Capt. Bob Bartlett of Brigus, N. F. famed explorer, born there, 61 years ago.
Albert Spalding, noted violinist, born in Chicago, 48 years ago.

TODAY'S HOROSCOPE
Today promises well for ability as organizer, the drift being toward military life. But there seems to be too little appreciation of the personal risk of life, which may bring bodily injuries; or possibly the aspect may turn the condition toward deception in business.

CHAINED UP SON TO HALT HIS SWIMMING
New Bern, Aug. 14.—Charged with having chained their seven-year-old son for days, to keep him from going swimming, Sam and Henrietta Smith, Negroes, were tried in recorder's court Tuesday, judgment being suspended for four weeks.

Cuba issued this stamp to commemorate the erection of a monument to Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez, its former president.

TODAY'S YESTERDAYS
Aug. 15, 1769—Napoleon Bonaparte was born an Italian, destined to become the greatest Frenchman. He wanted to become Russian. When he was a young lieutenant and pessimistic concerning his career in the French army, he learned that Catherine II of Russia was seeking foreign officers for her army. He offered his services and requested a commission as colonel. The Russian general who reviewed his application wrote a tart letter in reply indicating that a captaincy was enough for an inexperienced youth to expect. A few years later, when youthful Napoleon was the mightiest soldier in Europe, Catherine had the Russian general court-martialed for lack of perception.

SUNDAY IS THE DAY
Sunday after Trinity, August 16; Bennington Day in Vermont. New moon. Zodiac sign: Leo. Birthstone: sardonyx.

SUNDAY'S YESTERDAYS
Aug. 16, 1743—Antoine Laurent Lavoisier (La-vwaz-yay) was born in France, the future founder of modern chemistry and the first to organize nationwide agricultural experiment stations. French revolutionists cut off his head as a "master charlatan," saying: "The Republic has no need of scientists." The great mathematician Lagrange connected, "It took only a moment to cut off that head, and perhaps 100 years will be needed to find another like it."
Aug. 16, 1777—Insubordination—the refusal to obey orders—an American officer, caused the American revolutionists to win a notable victory over the British. A few days before Col. John Stark, 49, had resigned in disgust from the Continental Army because he had been refused promotion to brigadier-general, and went home. New Hampshire gave him command of militia being enlisted to repel an invasion begun by British from Canada. Stark refused to comply with the command of Major General Benjamin Lincoln to attach this force to the main army opposing Burgoyne, and consequently was at Bennington, Vt., when the British commander Baum took up a position at Hoosick, N. Y., five miles away, with a force composed of German mercenaries, English regulars, Canadian militia and Amerindian allies. Proceeding on the theory that the best defense is attack, Stark fell upon the enemy at dawn, and put to flight British, Canadians and Amerindians immediately. Germans held their ground for two hours, until ammunition was exhausted, then retired, paving the way for Burgoyne's surrender at Saratoga—turning point of the revolution.

First World War Day-by-Day
Aug. 15-16—News leaked out abroad of the swift catastrophe which had befallen the Italian superdreadnaught Leonardo da Vinci, on Aug. 4. Toward midnight on that date the darkened city of Taranto was suddenly made brilliantly light by tongues of flame coming from seaward. As the population rushed into the streets, a series of explosions shook foundations of their houses and broke their windows. The Leonardo, at anchor in the harbor, was afire, and her magazines were exploding one by one. To avert further disaster, her commander ordered the bulkheads opened to scuttle the ship. This undoubtedly saved 94% of the crew, enabling them to swim safely to land, but 248 others lost their lives. Censorship prevented the news from being published in Italy until September, when the Admiralty announced that the fire was the result of a plot. But no plot was ever punished for causing Italy the loss of its No. 1 warship. Queries reproofs etc., are welcomed by Clark Kinnaird.

Fisheries Chief Will Help Study Of Shad in State
Daily Dispatch Bureau, in The Star-Walter Hotel. By J. C. BASKERVILLE. Raleigh, Aug. 15.—Glen C. Leach, chief of the division of fish culture of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, will confer soon with a special committee of the Board of Conservation and Development and department officials to consider plans for future activities towards replenishing the steadily diminishing supply of North Carolina's most valuable food fish—the shad. Information that Mr. Leach would be sent to North Carolina to meet with the special committee to study shad conditions and possible remedies was received today by R. Bruce Etheridge, director of the conservation department, from Chas. E. Jackson, acting commissioner of the fisheries bureau.

Mr. Etheridge said the first meeting of the committee will probably be held the middle of next week in Morehead City. The group will consist of J. L. Home, Jr., Rocky Mount; E. S. Askew, Elizabeth City; Jas. L. McNair, Laurinburg; Mr. Leach, Mr. Etheridge, and Capt. A. Nelson, State fisheries commissioner. The conservation director hopes that a constructive program for serving the productivity of the shad industry of the State may be worked out at the meeting, and carried out through a cooperative arrangement between the Bureau of Fisheries and the Department of Conservation and Development.

Steadily decreasing yields of shad has caused officials to become concerned over the future of the industry. In a period of about 40 years the annual take of this valuable food fish has dropped from almost 9,000,000 pounds to around 1,000,000 pounds. Many commercial fishermen have also requested that action be taken to rehabilitate the shad industry. The Board of Conservation and Development has already approved the establishment of a shad hatchery in cooperation with the Bureau of Fisheries, when funds are made available for the purpose. Other measures in behalf of the fishery are expected.

ELECTRIC LINE FOR SAMPSON IS GIVEN
Clinton, Aug. 15.—A rural electric line extending from Smith's Chapel through Dobbersville and Suttentown to Piney Grove School in Sampson County has been approved and will be constructed as soon as details can be completed, reports County Agent J. M. Henley. The survey covers 11.85 miles and will serve more than 80 farm homes in addition to the business houses. An extension of the line for another 1.6 miles is now being planned and the survey will be made before the original line is completed, says Henley.

FIELD DAY PLANNED FOR JERSEY CATTLE
College Station, Raleigh, Aug. 15.—A field day for Jersey cattle breeders of North Carolina will be held Friday, August 21, at the Biltmore dairy, Asheville, John A. Arey, extension dairyman at State College, announced today. During the morning session, to be held at the creamery plant by the French Broad River, addresses will be delivered by O. E. Van Cleave, Tennessee state commissioner of agriculture; A. C. Kimrey, extension dairyman at State College; and Laurence Gardiner, field representative of the American Jersey Cattle Club. In the afternoon a dairy cattle show will be staged with high quality animals from the Biltmore herd, one of the largest and oldest Jersey herds in the State, Arey pointed out.

will make or lose fortunes—they're all on Broadway to brush your elbows against this very minute. Tomorrow's Robert Edmund-Jones or Nerman Bel Geddes with the paint splotch on his lapel, tomorrow's Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin or George Gershwin with a smudgy score in his briefcase, tomorrow's Russell Patterson or Alvine Bernstein with swatches of bright-colored silks and lush velvets wadded in pockets—they're all there. As you may have noticed, last year's plays did not exactly set me running in circles. Not one of them was what you might call a howitzer. Amusing, interesting, mildly entertaining—but nary a "meteor" among 'em. However, from this forest fire perch, it all looks pretty exciting. My other suit is out on the terrace sunning now and that pin point moth-hole can probably be darned so it won't show. They found my felt hat wedged in between some hunting boots and a fairly fragrant pair of fishing pants, but at that it looks better than the one I'm wearing now. As far as I'm concerned, they can start any time they want to.

ANSWERS TO TEN QUESTIONS

- 1. Victor Hugo.
2. Whoooping cough.
3. Sepals, petals, stamens, and pistils.
4. Carbon Monoxide.
5. Carat.
6. An institution that offers diagnostic, therapeutic or preventive treatment to ambulatory patients; outpatient departments of hospitals.
7. No.
8. American painter.
9. A district in the Swiss canton of Fribourg, famed for its cheese.
10. Either is correct, but grey is more common in England, and gray in the United States.

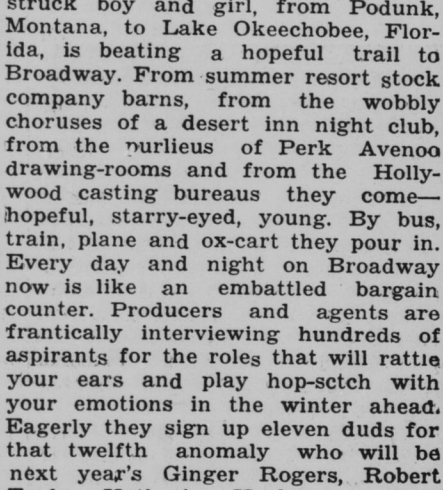

What Do You Know About North Carolina?

- 1. How many widowed men and women are there in the State?
2. What important meeting between the English and Cherokees took place at Franklin?
3. What is the smallest incorporated town in North Carolina?
4. Who represented North Carolina when the treaty of peace with England was ratified?
5. How many acres of land were planted in crops in 1934 and 1935 in the State?
6. What tax did the people of Orange county refuse to pay in 1768?

ANSWERS

- 1. In 1930 there were 37,605 men and 103,850 women. One woman out of every ten in the State is a widow.
2. In 1730 the King of England sent Sir Alexander Cumming, a special envoy on a secret mission to the Cherokees. The meeting was held at Nequasse, now Franklin, county seat of Macon county. This meeting resulted in the Cherokees sending seven of their ranking chiefs to England to meet with the King, and conclude terms of peace.
3. The 1930 census gives Dellview, Gaston county, with a population of ten, as the smallest incorporated town in the State.
4. Hugh Williamson, of Edenton, and Richard Dobbs Spaight, of New Bern, represented North Carolina in the Continental Congress in 1784 when the Treaty of Paris, which ended the Revolutionary War, was ratified. The people of the new United States thought so little of a centralized government that only 23 of the 91 members were present to vote on the ratification.
5. In 1934 there were 6,301,721; in 1935, 6,760,000.
6. The poll tax levied for building Governor Tryon's palace at New Bern. This tax fell alike on the rich planter and merchant and the poor man. The small farmer in the west felt it heavily. In Orange county on August 2, 1768, a meeting was held and the sheriff informed, "We want no such house, nor will we pay for it."
