach organ, piano, theory and composition; and Prof. Peter Hansen, who received his master's degree in music from Eastman School of Music in New York last spring and who is to teach piano and piano ensemble, and take a prominent part in concert activities. He is to have the rank of graduate assistant and is to continue his graduate subjects in musicology.

The addition of these men provided a well rounded program of instruction, it was announced by Dr. Glen Hayden, head of the Department of Music.
