

Carolina, Duke And State Games Hold Grid Spotlight

Tar Heels Meet Vols, Devils Engage Generals While State Meets Birds

Wake Forest Meets Clemson Tigers; All Games Are Outstanding

The North Carolina grid spotlight is turned on the Carolina-Tennessee, Duke-W. & L. clash and down into South Carolina where N. C. State's Wolfpack is engaging the Gamecocks.

WOLFPACK AT COLUMBIA FOR GAME WITH BIRDS

Columbia, Oct. 4—The N. C. State College football team arrived here today from Raleigh for its Southern Conference game tomorrow afternoon with the University of South Carolina.

TAR HEELS LEFT LAST NIGHT FOR KNOXVILLE

Heavy workout was passed out to the Tar Heels yesterday before they took a train early last evening for Knoxville, Tenn., the scene of their battle with the vaulted Vols. Three teams made the trip.

Although several players will not be up to par, all of the top-flight boys with the exception of Randy Cooner, halfback, will be ready to see

A Power In Wolfpack's Line

Steve Sabol, an outstanding center in the State last year, and highly rated throughout the Southern Conference, is all primed to handle the line thrusts of the South Carolina Gamecocks tomorrow in Columbia. S. C. Sabol's play has been outstanding in the only game State has played this season. Davidson was the victim of State last Saturday.
