MEN SUFFERED MUCH AGONY UNDERGROUND

Tears Burst Out When Word Reached Surface Of Reaching Men; Doctor Goes Down Shaft to Administer Aid; Dr. Robertson's Skill Kept Men Alive

(Copyright by The Associated Press) Moose River, Nova Scotia, April 22—A rescue crew digging through 141 feet of rock and dirt reached the two living men entombed more than nine days in the Moose river gold mine today.

They broke through its final wall of stone and dirt to reach Dr. D. E. Robertson and Charles Alfred Scadding, both of whom were in agony from the privations they have endured during the long wait underground. A group of three hard boiled coal miners, members of Nova Scotia's famous mine rescue organization, the Draegermen, formed the spearhead of the underground attack, which reached the noted Toronto surgeon and his friend. Their companion on the descent into the gold mine on Easter Sunday night, Herman Magill, died two days ago from privations.

So unbelievable was the pain that the two entombed men suffered that Dr. Robertson asked for hypodermic injections at once.

At the top of the rescue shaft stood hundreds of persons. Many of them had been on duty day and night, striving the best they could to assist in the work of rescue.

When the report came up from the depths that the two imprisoned men

YOUTH ADMITS HER SLAYING

John C. Fierenza, 24-year-old upholsterer, of Brooklyn, admitted yesterday to New York police that he assaulted Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, mystery story author, in her fashionable Beekham Place apartment, then strangled her, placing her body in a bath tub.

Slayer Of Authoress Is Guarded

Fiorenza In Nervous Condition, New York Police Fear Suicide Attempt

New York, April 22.—(AP)—A 24-year-old former convict whom police said confessed he assaulted and killed Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, was guarded closely in a jail cell today against the possibility of a suicide attempt.

Tied to the crime by a piece of cord used in the slaying, the accused man, Joe Fiorenza, a small statured upholsterer, was in a highly nervous condition, and guards were ordered to take every precaution unless he takes his own life.

For hours last night, he paced his cell muttering unintelligibly, while two policemen stood at the door, and under orders never to let their gaze wander from him.

Lights turned upon him showed he was suffering a reaction from the bravado he displayed yesterday when he showed police at the scene of the attack, and where he killed the attractive young writer.

Fiorenza was booked on a homicide charge yesterday, after Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, said that he had confessed the 11-day old crime.

SHORTAGE OF MEN THAT ARE TRAINED

Organizations Didn't Train Them During Depression; CCC Helped Some

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Staff Writer

THERE IS a shortage of trained men. Yet there are millions of men jobless.

It was certain to occur. Organizations did not train men during the depression. Youth had to get along as best it could. The CCC camps helped some—but were merely a beginning.

At both ends of life—youth and age—the United States is handicapped. It cannot use vital, zestful youth because cannot use vital, wornout men because there is no provision to take care of them.

Any comprehensive plan is downed with the cry of "Socialism," yet it is industry that is suffering the most because of this talemate.

SALES TAX REVENUE OPERATED SCHOOLS

Representative Day, of Onslow, Defends Action of Assembly in Adopting Sales Tax; All Other Revenue Sources Had Dried Up or Had Disappeared

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In The Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, April 22.—The public schools in at least 70 counties in the State would not have been able to remain open for more than a few months if the 1933 General Assembly had not enacted the eight months State-supported school law and enacted the sales tax to help finance the schools, Nere E. Day, of Jacksonville, Onslow county, and a member of the House in the 1931 and 1935 general assemblies said in a radio speech delivered here last night in which he discussed the schools and the State tax. He vigorously took exception to the recent statements made by Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, one of the four Democratic candidates for governor, who charges that the 1933 General Assembly deliberately "wrecked the schools" and enacted the sales tax in order to reduce the property taxes of the big corporations.

"I have it on the solemn word of the late Dr. A. T. Allen, then State Superintendent of Public Instruction, that the schools in at least 70 counties

M'DONALD LAUDS LEGION'S BIG SHOW; M'RAE WILL SPEAK

Attendance Shows Improvement; Acts Are Better Than Previous Night

GRAHAM TO SPEAK THURSDAY EVENING

Tharrington Trio Win First Prize Amateur Contest; C. M. Turner, Second; J. P. Zollicoffer Introduces Distinguished Visitor; Becker's Band Pleases

Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, last night spoke at the Auto Show, Merchants Exposition and Indoor Circus, sponsored here by the American Legion in the Big Henderson Warehouse, and two other candidates, John R. McRae and Lieutenant Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham, are to speak, McRae tonight and Graham Thursday night.

Dr. McDonald stated at the outset his remarks last night were not of a political nature but were words of commendation to the American Legion on its civic project, the exposition. He stated that he had visited many points in North Carolina, and everywhere he had found the American Legion taking a leading part in civic affairs. The speaker expressed delight in being present to enjoy the occasion, to meet people of this section, and to have a part in making the exposition a success.

The speaker was introduced by J. P. Zollicoffer, Henderson attorney. Three of the four gubernatorial candidates have signified their intentions of being present: Clyde Hoy, of Shelby, is the only one who has not definitely stated that he would attend.

Attendance last night was an improvement over the opening, and from tonight through the remainder of the week, the exposition floor is expected to be taxed to hold the crowds attending.

Everything worked very smoothly Tuesday night, the amateur hour and the professional acts holding the at-

COMMITTEE BRINGS OUT NEW TAX BILL

Ways and Means Committee's Bill Will Bring in Estimated $803,000,000

Washington, April 22.—(AP)—Estimating the revenue yield at $803,000,000 the Ways and Means Committee majority formally recommended its new tax bill to the House today as a means of correcting "grave defects in our present system of taxation."

The Republican minority already had called the tax plan, drafted on President Roosevelt's suggestion, a "vicious" threat to the stability of business and employment.

The opposing views foretold the heated controversy into which the 249 page bill headed as leaders set aside tomorrow for opening debate.

The Democratic committee majority, filing its report on the bill, said the new plan of taxing corporations' net income with rates financed according to the corporation's earnings undistributed would provide the remedy for the major defect in the existing tax system by which surtaxes on individuals are avoided by impounding income on corporate surplus.

The majority conceded that the tax program would not come up to the revenue requirement outlined by President Roosevelt for the next three years. Mr. Roosevelt's suggestions that processing taxes be included were omitted entirely.

The report said the new corporation tax system "is estimated to produce an average at least $820,000,000 in additional revenue annually when it has come into full operation."

In that respect, the report said, the bill meets the President's request for permanent taxes to finance new farm program and the additional cost of prepayment of bonus.

Addis Ababa, April 22.—(AP)—Crown Prince Asfa Wosana took charge of the Ethiopian government today on direct orders of his father, Emperor Haile Selassie. The prince returned to the capital from the fighting front in the midst of reports that his father's troops had mutined in the northern sector.

Earlier in the day, the emperor was reported to be successful in holding up the advance at Warra Hallu, 70 miles south Dessye.

PUBLISHERS FIRE AT INVESTIGATORS

Say Acts of Senate Committee and Communications Group Illegal

New York, April 22.—(AP)—A resolution recommending that all "victims of the illegal act of the (Black) Senate investigating committee and the Federal Communication Commission" demand criminal prosecution of those involved and seek civil damages, was offered today at the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The resolution was offered by the committee on Freedom of Press, headed by Col. R. R. McCormick, of the Chicago Tribune. It would commend "those persons who by their rights under the constitution have helped to curb the illegal conduct of the committee and the commission."

It asserted the Black committee had undertaken a campaign of persecution against individuals, organizations and newspaper, which had been critical of the Roosevelt administration in violation of the Constitution.

In a voluminous report, the committee discussed the unprovoked slaying of two Minnesota newspaper men, Howard Guilford, editor of the Saturday Press, and Walter Liggett, Minneapolis, editor, and asserted: "We cannot doubt that the authorities of Minnesota belong to gangland."

GOVERNOR ON SPOT FOR NOT CALLING A SPECIAL SESSION

Embitters Farmers Who Have Stood Back of Him, Supporting All His Policies

LEGISLATURE CAN HELP, FARMERS THINK

Think Ehringhaus Has Adopted Attitude of Defeatism and Saying "It Can't Be Done"; Farm Group Is Last of Large Groups Backing Him

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In The Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, April 22.—If Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus persists in his refusal to call a special session of the general assembly to pass a state tobacco compact law, in the face of the mass demonstration of more than 5,000 tobacco farmers here yesterday who unanimously voted in favor of a special session after Governor Ehringhaus had spoken for almost two hours in an effort to convince these farmers that a special session would be useless, he will lose the support and good will of almost the only large group in the state with whom he has remained popular the last few years.

For it is generally conceded that the tobacco farmers of the state have stood back of Governor Ehringhaus and supported his policies, including the sales tax better than any other single group, largely because of the manner in which he went to bat for them in Washington in 1933 and helped force the Federal government to come to the aid of the tobacco growers when all of the officials in Washington said "it can't be done."

These same farmers are now charging that Governor Ehringhaus is adopting the same attitude of defeatism with regard to state tobacco control which the Federal government adopted in 1933 and is saying that "it can't be done," now that he is being called upon to act in his own name. "The response has been wonderful," the governor said, as he showed newsmen some of the letters and telegrams congratulating him in his position in refusing to announce a special session call.

"I probably shall issue a statement later in the day," said the chief executive. "The action taken by the South Carolina legislature was in line with what I was informed it would be, and as I told the farmers, I received a telegram today from its Senate's sponsor, saying it made compacts inoperative for 1936."

ONLY ONE OF BIG LEAF STATES HAS PASSED COMPACTS

Virginia Has Passed Tobacco Act; Carolinas and Georgia Are Still Wrangling

CONTROL IS GIVEN SETBACK S. C. SENATE

Amendment There Would Make Reduction Dependent Upon Legislative Action in Georgia; Little Hope for Control There; Ehringhaus Non-Committal

(By The Associated Press) Although Congress has just approved the Kerr bill permitting tobacco states to enter compacts among themselves to control acreage, doubt arose today whether it could be put in operation to curb this year's crop.

Four states—Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas,—produce the world's supply of flue cured tobacco and of those, only Virginia has passed necessary legislation.

The situation in the Carolinas, which produce bulk of the crop, was unsettled. Governor Ehringhaus of North Carolina remained non-committal after a mass meeting of 6,000 growers "march" and urged him to call a special session of legislature, the governor contends the Virginia bill would not control the crop.

A control bill in the South Carolina legislature received a setback last night when the Senate adopted an amendment, which its sponsor said, would prevent it from applying to this year's crop.

The amendment would make acreage reduction in this state dependent upon legislative action in Georgia, where a political situation gave farmer leaders little hope the Governor Talmadge would be persuaded to summons the legislature into special session.

In Georgia, a voluntary control campaign is underway, but Harry L. Brown, director of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, said only about 50 per cent of the acreage had been signed up so far.

"If North Carolina acts favorably on the tobacco compact," Brown said, "it is practically assured that a sufficient number of Georgia growers will be in line so far as acreage and production are concerned to insure success of the program."

Naval Committee Authorizes More Auxiliary Vessels

Washington, April 22.—(AP)—The House Naval Affairs committee today approved the Vinson bill authorizing the construction of 54 naval auxiliary vessels.

Before approving the bill requested by the Navy high command, the committee added an amendment to provide a six per cent construction differential in favor of Pacific coast ship yards over Atlantic coast establishments.

Ehringhaus Commended For Stand

Raleigh, April 22.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus said today he had received a "fine response" to his speech here yesterday to farmers who came demanding a special legislative session to consider tobacco crop control through state compacts.

"The response has been wonderful," the governor said, as he showed newsmen some of the letters and telegrams congratulating him in his position in refusing to announce a special session call.
