THE LOST LEGION

Noiseless—yet no silence reigns Over scarred hills and plains. Here where roar of guns once filled The air and man's voice was stilled, In the quiet of the day And when day has slipped away Comes the ghostly tramp and tread Of the many long since dead. Marching host—echo of the past Parade of doom, they reach at last The spot where each brave youth fell The crash of war their only knell. This legion walks in our minds Tortured by one thought that winds In and out—makes us see clear War exacts a price too dear. Could they speak, they'd ask for breath Those whose sole gift was swift death. Nor bells nor wreaths blanch the stain Of those vainly—cruelly slain.

BONUS BONDS NOT TO BE PAID HERE

Too Late To Make Arrangement, Cooley Advises Legion Head Here

It is now too late to have the Henderson post office designated as a paying station for the cashing of bonus bonds next month, according to advices from Representative Harold D. Cooley, of this congressional district, to H. E. White, district commander of the American Legion.

"The (Post Office) Department advises me," wrote the congressman, "that the Raleigh post office has already been designated as one of the offices to handle the bonds, under the rules which require selection of offices in the larger cities, and that the office so designated have already been given numbers for checks to be drawn and all other necessary arrangements have been made. Since preparation for handling the bonds has gone as far as it has, it will be impossible to have Henderson added to the list."

Efforts had been made to have the Henderson office designated as one of the paying offices, in view of the fact that there are so many veterans in this territory.

For The State Senate

Many problems affecting the welfare of the people of North Carolina will face the 1937 General Assembly, and indications are that the session will be a long drawn-out one. Every county in the State should send to that legislature men who are capable and fit.

In the candidacy of Henry A. Dennis for this office from the fourteenth district, composed of Vance and Warren counties, the people of Vance county have the opportunity to send to the Senate a man who is acquainted with legislative affairs through long study of the workings of the General Assembly, and who has had opportunity to study intimately, through his newspaper affiliations, the trends of public sentiment and the mind of the people.

You cannot go wrong in voting for this candidate, who has lived in Vance county nearly 22 years, knows its needs and what it is entitled to, and whose reputation for character and honesty and square dealing is an open book. He is a man who was born among the masses, has been a hard worker all his life, and is acquainted with the struggles of the average man for a livelihood.

He will give to this county, district and State, honest, capable and intelligent service. He and his friends and supporters will appreciate your vote and your support in the Democratic primary next Saturday, June 6.
