

HENDERSON SPLITS WITH OXFORD TEAM

Wins Saturday, 13-8, but Loses Sunday Game in Oxford 9-11

The Henderson Tobaccoists, so named by Ed Powell for this growing leaf mart, broke even with their two games in Oxford Saturday and Sunday afternoon, winning Saturday 13 to 8 and losing Sunday 11-9.

The teams will clash here Wednesday afternoon, according to the manager.

In Saturday's game, Henderson scored most of their runs in the third and fourth innings of the short affair, getting five and seven runs. Tharrington pitched the victory.

Pleasants worked Sunday afternoon, and got off to a nice start but Oxford soon got to him for victory.

DURHAM TO BEGIN NIGHT BALL SOON

Durham, May 11.—Everything is in readiness at the local ball park for the inaugural of night baseball here Thursday, when the Bulls and Asheville Tourists clash at 8 o'clock.

The local lighting plant has always been deemed the best in the Piedmont loop, probably equal to the best lighted field in minor league baseball.

Nothing has been left undone by General Manager Frank Lane of the Bulls to put the park and lighting plant in ship-shape order for Thursday's contest under the mazzas. The reflectors have been completely painted and refinished, inside and out, and the stands thoroughly cleaned—in fact, everything possible to add to the comfort of patrons at Durham Athletic park has been taken care of.

WEEPING WILLOWS PLAY FIVE GAMES

The schedule in South Henderson playground baseball league this week calls for five games by the Weeping Willow nine, all of them being played at South Henderson and at 4 o'clock.

Monday afternoon, the Lucky Strike nine will be the opposition; Tuesday, North Henderson; Wednesday, Bobbitt, Thursday, Dabney and Saturday, West Durham.

The youngsters have been flashing a fine brand of baseball, winning nine games for the season and losing none.

15 DUKE CLASSES TO HOLD REUNIONS

Durham, May 11.—Fifteen classes are to hold formal reunions on June 8, the concluding day of Duke university's eighty-fourth commencement, the program for which has just been released. A feature of the day's alumni activities will be the annual alumni-alumnae luncheon, to be held at 1 p. m. in the university union.

The classes staging reunions this year are: '71, '76, '81, '86, '91, '96, '01, '06, '11, '21, '26, '31, '34, and '35.

For a second year Duke is staging its finals program over a week-end, reducing to three the number of days covered by the annual events.

RADIO PROGRAM BY ELON ON TUESDAY

Elon College, May 11.—Alumni of Elon College will hold a "radio reunion" Tuesday evening, May 12, tuning in from all parts of the South on broadcasts over four stations.

They will hear music by present or former members of the Elon music department and familiar voices telling about the $250,000 Development Program which is now under way to provide for the present needs and future growth of the college.

In many centers the former students are holding dinners or other gatherings in observance of Alumni Day.

TWO DEFENDANTS IN RECORDER'S COURT

Recorder R. E. Clements tried two defendants in his court today, both of them on minor charges.

Skeeter W. Rogers, colored, was given six months on the roads for the theft of chickens, the sentence to run concurrently with a previous term.

Porter Alston, colored, was charged with trespass and assault, and prayer for judgment was continued on payment of the costs, failure to pay which would invoke a 30-day sentence.

Hoey and Graham Relyon Workers

to make 14 campaign speeches this week—his managers now clearly realize that only more intensive organization and personal work can enable him to overtake McDonald and put Hoey in first place in the first primary, it was indicated.

It was also emphatically indicated that there is absolutely no possibility of Mr. Hoey or his managers easing up in their campaign or of throwing their influence back of Sandy Graham as some rumors have indicated for several days. In fact, the bad feeling between the Hoey and Graham camp is becoming more intense and more bitter every day, with the result that open warfare between these two groups is expected to flare out at any time now, in spite of the efforts of the Hoey managers to keep it down.

It is no secret, however, that for the last week or ten days, and especially since Graham's radio speech of Friday night, in which he charged that former Governor O. Max Gardner was running Hoey's campaign and seeking to rule the State by long distance telephone from Washington, the resentment of the Hoey forces towards Graham and his followers has been at a white heat. Graham's bitter attack on Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and his administration, including the administration of the highway commission, the Department of Revenue and other State departments, is also inciting the wrath of the Hoey supporters, some of whom are claiming that Sandy is making just as bitter attack on Gardner and Ehringhaus and their administrations as is McDonald.

But whether Hoey and his workers will start lashing back at Graham as well as at McDonald remains to be seen. The belief in most circles here now is that Hoey will probably take what Graham is saying about him, Max Gardner and Governor Ehringhaus without making any rejoinder, since if he gets into a second primary with McDonald, as he now confidently expects to, he will need as many of the Graham votes as he can get. It will not help to win these if Hoey should now start attacking Graham, it is agreed.

The Graham forces are more encouraged since Sandy's speech of Friday night than at any time so far, both because it has made the Hoey forces fighting made and because they are convinced that this new line of attack by Graham is going to cut deeply into the McDonald strength. Sandy's strategists are now certain that one of the reasons McDonald has gathered the large following he has is because of his militant opposition to the "old guard" in the Democratic party, and especially to Governor Ehringhaus, Max Gardner, former Governor Cameron Morrison and the old, conservative Democratic organization which McDonald had dubbed "the machine." They are also convinced that one reason Sandy has not been able to gain as much as he has is because he has not yet convinced the people of the State that he is not more or less connected with "the machine" himself. But his recent speeches, in which he has been assailing Hoey, Gardner, Ehringhaus and the "old guard" just as stingingly as he has McDonald, is convincing the public that Graham is just as independent and just as free from machine domination as is McDonald, his supporters maintain.

The Graham managers, however, are not depending upon Sandy's change in speaking tactics alone to push him up into second place—the position in which they are confident he will be by June 6. They are also concentrating on organization work and personal contacts in every county and precinct. As a result, they are confident that between now and the date of the primary, Sandy will be able to forge ahead enough to displace Hoey and that he, rather than the Shelby orator, will be in second place and that McDonald's present lead will be greatly reduced.

Pictured above is the University of North Carolina's new track stadium, said to be the most complete in the South, which was dedicated at exercises held at Chapel Hill May 9, in connection with the Carolina-Navy track meet.

The occasion was designated as Fetzer Day in honor of Robert Allison Fetzer, athletic director and track coach at the University for 15 years, widely known as dean of Southern track coaches, for whom the new field is to be named when the trustees give formal approval at their commencement meeting. All Carolina monogram men from this and neighboring states and a number of other visitors were invited to attend this event as guests of the University Monogram Club.

The new field, which is part of the intramural plant recently completed, has a quarter-mile track 30-feet wide encircling a football practice field, a 220-yard straightaway with eight lanes, permanent concrete stands seating 6800, and a small field house. In the above picture the field house, which is just beyond the right wing of the stands, cannot be seen.

Inserts show Coach Fetzer, and four of the stars who competed in Saturday's meeting. Left to right, at top, the track men are Captain Patterson of Navy who runs the hurdles; Shetehelm of Navy who runs the 880 and the mile; Graham Gammon of Carolina who runs the half and the mile; and Co-Captain Tom Ewins of Carolina who holds the state record in the shot put and throws the discus.

SHAW AND STRAUSE WERE HOSTS AGAIN

Ed Shaw and Nathan Strause were again "hosts" to J. H. Brodie and O. T. Kirkland at West End Country Club golf course yesterday afternoon, coming out on the short end of the score for the 18 holes.

This is the second consecutive Sunday that the latter have been "entertained" by the former, and their generosity was much appreciated.

LESS THAN HALF PRICE

There are good used car values and lots of used cars advertised daily. Let's analyze what really constitutes a good used car value. First, we think that the mileage has a lot to do with a car. Certainly a high priced car such as a 90 Buick with very low mileage is a good value when it can be bought for less than half its original sale price. The second thing is the condition of the tires and the general appearance of the car inside and out.

We have a 90 Buick that has been driven only 5000 miles. It is a 1934 model—Club sedan, which means that it has a trunk. It has six wheels and is in good condition. In fact, it is just as good mechanically and in appearance as the day it was built.

You can buy this car for $1,380.00 less than it sold for new or for $1,000.00. It is the biggest bargain you will ever have the opportunity of buying. Come around or call 65 and let us show you that this car is a rare opportunity to get just the car you have dreamed of owning, and for less than half its original sale price.

"I Can Laugh At Sweepstakes Winners"

"Like lots of other young fellows, I got married on a shoestring. All of a sudden the thought hit me a wallop—What would happen to Betty if I should die suddenly? the first step, in an insurance sure. But on my salary I didn't see how I could swing it. But an older friend showed me I was wrong—how I could at least make a beginning. Believe me, I took his advice. Now Betty will have enough to tide her over the first few years, no matter what happens. And that's just the first tsep, in an insurance program I'm going to build up, little by little, as I go along."

If you are a young man and have observed the older men about you, you have probably concluded—and wisely—that you will never win big money unless you save it little by little.

There are many good ways to save. But for the young man on a small salary, life insurance offers the largest protection features and the surest return at least cost.

The sooner you plan your future, the better your future will be.

A new, helpful booklet has been prepared by the 1936 Committee in charge of Life Insurance Week. It is called "Seven Wise Men" and was written to answer the universal question: "How can I be sure to have money when I need it most?"
