

CARD BALL GAME SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Ed Powell and Boys Will Tangle With Oxford or Durham Team at Park

Henderson will have a baseball game here next Sunday afternoon at League Park if the plans of Ed Powell materialize, he stated today. Powell's plans call for a game between Henderson and some team from Durham or Oxford.

It will be the final appearance of Otto Pahlman in a Henderson uniform since he leaves shortly for Goldsboro, where he has assumed the managerial reins of that town's entry in the Coastal Plains League.

The proposed Tobacco State League with a Henderson entry has just about folded up in the laps of the promoters. Powell can see little possibility of such a circuit carrying on this year, but he plans to have one of the fastest semi-pro teams in this section, playing independently.

Drills will be held shortly, and regularly scheduled games will be run off in the near future, according to the baseball enthusiast.

HENDERSON-AYCOCK GAME IS WEDNESDAY

Misunderstanding on Schedule Caused Game to be Reported for Today

Through a misunderstanding, it was stated in yesterday's Daily Dispatch that Henderson and Aycock high schools would play at League Park this afternoon when it should have read Wednesday afternoon.

The Bulldogs go to Middleburg Friday afternoon for a game.

After getting off to a bad start in their first game, Henderson has steam rolled over all opposition so far during the season, and apparently are well on the way to a successful season.

NEGROES IN PERSON PLAN CURB MARKET

Roxboro, April 28.—A curb market for Negro farmers and their wives is being planned here, according to Charles J. Ford, Negro farm agent of the State College extension service.

Such a market will give them opportunity to sell their fruits, vegetables, and poultry products directly to the consumers, he said, and at the same time will give the consumers a chance to purchase stuff fresh from the farm.

Sharp Rate Curtailment By Phone Company Given

duction we have just ordered for the Carolina telephone company is slightly more than 10 per cent of the gross revenue of the exchange business of the company for the year 1935," Chairman Winborne said.

"In ten of the towns and cities served by this company, the governing bodies of the towns have since the first of this year petitioned this commission to allow an increase in the telephone rental rates as a result of the substitution of automatic exchanges for the old type of exchange. But as a result of this new order, the rates allowed for these ten towns will be much less than the rates which the town authorities agreed to pay and asked us to approve."

There are three exchanges in which there will be no reduction in rates, due to the fact that they are very small exchanges with only from eight to ten telephones in each one, Winborne said. The rates are already in line with those approved for small exchanges of similar size, he said.

In some of the larger exchanges, such as those in Rocky Mount, Wilson, Henderson, Washington and New Bern, the reduction of the rental rates is not as large per customer as in some of the other exchanges, Winborne said, although the aggregate amount involved in the reduction is considerable. The new rates, however, will be comparable throughout with the reduced rates ordered by the commission for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company exchanges in the State more than a year ago, and which is still fighting. Heretofore the rates of the Carolina Telephone Company have been considerably lower than the Southern Bell rates in towns of like size, Winborne pointed out.

In addition to the reduction in the monthly rental rates, the rates on extensions and hand-set phones, or "monophones," have also been reduced, Winborne said. The rates on business phone extensions have been cut from $1.25 a month to $1 a month, while residential extension rates have been cut from $1 a month to 75 cents a month. The rental on the hand-set or monophone telephones is limited to 25 cents a month for 18 months where heretofore the charge was 25 cents a month for an unlimited number of months. This will mean that at least 4,500 users of the monophone type of telephone will be freed entirely of paying anything more for these phones, Winborne said.

Extension Assistant

M.L. SHEPHERD

College Station, Raleigh, April 27—M. L. Shepherd, formerly in charge of the Student Self-help Bureau at State College for five years, has been named auditor and administrative assistant of the State College agricultural extension service.

As auditor, he will take over the duties of Miss Emma Young, whose resignation will become effective April 30. She has been with the extension service a number of years, and served as auditor for little over two years.

A native of Orrum in Robeson county, Shepherd came to State College for his degree in engineering as a member of the class of 1931. From 1931 to 1936 he was in charge of the Y. M. C. A. work of advising and placing self-help students.

The exhibit said that a remarkable record of high profit has characterized the long lines operations of the A. T. & T.

For the 23-year period ended last December 31, Krug said, long line operations netted over $400,000,000.

This, he said, exceeded a six percent return on the average net plant investment by more than $180,000,000 and was "over $143,000,000 above a seven percent return on net plant investments."

dately by President Roosevelt has also boosted his stock greatly throughout the tobacco growing counties, it is generally conceded.

Although Senator Bailey is remaining in Washington, he is doing some effective campaigning from there by mail and is sending thousands of letters out to the voters. Always an effective letter writer, Senator Bailey has sent out a letter during the last week or so to many of the voters in the State calling attention to the fact that he will probably not be able to return home before the primary because of his duties in Congress, and asking their support and votes. This letter is as follows:

"It now appears that my duties in the Senate will prevent me from seeing you prior to the primary, and so I am writing, not only to ask your support of my candidacy, but also to urge that you will be on the alert to advocate my renomination. I must depend upon my friends.

"Your advice will be deeply appreciated. If you know of voters to whom I should write, or of criticisms to which I should respond, please inform me.

"I have been heartened by many assurances and feel that all is going well. In these final weeks, however, I desire close touch with you, because of my high regard for you and the unusual value of your support."
