

BASEBALL LEAGUE OFFICIALLY OPENS

Play Started in Va.-Carolina Loop; Schedule for Week Given

Play in the Virginia-Carolina league was officially launched here today at League Park with the Henderson Tobaccoists playing the Oxford Dodgers before a big "booster day" crowd while Clover was playing at Clarksville, and South Hill was visiting Townsville, rounding out the day's play in the curtain raisers.

After today's contest, Henderson will go to Goldsboro Thursday, play New Bern Friday and Saturday and come back Sunday to play the Dodgers in Oxford Sunday afternoon, the latter game being a league contest.

Ed Powell has thrown his every resource back of the ball club representing Henderson, and has called upon the fans who want to see real baseball played to support his team at the gate.

Annie Oakley? Pooh!

Winifred Hanley, of Stamford, Conn., smashed 92 out of 100 clay pigeons and retained her title in the Women's North-South Shoot Championship tournament at Washington, D. C.

FIRST GOLF MATCH SET FOR THURSDAY

Louisburg Linksmen Will Tangle With West End Golfers Here At 2 P. M.

The first inter-city golf match of the present season for members of Henderson Golf Club will be run off over the links at West End Country Club tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. While Henderson is in no golf league this season, the club expects to play leading cities in this section on a home and home basis, furnishing plenty of competition for the membership.

C. O. Seifert, O. T. Kirkland and E. F. Shaw composed the committee in charge of scheduling the contests, and they are open to any member of the club who cares to play. Golfers who would like to compete in the matches have been requested to post their names at the club house, and to be on hand the day matches are carded or else furnish a substitute.

County Voting Strength Shown in Ballot Figures To Be Printed Tomorrow

is relative voting strength, counties which are casting light votes in the straw voting but which in actual elections record heavy votes will not suffer by comparison with the heavy-voting counties.

In other words, tomorrow's statewide tabulation will reveal the actual strength of each of the four candidates in each of the 100 counties, regardless of the number of straw ballots recorded. For the information of readers, however, and so that comparisons can be readily checked by the dubious, tomorrow's tabulation will carry the actual voting, by counties, as heretofore, as well as a percentage table, revealing each candidate's comparative strength in each county.

"Weighted" Vote Tomorrow

Tomorrow's tabulation will show the "weighted" vote percentages of each candidate's strength in each county assessed against the county's total expected vote as shown in today's table. By comparing the expected total vote in your county with the percentage of your candidate's strength you can get a true picture of just how he would fare if the election were held today.

Taking the county having the state capital, Wake, and its vote as recorded in last week's tabulation, one can see at once how weighting the vote presents a graphic picture. Last week's Wake figures and percentages:

Actual No.	Percentages	Straw Votes	of Total
Hoey	246	246	24.6
McDonald	483	483	48.3
Graham	257	257	25.7
McRae	8	8	0.8

As shown in the accompanying table the expected Wake county vote will total 17,320 votes. Dividing the 17,320 among the four candidates according to their percentages the result is:

McDonald	8,469
Graham	4,451
Hoey	4,261
McRae	139

Total 17,320. With 400,000 votes expected to be cast in the first primary, June 6, the following table shows the estimated vote for each county in the primary. The percentage figures in the first column represent the county's vote in the first primary in 1932 and the votes shown in the second column represent the estimated vote for 1936, based on the 1932 figures. The figures for each county:

likely to see the greatest spending program and industrial activity boom in history!

"We have, in addition, more than three billions of excess reserves in the member banks of the Federal Reserve system. This is five times the reserve of 1929!"

Then we read these headlines in a report of the Alexander Hamilton institute:

"Sharp decline in automobile production due in near future. Annual output this year will be lower than in 1935 unless abnormal demand of last two years is maintained. Such a demand is not in prospect."

THAT UTILITY JOKER

That joker in the corporation bankruptcy bill which would have saved utility managements from bankruptcy proceedings filed by investors has been laid at the door of Tom D. McKeown. According to a statement made to the Senate judiciary subcommittee, which unwittingly sponsored the amendment, Mr. McKeown represents Associated Gas & Electric, dominated by Howard C. Hopson. He says, however, he did not represent Associated at the time the amendment was drawn. Mr. McKeown is a former Democratic representative representative from Oklahoma.

The joker in question, as previously explained in this column, would require five per cent of a company's indebtedness to be represented in any suit for reorganization. The real joker was a retroactive clause, which would have invalidated proceedings against Associated by bondholders and would have permitted Hopson to remain in power.

Senator Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana, who presented the retroactive amendment, remarked in moving to kill the amendment: "If the Hopson case is placed in jeopardy, as is contended, I will ask that the retroactive amendment be withdrawn."

Progressive senators had warned Democratic leaders of the possibilities. One of the actions jeopardized was a government tax claim of $50,000,000 against the Hopson company.

House Committee Cites Trio In Its Vote To Proceed

to punitive action, for the unholy records of this investigation (into the Townsend old age pension movement) is a shield that will protect us," said Downey's statement, submitted by Thomas W. Hardwick, counsel for the Old Age Revolving Pension, Limited. The committee refused Hardwick permission to read the statement, but accepted it for consideration in executive session.

Downey was subpoenaed late yesterday. "So, gentlemen, proceed," Downey's statement said. "Congressional inquiries are on trial. Your delay to force the issue against us weakens your prestige and increases ours. We seek the opportunity to present before the bar of Congress or before an American jury our charges against you. Will you not, therefore, hasten your action, make good your threats and proceed against us?"

Chairman Bell, Democrat, Missouri, opened today's hearings by again calling the names of the Rev. Clinton Wunder, of New York, and J. E. Kiefer, of Chicago, officials in the Townsend organization. Neither answered.

Bell also called the name of Dr. Townsend, who bolted the hearing last Thursday and threw the committee into confusion over what procedure should be used against him. The chairman indicated a definite decision on the question of contempt action "within the next day or two."

He indicated that the question of whether Dr. Townsend would be tried in the House or in Federal court probably would be before the House by the end of the week.
