

LEAGUE WARNS BOTH ITALY AND ETHIOPIA

Slower Marketing And Withholding Of Scrap Urged On Growers

AAA PROMISES BUT LITTLE RELIEF FOR TOBACCO FARMERS

Much of Discussion at Washington Conference Turns on Question of Parity Basis

TAX RETALIATION IS DENIED BY WILLIAMS

Reynolds Chairman Tells Governor Ehringhaus Failure to Remove Processing Levy May Be Factor in Lower Prices, However; Growers Are Displeased

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Farm Administration officials, where hallmarks from fine-cured tobacco growers echoed last year, today heard cries of dissatisfaction from the same source.

A drop of from seven to ten cents a pound for tobacco aroused the ire of the growers, but the Farm Administration says there is little it can do to boost prices.

Last year, AAA officials contend, fine-cured tobacco brought about eight cents above parity, while this year the weed that goes to make cigarettes is selling at around parity.

Under the agricultural adjustment act, J. B. Hutson, the administration's tobacco chief, told a delegation of North Carolina dissenters yesterday, it is the department's obligation to maintain prices at parity.

Objections were heard against the determination of parity, which is based upon a ten-year average price of commodities brought by farmers.

The North Carolina delegation, which included Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and Senator Josiah W. Bailey, suggested that parity was too low.

One grower said the cost of operating tractors was figured in its computation, while only mules can be used in the harvesting of tobacco.

The suggestion was made that the bases for figuring parity be regionalized; that is, the average price of farm commodities within a certain region be used instead of the national average.

The effect of the processing tax was injected into the conference by S. Clay Williams, of Winston-Salem, N. C., board chairman of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

He said the administration's decision to reduce the levy from 4.2 to 1.9 cents a pound, instead of removing it entirely, might be a factor in lower prices, since the levy decreases

(Continued on Page Eight.)

Seeley Will Remain With Utility Body

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus announced this afternoon that Fred L. Seeley, of Asheville, an associate utilities commissioner will remain as a member of the body.

"Mr. Seeley," said the governor, "on account of press of business matters, had expressed a desire to resign, but upon the earnest plea of the governor that he remain upon the commission, he agreed over the telephone this morning to do so."

Reports that Mr. Seeley had resigned were published today.

Morehead's Port Money Now Ready

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Senator Bailey, of North Carolina, said today that release within a few days of approximately $2,000,000 in public works funds allocated last year for development of a port terminal at Morehead City, N. C., apparently was assured.

In a statement, the senator said it was his information from official sources that the formal transfer of $455,000 to the Morehead City Port Commission for building terminals and of $1,500,000 to the War Department for deepening the channel, will take place next Tuesday.

HERE'S WHERE PRESIDENT WILL GO

Seeking to enjoy as long a rest as possible at sea, President Roosevelt plans a hurried trip across the continent to board the cruiser Houston at San Diego. En route he will stop at Boulder Dam. Then prior to returning to Washington by way of the Panama canal, the president plans to do some deep sea fishing at the Pearl Islands, off Panama, and also to visit an island "on which no white man has as yet set foot". In all the chief executive plans to spend about 20 days at sea.

BALANCED BUDGET IS DIFFICULT TASK

Roosevelt Would Like To Let Business Alone, But Seemingly Can't

By LESLIE EICHEL
New York, Sept. 26.—Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget, Democrat who resigned because he was not in sympathy with President Roosevelt's fiscal policies, has written what may be the Republican campaign document.

Writing in the Atlantic Monthly, under the caption: "Can Government Spending Cure Unemployment?" Douglas says:

"Billions have been spent and not even one unemployed person out of ten has been given a temporary job through the present policy of gov-

(Continued on Page Four.)

DEFEAT OF BOWIE SIGNIFICANT MOVE

Ashe County Upset May Mean End of Huey Longism in N. C. Politics

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Three.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Three.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Three.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Three.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Three.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Three.)

NO SETTLEMENT OF SOFT COAL STRIKE

Negotiations Continue, However, and Little Disorder Has Occurred

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Philip Murray, vice-president of the United Mine Workers, today predicted "either a make or a break" before nightfall in negotiations to end the soft coal strike.

"The negotiations have reached such a stage that I think there will be something definite before nightfall," Murray told reporters when a committee of two miners and two Appalachian producers met with a new Appalachian wage and hour agreement.

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—There was no sign today of a break in the soft coal deadlock. Indications were that the strike of the miners might last for several days at least before a settlement is reached.

Disputes over wage differentials and working conditions cropped up yesterday to add to the difficulties in reaching an agreement and ending the strike, which was called last Sunday at midnight.

Thus far little or no disorders have been reported from the field.

(Continued on Page Four.)

Reynolds' Tour Gets Criticisms

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, is being much criticized here by both friends and opponents for his "galavanting" tour around the country—supposedly on only $100 a person—while there is serious business to be attended to here at home. There is no doubt that he rates little better than zero with the tobacco farmers here in the east because he has been "too busy" clowning around the country to do

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, is being much criticized here by both friends and opponents for his "galavanting" tour around the country—supposedly on only $100 a person—while there is serious business to be attended to here at home. There is no doubt that he rates little better than zero with the tobacco farmers here in the east because he has been "too busy" clowning around the country to do

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, is being much criticized here by both friends and opponents for his "galavanting" tour around the country—supposedly on only $100 a person—while there is serious business to be attended to here at home. There is no doubt that he rates little better than zero with the tobacco farmers here in the east because he has been "too busy" clowning around the country to do

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, is being much criticized here by both friends and opponents for his "galavanting" tour around the country—supposedly on only $100 a person—while there is serious business to be attended to here at home. There is no doubt that he rates little better than zero with the tobacco farmers here in the east because he has been "too busy" clowning around the country to do

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, is being much criticized here by both friends and opponents for his "galavanting" tour around the country—supposedly on only $100 a person—while there is serious business to be attended to here at home. There is no doubt that he rates little better than zero with the tobacco farmers here in the east because he has been "too busy" clowning around the country to do

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, is being much criticized here by both friends and opponents for his "galavanting" tour around the country—supposedly on only $100 a person—while there is serious business to be attended to here at home. There is no doubt that he rates little better than zero with the tobacco farmers here in the east because he has been "too busy" clowning around the country to do

BONUS IS DEMANDED BY LEGION

Three-Paragraph Resolution Adopted Scorns Vetted Patman Inflationary Measure

WANT CONGRESS TO DECIDE ON METHOD

Wright Patman, Inflationary Bonus Advocate, Boomed on Floor of Convention at St. Louis; Loud But Brief Discussions Precede Vote on the Bonus

Convention Hall, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Shouting approval, the convention of the American Legion today renewed its demand for cash payment of the soldier bonus.

Delegates and visiting Legionnaires who taxed the convention hall roared the unanimous vote in favor of a three-paragraph resolution that scorned the vetted Patman inflation bill.

Loud but brief discussions preceded the action, featured by prolonged boos directed against Representative Patman, of Texas, author of the bonus inflation bill vetoed by President Roosevelt at the last session of Congress.

Patman, an ardent advocate of inflation as a means of payment, finally won cheers when he concluded a five-minute argument with a statement that the method of payment was secondary to the main issue.

Dwight Sullivan, of New York, legislative chairman of the State department, arguing for the resolution, declared a campaign of vilification had been carried on in Congress against Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., national commander, in the fight against the bonus.

Representative W. B. McFarland, of Texas, obtained the floor, but also was booed as he recommended that the method of financing the payment be left to Congress.

"You have boomed my comrade and your comrade, Wright Patman. Where were you back in 1928 when he was using his own money in an effort to get the bonus payment?" he shouted. McFarland said the second section of the adopted resolution provided only for a bond issue "that would give the bankers of this country more than $2,000,000,000."

"Don't tie inflation around the neck of the bonus," shouted Charles Hallack, of Indiana. "Take the road that will get you there. The bonus is popular with all the people. Inflation is not."

Licenses To Drivers Go Out Shortly

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—With more than 300,000 applications for drivers' licenses already received, the Department of Revenue will start photographing these applications and issuing the actual licenses within the next day or two, according to George G. Scott, who is in charge of the drivers' license work.

The two photographic machines, which will make photostatic copies of the top portion of each license application, which will become the drivers' licenses issued to the applicants, have already been installed and are ready to go to work. They will probably be tested out today and put into full operation by Monday at the latest.

"These photographic machines will be able to turn out from 1,000 to 2,000 photostatic copies of the license applications in a few minutes."

(Continued on Page Eight.)

OUR WEATHER MAN

FOR NORTH CAROLINA.

Increasing cloudiness tonight, followed by showers Friday and probably in extreme west portions late tonight and Friday; warmer in west portion tonight; cooler in west and interior of north portion Friday; much cooler Friday night.

(Continued on Page Eight.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Eight.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Eight.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

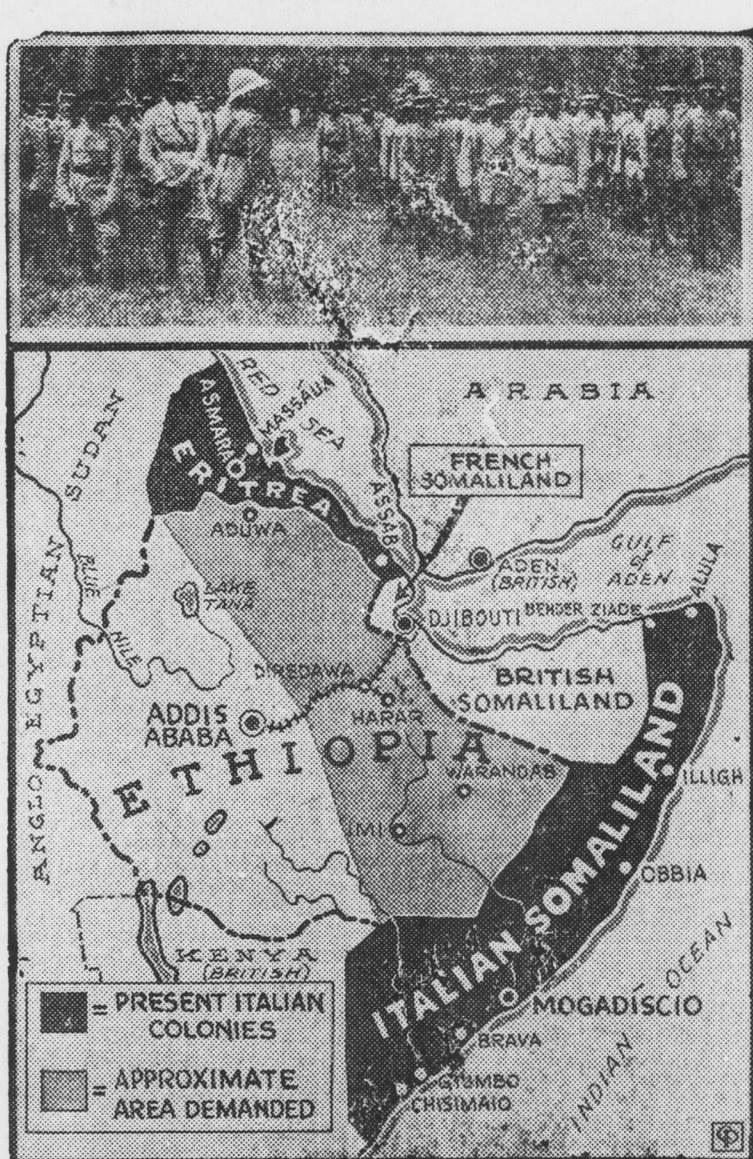

(Continued on Page Eight.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Eight.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

WHAT MUSSOLINI DEMANDS

Map showing Il Duce's demands

This map explains the price demanded by Mussolini of the League of Nations for abandoning the Italian campaign against Ethiopia: Eritrea and Italian Somaliland must be connected territorially by cession to Italy of a large section of eastern Ethiopia; if Ethiopia is to have an outlet to the sea, it must be through an Italian port of Eritrea, and a considerable part of Ethiopia's army must be demobilized and disbanded and the remainder placed under control of Italian commanders. The league's council rejected the demands.

19 AWAIT TRIAL IN MOORESVILLE AREA

Meantime, Mills Where But Professors Condemn Cotton Tenancy System As "Humiliation"

Mooreville, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Nine persons awaited trial as the result of disorders in connection with the strike at the Mooreville Cotton Mills, where operations continued today behind a cordon of State Highway Patrol, police and special deputies.

Charges ranged from simple assault and carrying a concealed weapon to operation of a strike propaganda sound truck with improper license.

Police headquarters reported an increased working force in the mill today, and this was met with a counter claim by strike leaders that their lines were holding firm. Approximately 600 workers, members of the United Textile Workers Union, went on strike Monday morning, charging the mill management with discrimination against union members. The mill normally employs between 1,600 and 1,800 workers.

Charges ranged from simple assault and carrying a concealed weapon to operation of a strike propaganda sound truck with improper license.

Police headquarters reported an increased working force in the mill today, and this was met with a counter claim by strike leaders that their lines were holding firm. Approximately 600 workers, members of the United Textile Workers Union, went on strike Monday morning, charging the mill management with discrimination against union members. The mill normally employs between 1,600 and 1,800 workers.

(Continued on Page Eight.)

One Escape From Prison Is Captured

Gatesville, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Harry Ross, one of the four Negro prisoners who escaped from the Woodville State Prison camp Monday morning, was captured about three miles south of Sunbury in Gates county this morning. He was captured in a corn field where he was found lying flat down by Sheriff Winslow, of Perquimans county, and Tempy Parker, of Eden county, a prison guard. He was unarmed and offered no resistance. Ross said two of the other escaped convicts were with him until the car which they had stolen had run out of gas. All then went in different directions, he said. The fourth convict is believed to have gone by himself right after the escape. Guards and officials believe that they will capture two of the others shortly. Bloodhounds were sent for.

Ross, who had escaped five times before, was serving 25 years from Mecklenburg county on various charges of burglary, larceny, breaking and entering.

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Six.)

HOSTILITIES PRIOR TO DECEMBER 4 TO BE AN ACT OF WAR

League Council Says Aggressor In East Africa Would Be So Regarded At Geneva

STILL WORKING TO SAFEGUARD PEACE

Britain Determined To Stand by Its Policy and Other Nations Support That Position; Englishmen At Home To Be Taught How To Act If Bombed

Paris, Sept. 26.—(AP)—French officials said today that sanctions against Italy could not be avoided if Premier Mussolini's forces ever attacked Ethiopia.

These officials predicted that the League of Nations Council would make the aggressor nation in the impending conflict indefinitely liable to sanctions.

(By the Associated Press.)

The League of Nations Council acted rapidly today to warn Italy and Ethiopia that any hostilities before December 4 will put the aggressor nation automatically in the status of committing an act of war against all members of the League.

The Council decided to draft a report and recommendation for peace in East Africa.

After the Italian delegation left the League secretariat building, the Council adopted a recommendation to proceed under Article XV of the covenant. The Ethiopian representative accepted an invitation to attend the sessions.

Recommendations thus drawn, if adopted unanimously, would mark as an act of war against all League members any violation leading to sanctions.

Council members decided also to ask their five power committee to continue to take advantage of any opportunity for conciliation, not passing judgment on the failure report of the committee of five.

The Council president, Enrique Ruiz Guynazo, of Argentina, proposed

(Continued on Page Three.)

VANCE MAN GIVEN PAROLE FROM ROAD

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Five prisoners were granted paroles today by Governor Ehringhaus. Those paroled included General Baskerville, convicted in March of involuntary manslaughter in Vance and sentenced to two years.

VANATTA AGAIN TO HEAD STATE GRANGE

North Wilkesboro, Sept. 26.—(AP)—E. S. Vanatta, of Wadesboro, today was re-elected master of the North Carolina State Grange at its annual convention here.

CARDINAL-CUB GAME PREVENTED BY RAIN

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Rain today forced a postponement of the Cardinal-Cub series to determine definitely if the world champion St. Louis club can halt the rampaging and pennant-bound men of Grimm.

(Continued on Page Six.)

FDR Is To Start West By Evening

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had his favorite fishing reels and rods packed up today for a belated vacation trip to the Pacific coast.

Before heading across the country tonight on a direct route to the California International Exposition at San Diego, and to the Pacific ocean, Mr. Roosevelt arranged last minute talks with government officials.

The bituminous coal strike was believed to be due for primary consideration today.

The White House announced that the President would make four speeches on his trip across the country, the first a brief farm talk at Fremont, Neb., Saturday afternoon.

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool

(Continued on Page Six.)

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Sept. 26.—September was an unlucky month for Tam C. Bowie, Huey Long of Ashe county, as well as for Huey Long, observers here agree, since many see in the overwhelming defeat of Bowie's forces in the recent county convention in Ashe county the death knell to Huey Longism in county politics in North Carolina. Not that Bowie's power has been completely broken in Ashe county, or that there are not other counties which have county political dictators almost as powerful as Bowie and his organization in Ashe county. But the revolt of the people in Ashe county against Bowie and his efforts to draw his political domination of the county tighter and tighter is regarded by many here as a most healthful sign as proving the old saying to the effect that "You can fool the people some of the time, and you can fool