

Cooking School To Open On Next Tuesday Morning

WILL BE BIGGEST DISPATCH HAS HAD

Will Be Held Again This Year in Stevenson Theatre in Forenoon

ALL WOMEN WELCOME

Invited To Attend and Learn Newest Cooking Methods and Share in Prizes Given Away At Each Session

Plans for Henderson's biggest and best Cooking School and Kitchen Style Show have been completed and the outstanding home-making event of the year will start next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Stevenson theatre, continuing Wednesday and Thursday mornings at the same hour. While the Daily Dispatch has sponsored many interesting and enjoyable events of the kind, nothing previously attempted will compare with the 1936 school nor has any similar event aroused such interest among the women of this city and vicinity, it is believed.

With the cooperation of manufacturers, leading merchants and the Carolina Power and Light Company, the Dispatch offers the home-makers of this section an event that will not only be highly entertaining but will provide a vast amount of valuable information on cooking and other household matters. There will be no admission charge and an invitation is extended every woman in Henderson and vicinity to attend each session.

New Cooking Methods
That those in attendance will be given a chance to learn much about the newest and most highly approved home-making methods is assured by the fact that the cooking school and style show will be conducted by Miss Nell Scott, one of the South's leading authorities on cooking and domestic science topics. Miss Scott who is well known to many residents of this city and vicinity, has been especially trained in home economics work and is considered an expert both in culinary matters and in scientific home operations. Each morning, Miss Scott will deliver brief talks on household matters and will personally demonstrate not only the use of the newest household labor saving devices, but will explain the preparation methods of many of her favorite recipes.

To Give Many Prizes
An interesting feature of the coming event will be the awarding of many valuable prizes to those in attendance. Each morning, during the course of the school, bags of groceries ies and other substantial prizes will be awarded by merchants and other participating in school. In addition, a major award of a new 1936 Universal range valued at $98.00 will go to some lucky person. Every one who attends will have an opportunity to participate in the awards.

Be sure to plan now to attend each and every session of Henderson's biggest and best Cooking School and Kitchen Style Show. Every moment through the summer there might be no danger of such an excessive crop as has been feared on every hand in the wake of the invalidation of the crop control plan under the AAA.

TWO SPEAKERS AT KIWANIS MEETING

Rev. R. E. Brown and Dean Cloyd on Program; Easter Theme Used

Two speakers and music appropriate to the season, with the Easter theme predominating, marked the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club Friday evening. Rev. R. E. Brown, pastor of the First Methodist church, spoke on the subject of Easter, and Dean E. L. Cloyd, of State College, Raleigh, lieutenant-governor of the fifth division of the Carolinas district, paid an official visit to the club and spoke.

A solo was given by Miss Henrietta Strause, accompanied by Miss Helen Kimball at the piano, the topic being, "Greater Love," a crucifix song, and L. K. Griffith sang "Why Should I Love Him So?" accompanied by A. P. Barnes.

The program was in charge of Dr. Howard Allen, and the meeting was presided over by the president of the club, J. C. Gardner. An attendance of 95 percent of the enrolled members was reported, with only two members of the club absent from the meeting.

In his talk, Rev. Mr. Brown spoke on "The Day of the Cross," it being Good Friday. He impressed his thought by describing the effect sin has on the human, using a blank sheet of paper and so creating it from the center to show the effect of sin. He also used a sheet of paper to fold it and then tear it in a shape to make a cross. The scraps of paper were so folded and torn as to spell the word "hell," thus showing the ultimate result of when one clings to the fragments instead of to the cross.

Dean Cloyd talked about the coming convention of Kiwanis International in Washington June 21-25, and urged as many members to attend as could make it possible to do so. He expressed his appreciation of the support the Henderson club had given him already, and voiced a confidence that it would again be among the leading clubs in the district in its 1936 activities.

The two speakers and the two soloists were guests of the club at the luncheon meeting.

WEATHER RETARDS TOBACCO SEEDBEDS

Low Temperatures And Excessive Rain Holds Up Growth of Plants

Progress of tobacco plantbeds was retarded again this week by persistent rains and cool weather, so that little advancement was shown with the passing of another seven days of the growing season.

Time for transplanting is drawing near in this belt, although, of course, it is yet some three weeks or more away. Growers here rarely get well under way with their planting before early in May. Few plants are anything like large enough yet to be set in the fields, and a continuation of the kind of weather that has been common in the last few weeks will throw the crop late.

Growers did not get their seedbeds in an early this year as they usually do, due to the extremely cold weather of the late winter, but that in itself was not serious if weather following is favorable. But up to the present time, it has not by any means been all that could be wished for in that respect.

Weather conditions have been against the tobacco farmer so far in his preparations for the year's crop, and if adverse conditions continue through the summer there might be no danger of such an excessive crop as has been feared on every hand in the wake of the invalidation of the crop control plan under the AAA.

There has been little sunshine in the past week, but word from further south is that planting is well advanced in the Georgia belt, with South Carolina growers will set their plants soon after the first of May and the Old Belt territory will follow shortly thereafter.

ALFORD LINES UP AMATEUR TALENT

Amateur Hour Be Nightly Feature of Legion Exposition Next Week

Sam Alford, director of the "Amateur Hour" at the coming American Legion Merchants Exposition and Auto Show at the Big Henderson warehouse next week, has been very busy the past weeks lining up his talent for one of the feature events of the big show, and has booked many for the event.

A total of $150 will be given in prizes.

Mr. Alford attended the amateur show at the Vance Theatre Thursday and Friday, and booked the best acts there for his show. In addition to these he has had applications from the best talent in this section for places on the hour. He expects it to be most entertaining each evening as the contestants try for nightly prizes $15 and $5 and for the grand prize of $50.

Contestants may still enter by contacting Mr. Alford, and filling application for the event.

EASTER CANTATA IS GREATLY PLEASING

"Olivet to Calvary" Splendidly Sung by Baptist Choir Group

The inspirational cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," by J. H. Maunders, was impressively presented before a highly appreciative audience at the First Baptist church Friday evening. The choir of the church was assisted by R. J. Jones, Mrs. Sturgis Collins, Mrs. W. M. Coffin and W. E. Daniel, Jr., with Miss Dorothy Jones, the church organist, directing and playing the accompaniment.

The theme of the cantata recounts some of the incidents in the last days of the Savior's life on earth. There were a number of beautiful solos along with the choruses, and one or two quartettes.

The music itself was inspiring and tended to lift one into the spirit of the Easter occasion, with its significance and tragedy. Miss Jones never got more real music out of the well equipped organ than for this event, many thought, and her talent in that regard was at its best. The notes, both instrumental and vocal, seemed to translate the audience back to the scenes of Calvary and the sacrifice made by the Savior for humanity.

There was wonderful harmony, expression and volume throughout in all parts of the program.

The solos were given by Miss Garnett Myers, Mrs. Henry A. Dennis, Mrs. Sturgis Collins, Richard J. Jones and W. E. Harrison. A great deal could be said of each of them, as well as of the quartette groups, but it would not in the least detract from the others to say that the softness, tone and impression of Mr. Jones' tenor air in the seventh section of the cantata was really outstanding.

The pastor, Rev. A. S. Felt, presided and read the Scripture for the service, with the invocation by Dr. Hugh A. Ellis, of Wilson, former pastor of the church, while Rev. E. R. Nelson, Baptist minister of this city, gave the benediction.

PARTLY CLOUDY IS EASTER FORECAST

But Mostly Fair Weather Is Promised City and Section by Weather Man

Partly cloudy, but mostly fair weather, was the weather man's forecast today for Easter in Henderson, with a strong probability that there would be abundant opportunity for the display of new spring finery both at church services and during the remainder of the day.

There was no promise of an all-day season of sunshine, but there will likely be enough briskness in the air to make the outdoors inviting. Every effort has been put forth by the churches to make their services attractive to bring the public to these morning worship hours, and all churches look for virtually capacity congregations.

Many business houses will observe the Easter Monday holiday as a full day off from secular activities, affording a double holiday for many who may wish it.

POST OFFICE WILL OPERATE AS USUAL

Although most other lines of business will be taking a full holiday for Easter next Monday, the post office will operate as usual. The government does not recognize the occasion as a national holiday. There will be the usual city and rural mail deliveries, and all windows will be open for the entire day, with service of all kinds uninterrupted.
