Bulldogs Turn Back Bethel Hill Eleven By 12-0 Score

Coghill Races 80 Yards For Locals First Score

Henderson Was Outweighed But Team Showed Plenty Of Fight

Henderson high school Bulldogs bared their fangs and tore into a much heavier Bethel Hill football team here yesterday afternoon at League Park and hung up their second victory of the season by a 12-0 score. Coghill raced 80 yards for one touchdown after intercepting a pass, and a sustained drive netted the other counter. Both extra point tries were failures.

The locals took the opening kickoff and marched down to Bethel Hill's 20 yard marker before losing the ball on downs. The visitors could do little with the Henderson defense and the first quarter ended with the Bulldogs in possession of the ball in midfield.

,Henderson lost the ball at the beginning of the second quarter but forced Bethel Hill to punt and Henderson fumbled with the visitors recovering to the 20 yard marker, where they attempted a pass and Coghill, Bulldog right half, stepped in to take the ball for his long jaunt and the first blood for Henderson. It was a beautiful run bringing mighty cheers from the spectators

Bethel Hill had possession of the ball on Henderson's forty at the half

The third quarter was more or less an exchange of punts with Ayscue getting the better of the argument with the visitors, the locals gradually working down into Bethel Hill ter-

At the opening of the fourth quarter, Henderson had the ball on the visitors 21 yard line and with Ayscue, Turner and Inscoe carrying the ball, they advanced it to the one foot line where Inscoe plunged over for the score. The placement failed.

Henderson had the edge in first downs, racking up eight to five for Bethel Hill. The visitors tried three passes and completed two. Hender-son shot six aerials and completed four. The only intercepted pass of the game was Coghill's snare in the second for a touchdown.

Vaughan, Phillips and J. Peace stood out for Henderson in the line and Ayscue, Inscoe, Turner and Coghill were the best in the backfield. Lefty Ayscue's passes were a big help to the locals in the ground gaining department

Barnett W. Tingen, and Penticost were the best for the losers. The lineups:

Diphtheria and Whooping Cough Prevalent in State; Both Serious

> Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel. BY J. C. BASKERVILLE,

Raleigh, Oct. 11.-The number of diphtheria and whooping cough cases in the State is already increasing, with the "season" for both these diseases due to last from now until spring, Dr. J. C. Knox, epidemiologist with the State Board of Health. pointed out today. He also pointed out that so far this year there have been more cases of and more deaths from both diphtheria and whooping cough than from infantile paralysis.

have already been 741 cases of diphtheria reported so far and 60 deaths up to September 1, with 9,682 cases and 266 deaths from whooping cough, while there have been only 632 cases of infantile paralysis and only 48 deaths from infantile paralysis within this same period," Knox said. "Yet parents have been almost frantic in their fear of paralysis while both diphtheria and whooping cough are both more prevalent and more deadly.'

Another factor is that while infantile paraysis is a warm weather disease and likely to disappear almost entirely during cold weather, both diphtheria and whooping cough us ually increases during cold weather and do not subside until warm weath. er, Dr. Knox pointed out. As a result the number of cases as well as the number of deaths from diphtheria should increase from now on, while infantile paralysis will virtually disappear.

"The number of cases and deaths from diphtheria are almost inexcusable, because diphtheria can be almost entirely prevented by having children vaccinated with the toxin-anti toxin or toxiod vaccine, one injection of which is now sufficient to immunize from $6 to 98 per cent of those given the serum," Dr. Knox said. "In fact, diphtheria could almost be wiped out entirely if parents would have their children immunized as soon as they become six months old. But unfortunately there are thousand of parents who do not realize how serious and dangerous diphtheria is. They would go to any amount of trouble to safeguard their children against snfantile paralysis, but will not go to the trouble to take their children to the nearest health officer to immunize them against diphtheria."

Tobacco In State Nine Cents Under Figures For 1934

71, and compared to 27.16 last year Durham's season sales were 3,264,600 pounds for an average of 18.24, as compared with an average of last year of $27.32.

On October 1 the condition of all flue-cured tobacco was listed at 84 percent, or five percent above that date last year, the report said, with a total indicated harvest of 759,696,000 pounds, which would be 36 percent more than last year, and 11.8 percent above the five-year average crop Up to October 1, sales in North Carolina approximated 39 per cent of the indicated production for the State. The Fuquay Springs market, in the Old Belt, led all in average, with $20.-87 for $1,761,482 pounds. Fairmont, in the border and South Carolina division, was next with $20.17 for 18,-173,011 pounds, and Farmville led the bright belt with $19.95 average for 11,-

HEELS, CATS RENEW FIRST 50 MARKERS RIVALRY SATURDAY

Favored But Davidson Has Scrappers

Chapel Hill, Oct. 12-North Carolina and Davidson renew their rivalry on the football field next Saturday when the two elevens met on Richardson Field, the Wildcats' liar.

Although the Tar Heels will be the favorites, every Carolina supporter is expecting a hard tussle. The fight and scrap of the Wildcats against much larger and more formidable opponents is well known. Many a team has entered the Wildcats' den confident of an overwhelming victory and then emerged a loser.

The Tar Heels and the Wildcats have met on the gridiron 31 times since their first meeting in the fall of 1889. The Carolina elevens have taken victories 23 times to the Davidson teams' 4. Four of the battles ended in ties, oddly enough each being a scoreless deadlock.

SCENIC TOUR WILL

Carolina's Share of $4,000,-000,000 Tourist Business Is at Stake

Charlotte, Oct. 12.—Carolina's share of the $4,000,000,000 travel business in 1936 will largely be determined by the extent to which the 50 travel executives, representing some 15,000 travel experts, are impressed on the 2,000 mile tour of the Carolinas under the auspices of the Carolina Motor Club and The Carolinas, Inc., which begins Monday, October 14, according to Coleman W. Roberts, president of the Carolina Motor Club, who will direct

The Carolinas Scenic and Historic tour will begin Sunday afternoon with a visit to points of interest in the vicinity of Greensboro, including Guilford College, Guilford Battleground National Park and Sedgefield, and early Monday morning the party of 60 will leave in private cars and a modern, transcontintental bus on a trip that will visti all sections of North and South Carolina and end at Charlotte on October 26.

During the 1935 vacation season, approximately 37,000,000 people, travel ing in 11,000000 vehicles spent more than $4,000,000,000. Most of this travel | years. moved in a northernly and westernly have done the greatest and most con-

"In the North I have found a mark. ed sentiment among travel directors for new 'travel markets' to sell." Mr Roberts said. "That is, new points of interest, new scenery, historic points, accessible by modern highways that have been feautified.

"It is estimated that the Carolinas are possibly doing an annual tourist travel business of $10,000,000 but with a little concentrated, well directed effort on our part, this business can be developed within a few years to a total of $100,000,000. No other type b iness flows so quickly through channels of commerce and trade as the travel dollar.

"Of the four billions of dollars spent in vacation travel last year, $800,000,000 went for transportation costs, including gas, oil repairs and garages; $1,000,000,000 went to retail stores; $830,000,000 for food; $325,000,-000 for theatres and amusements and $245,000,000 for refreshments.

"In general motor travel is seeking areas that have favorable conditions such as climate, good highwas, scenic and historic points, resorts, sports and receration centers. Certainly the Carolinas have all of these and more. These 50 guests of the Carolinas for the next two weeks will be the means by which first hand, accurate information regarding points of interest. hotels, resorts, climate and highways of North Carolina and South Carolina will be disseminated throughout the world."

The Carolinas Scenic and Historic tour has been arranged by the Carolina Motor club and The Carolinas, Inc., non-profit organizations interested in tourist travel, with hotels, resorts and bus operators cooperating. Governors of the two states have endorsed the undertaking, which is the first widespread and wholehearted effort to merchandise the scenic and historic points of interest in the Carolinas on a wholesale scale. Guests on the tour direct a majority of the tourist travel of the world.

Tar Heels of Course Are Several Historic Spots In This Section Among Those Designated

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, Oct. 12-Within the next 30 to 40 days North Carolina's longdelayed program for designating historical spots in the State with roadside markers, is expected to become a reality. Contracts have already been let for the first 50 of these markers, with delivery to be made within Etheridge director of the Department not more than 40 days, R. Bruce of Conservation and Development pointed out today, with the result that before very long these historical markers, to be made of cast aluminum, with black letters on an aluminum background, should begin to dot the shoulders of the highways and call the attention of tourists to historical spots that for years have been neglected, if not almos tforgotten'

The inscriptions for the first four markers have already been composed and sent to the foundary, and more are to be forwarded very soon. Some 50 spots have already been decided opon by the special committee of hisorians, headed by Dr. C. C. Crittenden of the State Historical Commission, and members of the history fac-ulties of the University of North Carolina, Duke, State College, Wake Forest and Davidson. The contract provides that delivery will be made within 30 days after the receipt of the copy of the inscriptions, at the rate of four markers a week until all of the first batch of markers has been turned out.

In addition to marking and calling attention to historical spots and localities in the State, which is expected to arouse and renew interest in local nistory, the markers are also expectto arouse interest outside the State and help attract hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of additional tourist business. Several of the big travel organizations which conduct all-expense tours, and which have not been conducting tours into North Carolina, have given as their reason the fact that this state did not have its historical spot well enough marked to make it worth while to bring tours down here. The pre vailing belief is that as a result of the erection of these markers, North Carolina will now become as much of a Mecca for history-hungry pilgrims as Virginia and the New England states have been in the past and that at last it will begin to reap its share of the rich financial harvest which the presidential proclamations. But if hostilities spread, with more and greater powers involved, and it becomes apparent that a deal of money is to be made and that many hands are offered employment at the task of supplying them, there is sure to be an increasing demand for a chance to take advantage of the opportunity.

The question, too, will arise: What is war?

Italy has denied that it is at war with Ethiopia, because the former country has not formally declared war. It has professed to be engaged simply in what it describes as a "colonial enterprise."

President Roosevelt took the position that a state of war exists—as it does, and every one knows it.

Yet suppose that the British, with League of Nations approval undertake to put a stop to Italy's military activities. Will that be a war, between Britain and Italy? Or will it be an attempt on Britain's part to end war?-a worthy, pacific purpose. Assume Uncle Sam to hold that

John Bull, in such a case, is not a belligerent but a would-be peacemaker; therefore entitled to all the suvplies he can get and pay for. Thus it will be our privilege to sell o Britain. But Italy (and maybe, by that time, Germany) certainly will regard the British as full-fledged belligerents.

Now, imagine an American ship, paddling across the Mediterranean, trying to deliever a cargo to Britain, at Alexandria or Suez, sunk by an Italian sobmarine. Wouldn't the incident put a strong strain upon American neutrality?

The problem is extremely compli-
