

HENDERSON LOSES TO OXFORD GOLFERS

Inter-City Match There Was Close With Oxford Winning, 36 1-2 to 32 1-2

West End Country Club golfers showed to Oxford yesterday on the Granville capital's links, 36 1-2 to 32 1-2 in one of the closest matches of the current season for the locals.

O. T. Kirkland paced the Henderson team around the course with a sparkling 72, while Oxford golfers turned in nice games on their home course.

Oxford will furnish the opposition here next Wednesday afternoon in an inter-city match.

Yesterday's match was the first under Captain D. J. Cooper, who succeeded O. T. Kirkland.

HERNDON'S TRIPLE GIVES LEAF'S WIN

Tenth Inning Smash Defeats Oxford Dodgers 6-5 at League Park

Carl Herndon's triple in the tenth inning, his second for the day, drove Buzz Breedlove across home plate in the last half of the 10th inning yesterday at League Park to give the Henderson Tobaccoists a 6 to 5 verdict over the Oxford Dodgers.

Jimmy Edwards and Robertson hooked up in a nice hurling duel, each pitcher tanning 10 batsmen, but Edwards got the better of the pitching assignment, allowing only eight hits while the Leafs were getting to opposing pitching for 13 safeties.

Henderson tied things up in the ninth when Short followed Horton with a triple.

Henderson's best inning was the fourth when they got half of their tallies. Woodruff led off with a single and came home on Breedlove's double. Herndon fanned but Edwards sent Breedlove home with a double.

Scottings was out second to first, but Horton sent the pitcher home with a double.

Horton, with four for four, Breedlove and Herndon, with three each, led the Henderson batting attack. Trayham led the visitors with three singles out of five attempts.

Score by innings: R O E
 Oxford 200 110 100 0-5
 Henderson 090 300 011 1-6
 Robertson and Mangum; Edwards and Beaman.

Plan Dams As Cushion To Drought

 years as threatening indications of a shift in climate.
 Wallace, heading for St. Paul and Duluth, Minn., on his tour, asserted rainfall the next three weeks would determine whether the current drought would equal the destructive stage of 1934.
 The Weather Bureau at Washington decided the need of precipitation was "more widespread" than during the same 1934 period.

Fiscal Status of Nation Is Better, Morgenthau Says

 diers' bonus at a cost of $1,700,000,000.
 "The actual receipts coming into the Treasury during the year aggregated $4,116,000,000," said Morgenthau. "This is $316,000,000 more than came in during the fiscal year 1935, notwithstanding the loss of $44,000,000 through the elimination of processing taxes. But revenue from other sources increased $716,000,000, a gain of 23 percent, due in large part to improvement in business and agricultural conditions."

Good Reaction to Roosevelt Speech

 a comparatively wealthy man and President Roosevelt is not, the picture drawn may be that of a silent, simple, cautious man against an "extravagant" landed squire.
 JOHN D. M. HAMILTON, the national Republican chairman, however, has made some errors. In his enthusiasm to beat the Democrats to the gun, he actually has lost some ground.
 For example, it was straightforward but not wise to visit Oil Magnate Pew in Philadelphia during the Democratic convention to discuss the Republican war fund. Mr. Pew, chief G. O. P. fund raiser, guaranteed a large one. It will be.

A person need merely to traverse the financial districts of New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Boston and Chicago to ascertain the hatred of Mr. Roosevelt. The same is true in smaller financial centers.
 The Republicans say they are fighting an "immense" Democratic campaign fund in the form of relief expenditures. Even so, the flaunting of millions coming from industrialists will have a contrary effect on the mass of voters.
 In fact, it lends point to the President's speech—and stresses it.
 Then, Hamilton evidently made a break, also, in welcoming the Coughlin-Lemke party—not because he desires to see it win, but because it will take votes from the Democrats.
 The new party is abhorrent to Republicans—as it has as its chief plank the revaluation of money.
 To invite such a party to step in to take all it can, on the chance that it is likely to take more from the Democrats than from the Republicans does not seem sound judgment to many G. O. P. leaders. An independent movement can become more damaging than a known opposition party.

FAVORING F. D. R.?
 Father Coughlin's continued assertions that President Roosevelt's policies are communistic and that people who favor them are communistically minded also are having a reverse effect.
 Opposition to Father Coughlin has been trying to pin on him the Fascist badge—and now that opposition believes it has the circumstantial evidence.

NORMAL CROP OF COTTON UNLIKELY

Outlook Is Very Poor in Southern Piedmont and Western Counties

(Daily Dispatch Bureau, In The Sir Walter Hotel, By J. S. HASKER, III.)
 Raleigh, July 2.—The outlook for anything like a normal cotton crop in the southern Piedmont and western counties is very poor at the present time, while indications are for almost no cotton crop at all in several counties. Frank Parker, of the State Federal Crop Reporting Service of the State Department of Agriculture, said today. In the eastern counties, cotton is doing very well now since the rains of the last two weeks, with the result that a fair crop is in prospect throughout most of the eastern section, although there has been so much rain in some sections that grass and weeds are causing a lot of trouble.
 "The entire western part of the State, including the western edge of the Piedmont section, is suffering greatly from lack of rain and all crops are in poor condition," Parker said. "In many counties the farmers are really in distress because of the drought. This is especially true in Cleveland, Mecklenburg, Gaston and Union counties, where the cotton is just now beginning to come up following a light rain there last week. This cotton is coming up so late that it is impossible to tell whether it will make a crop or not. And unless more rain comes very soon, it will burn up in the fields. The corn, hay and small grain crops have also been very seriously curtailed by the dry weather. I would say that throughout the western Piedmont and most of the mountain counties, distressing crop conditions exist because of the lack of rain."
 "In the eastern counties, where there has really been too much rain during the past two weeks, the weeds and grass are causing a great deal of trouble in the cotton, tobacco and corn crops and threatening to curtail production, although all these crops are now growing nicely and promise a fair yield, though nothing like as good a yield as last year, since the drought which preceded the recent rains in the east has thrown all the crops very late.

Hoey Might Carry 24 Of Counties in Eastern Carolina

 will get a majority in 23 counties.
 In analyzing the 45 counties west of Durham, including Durham county in this number, present indications are that Dr. McDonald will again carry all of the 18 counties he carried in the first primary with the exception of Beaufort county, but that the loss of Beaufort, now generally regarded as likely to go for Hoey in the second primary, will be offset by the capture of both Pitt and Cumberland by the McDonald forces, thus bringing the total of eastern counties regarded as certain to give McDonald a majority up to 19. Both Cumberland and Pitt counties went for Sandy Graham in the first primary on June 6.
Vance Is Doubtful
 The 19 counties now regarded as likely to give McDonald a majority are Durham, Wake, Cumberland, Bladen, Johnston, Franklin, Warren, Nash, Wilson, Wayne, Pender, New Hanover, Lenoir, Edgecombe, Halifax, Bertie, Martin, Pitt and Hyde. If McDonald can also carry Granville, which went for Graham in the first primary, and Vance, which he carried in the first run-off but which is now claimed as a Hoey county, he will be able to get 21 instead of 19 counties in this eastern group of 45.
 The 24 counties which are expected to give a majority to Hoey in the second primary July 4 are Harnett, Robeson, Columbus, Brunswick, Sampson, Duplin, Onslow, Jones, Greene, Hertford, Northampton, Craven, Carteret, Pamlico, Beaufort, Washington, Tyrrell, Dare, Gates, Chowan, Carteret, Pamlico, Beaufort, Washington, Tyrrell, Dare, Gates, Chowan, Perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden and Currituck. If Vance and Granville counties also go for Hoey this time, as the Hoey forces claim they will, the total of Hoey counties in this group of 45 will reach 26, provided he does not lose any of these others.
Graham Counties for Hoey?
 Of this group of 24 counties now expected to give Hoey a majority in the second primary, ten went for Graham on June 6. These ten are Duplin, Onslow, Jones, Greene, Craven, Chowan, Perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden and Currituck. Two of these 24, Columbus and Beaufort, went to McDonald in the first primary. All the others were carried by Hoey.
 Dr. McDonald will probably get from 7,000 to 10,000 more votes from this block of 45 counties in the east than will Hoey, despite the fact that he is slated to carry fewer counties, the survey shows. The reason for this is that the 19 counties which are conceded to McDonald are larger and more populous than the 24 conceded to Hoey.
Majorities for McDonald
 In the first primary, McDonald received 86,650 votes in these 45 counties, Hoey 56,750 and Graham 71,650. It is now estimated that Mc-

He is now barred from the final try-outs because he is not an American citizen but may be accepted if his father becomes naturalized in time.
 (Central Press)

Donald will get from 87,000 to 90,000 votes in these same counties and Hoey from 77,000 to 80,000 votes, depending on how many votes are cast. The belief is that the voting will be almost as heavy in these 45 eastern counties in the second as in the first primary, due to the tense and bitter feeling which prevails between the Hoey and McDonald camps, in most of these counties.
 Neither the McDonald nor Hoey camp is willing to agree with the results of this survey, of course. The Hoey forces claim they will not only carry Vance and Granville counties, thus assuring Hoey of 26 of these 45 counties, but that he has an excellent chance to carry Cumberland, Pender, Wayne, Wilson and Nash counties and thus give Hoey 31 of these 45 counties, with a proportionate decrease in McDonald's expected lead in all of these counties.
McDonald Group Disagrees
 The McDonald workers also maintain that this bureau's survey of these 45 counties is all wrong, and that in addition to the 18 counties which McDonald carried in the first primary, he will now carry Granville, Harnett, New Hanover, Duplin, Onslow, Jones, Craven and Pitt with a chance to carry Carteret, Pamlico and most of the five Albemarle counties—Chowan, Perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden and Currituck. They also maintain that Combs, Pender, Beaufort, Wayne, Wilson and Nash will stay in line for McDonald and give him a larger vote than before. Thus the McDonald forces claim they will carry a minimum of 27 counties in this group of 45 and that they will have a good chance to carry as many as 34 of them.

 If the McDonald forces should succeed in carrying as many as 30 or 34 of these counties, it is generally agreed that the Winston-Salem candidate would come to Durham with a majority of between 15,000 to 20,000 instead of a majority of from 7,000 to 10,000 as shown by this survey. But even if the McDonald majority over Hoey in these 45 counties should run as high as 15,000, this lead will be wiped out and completely destroyed by the heavy lead Hoey is expected to gain and maintain over McDonald in the Piedmont and western counties, where most observers agree McDonald cannot carry more than four out of 55 counties.
