

McDuffie Is Re-Elected Tobacco Supervisor Here

Campaign Will Be Launched Shortly For Funds To Promote 1936 Henderson Market

COMMITTEE MEETING CONSIDERS PROGRAM

Tobacco Men Believe Fair Prices Will Be Paid for Year's Crop, Which Promises To Be Much Smaller Than First Thought; Greater Facilities Here

J. R. McDuffie, well known fertilizer distributor, who last year served as supervisor of sales for the Henderson tobacco market for the first time, has been re-elected to that place by the Henderson Tobacco Board of Trade for the coming season, it was learned today.

Last season was one of the best in recent years on the local market, and Mr. McDuffie's work was so pleasing that the tobacco men voted to continue his services for another.

A meeting was held this afternoon by the advertising committee of the board of trade to lay the groundwork for a promotion campaign for the market for this year. This committee consists of G. W. Knott, W. J. Alston and A. H. Moore, all warehousemen. Later they will meet with a committee from the business men's organization cooperating in the campaign. This committee has not yet been named for this year.

Popular subscriptions among the business people will be sought for the purpose of carrying on a program of publicizing the market in all this section of the State. Last season saw the most ambitious program of this type the market has had in many years, and the experience gained at that time will be used to build upon for the 1936 campaign.

In spite of the fact that there is no compulsory crop control this year, the drought of the spring so reduced the size of the tobacco crop that fair prices are believed by tobacco men to be most likely, especially if the seasons are favorable for the remainder of the growing period.

The Henderson market will have much greater facilities than it has ever had before for the handling of tobacco. Whereas for many years there have been only five warehouses, a new one is now in the process of construction and will be in operation during the 1936 season for the first time, giving the market six large auction houses for the handling of the leaf crop.

BIBLE SCHOOL FOR BAPTISTS CLOSES

Exercises Held in Sunday School Auditorium on Friday Evening

After being in progress five days a week for the last two weeks, the Daily Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist church came to a close Friday evening with "commencement" exercises in the Sunday school auditorium. Children of many other denominations also attended the two weeks of school and participated in the commencement.

The final night program consisted of programs put on by the young people and also some of the work they had done during the time was on exhibit for the inspection of the guests.

Expressions of appreciation were voiced to all who had contributed toward the success of the school, which had a total enrollment of around 150. Adult workers in the Sunday school joined with a visiting instructor in conducting the school.

BAPTISTS OBSERVE HALE ANNIVERSARY

Program Will Be Had at Morning Service Sunday on Completion of Two-Year Period

The congregation of the First Baptist church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour will pay especial attention to the second anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. A. S. Hale, who has served them in that capacity since the first of July, 1934.

According to announcement, several of the church organizations will have representatives on the program, and the pastor is expected to read reports of the membership received during his ministry so far. He came here from Salem, Va.

All members of the church, and especially those who have been taken in during the present pastorate, and the public in general are invited to be present for the services Sunday morning. Announcement is that there will be no night services at the church.

RICHARD DIX RAVES ABOUT SPEED CARS IN GB'S "TUNNEL"

"Boy, but there's some real whizzbang cars in 'Transatlantic Tunnel,'" said Richard Dix enthusiastically. He was referring to the quaintly shaped, yet in some ways familiar autos of the future, as visualized in the GB super-drama, in which he and Leslie Banks are starred with Helen Vinson, Madge Evans, C. Aubrey Smith and Basil Sydney and in which George Arliss and Walter Houston contribute special portrayals. It's the attraction Wednesday-Thursday at the Vance Theatre.

"If we could travel at that speed—but maybe we will come close to it yet. From what you hear and see everywhere we're going along smartly on speed development. Super-highways will be the theme song of road engineers during the next five years all over the world."

TOBACCO CROP NOW SHOWING UP WELL

But Little Chance To Overcome Damage Done by Long Dry Season

For the most part, the tobacco crop in Vance county is now showing up well, following the favorable seasons of the past couple of weeks, although there is no likelihood of the damage done by the prolonged drought being entirely overcome, according to observers. The crop is making as good progress as could be expected under the circumstances.

Planting has been virtually completed, except for scattered replanting operations, and it is now too late for that to be done longer.

Stands are not as even as would be desired, and in some fields there is tobacco in some five or six stages of advancement, resulting from the varying seasons and the difficulty in getting young plants to survive in the droughty condition that prevailed generally over the county up to two weeks ago. With the coming of much needed rains, growers set to work to salvage the crop and to make the most of it possible.

Along with the growth of the tobacco has come, however, a prolific growth of grass, and growers have been kept busy trying to keep down this menace to the crop they do expect to make.

At least the crop will be short because of the drought, and there is no longer any expectation that the yield in this county will or can be anything like as large as was at first expected. Nature has stepped in to do what crop control might have done under the AAA. Estimates of the probable yield for the year, assuming that seasons will be favorable from this time on, range from about 70 to 80 percent of a normal crop in this section, and other estimates are that the flue-cured crop generally will not exceed three-fourths of what it would have been had not the dry weather scared young plants in the growing fields in the four flue-cured states.

Last week's heavy rains were followed by drizzles early this week, accompanied by cool weather. While there has been no seriously hot weather this week, the past few days have brought an abundance of clear sunshine.

BIG WHISKY STILL TAKEN BY OFFICERS

Steam Outfit and Quantity of Beer Confiscated in Raid Today

Officers raided a still site on Buffalo Creek in Kittrell township this morning, confiscating a big steam outfit and a large quantity of beer and other things used in the manufacturing of booze.

Special Enforcement Officer E. A. Cottrell, who led the raid, stated that the outfit was capable of turning out about 150 gallons of whisky per day, and that it had apparently been run only a short time before officers arrived, maybe a day or two before the raid. Something like 3,000 gallons of beer, eight vats, five empty barrels, a quantity of fruit jars and other implements were confiscated and destroyed. The copper worm was brought to the city by officers.

Cottrell was assisted in the raid by Enforcement Officer L. A. Jackson, and Constable E. F. Murphy.

Rev. D. A. Petty Speaks on "Optimism"; Reports on Convention Wait

Musical numbers and a talk by a guest minister featured the regular weekly program of the Kiwanis club Friday evening. Miles, vice-president, presided.

Guests of the club for the evening were Mrs. I. W. Hughes, Miss Aileen E. Hughes, of New York City, and Rev. D. A. Petty, of Middleburg, pastor of the Middleburg charge of the M. E. Church, South.

During the program period Miss Hughes sang several vocal selections, accompanied at the piano by her mother. Rev. Mr. Petty spoke on the subject, "Optimism," and gave the members a thoughtful discussion of his theme.
