ANNOUNCEMENTS

NOW IS THE HOUR SACRED TO THE LAMP.

Now is the hour sacred to the lamp Lighted while dusk is blue against the pane, Now is the hour when quiet comes again.
The little fire burns against the damp,
The candles flicker like familiar lares The great world of the day ebbs in the gloom, Nothing is real outside the yellow room—Our universe, with its own sun and stars.

Elizabeth Coatsworth.

FOR MUTED STRINGS.

The tree toad's tiny, muffled gong Pervades the deepening dusk and brings Us nearer to the end of song And the last throb of muted strings.

Even the creviced cricket knows What many a listener disavows When Summer hastens to its close And heavy hang the apple boughs.

There will be music still to come, Along with twilight and the stars—Invisible troubadours who strum Enchanted harps and soft guitars.

Only at evening can we sense How silence falls among the sheaves Hushing all earthborn eloquence Under the scattered leaves.

Leslie Nelson Jennings.

Linen Shower for Bride-Elect Was Thursday Evening

Mrs. Dorman F. Blaylock, of Warrenton, and Miss Loyce Blaylock delightfully entertained at a lovely linen shower at the home of Mrs.
John Hughes honoring Miss Ruth Hughes, bride-elect, Thursday evening.

The home was lovely in its decoration of mixed garden flowers.

The guests were met on the veranda by Mrs. Blaylock and Miss Blaylock. The veranda was beautifully decorated with soft lights and flowers.

The guests were invited into the reception room and asked to be seated. Each was given a copy of a contest, "A New Romance" and given a specific time to write. The winner of the contest, Miss Dorothy Jones, was awarded a lovely gift. The guests were then given telegram blanks and asked to send a telegram from the room to the bride, this caused much merriment. The best telegram was written by Mrs. Maurice Allen, who was presented a lovely gift.

Miss Gwendolyn Wheeler, of Oxford, entertained the group with a lovely piano selection.

The guests were asked to take different letters of the alphabet and put them together, thus spending out pieces of furniture for the home. Miss Dorothy Hunt was the most successful planner of the home and was awarded an attractive gift.

A delicious ice course and nuts were served, carrying out the green and white motif to the following guests: Misses Hattie Frank Mills, Annie Harris, Ruth Taylor, Dorothy Hunt, Bernice and Evelyn Sattar-white, Briggs Trogden, Mamie Rose Daniel, Helen Fogleman, Mary Catharine Swain, Claire Tyler, Garry Crowl, Althea Perry, Emmogene Parham, Polly McIntyre, Lucy King, Dorothy Jones, Mildred Hughes, rothy Sykes of Fayetteville, and Me-dames James Early, Lloyd Daniel, John Hughes, R. A. Blaylock, Blane Hight, Harry Keller, Maurice Allen, Ernest Harris and A. B. Campbell, of Fayetteville.

Cupid Dons Water Wings

Five years ago Merlin Andrews (the bridegroom), a life guard at Lake Pontchartrain, near New Orleans, rescued Miss Elsie Hagner (the bride) from drowning in the lake. So after she said yes they donned bathing suits and were married. They are shown walking into the water just before the ceremony. (Central Press)

REGAINS SON AFTER LONG HUNT

Eugene Weiner and Eugene, Jr.

A world-wide, four-year search by Eugene Weiner, wealthy New York coffee importer, for his son Eugene, Jr., now 6, ended officially in a Los Angeles courtroom, above, when the son was returned to his father from the custody of Attorney and Mrs.
Byran C. Hanna. Weiner had been seeking his son since his wife, Daye Dawn, British actress, obtained a degree of separate maintenance. When Miss Dawn died in 1932 she left the boy with the Hannas.

FARM-HOME CHIEF IS EXPERT FARMER

C. C. McKoin, Of Mills Home Farm at Thomas- ville, Gets Production

Lexington, Aug. 15.—C. C. McKoin, who has been elected president of Farm and Home Week to be held at State College next summer, is considered one of the best farm superinten-denents in North Carolina.

During the seven years he has been connected with the Mills Home farm near Thomasville he has greatly increased the productivity of the land, said P. M. Hendricks, county agent of the State College extension service.
For the past three years, Hendricks added, the herd of more than 40 Holsteins on the farm has averaged an annual production of over 10,000 pounds of milk per cow.

Under McKoin's supervision, the farm has closely followed the recommendations of the State College extension swine, poultry, dairy, and agronomy departments.
Besides being president of Farm and Home Week, McKoin is president of the Davidson County Soil Conservation Association, secretary-treasurer of the Davidson Farmers' Mutual Exchange, business agent for the Davidson County Pomona Grange, a member of the Davidson County Board of Agriculture, secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina Holstein Friesian Breeders Association, and a number of the Pilot Grange.

Other officers of next year's Farm and Home Week are: D. H. Boney, of Duplin county, first vice-president; George Sockwell, of Guilford, second vice-president; and John W. Goodman of State College, secretary-treasurer.

Democrat Chiefs Predict Biggest Victory In State offices and were divided before the primaries, there is no doubt that they are all for Roosevelt and going to stand behind him to the man. Accordingly, the heat which the Republicans are applying and will continue to apply to Mr. Roosevelt and his administration is expected to weld the various factions in the Democratic party here in the State together into a more solid mass than ever before, and to wipe out the minor differences which existed between the factions before the primaries.

While the former supporters of Dr.
McDonald were violently opposed to the nomination of Mr.
Hoey for governor, they have been and are enthusiastic in their support for Roosevelt. They are also all Democrats, with the result that the great majority will support the party ticket all the way, especially since, along with Roosevelt it will be subjected to bitter attack by the Re-

Marian Martin : Pattern :

PATTERN 9762

There's headline news in this frock —for not only was it designed by Marian Martin, but it's one of the easiest styles to make! The secret?
Simple as can be, for accompanying pattern 9762 is a complete, diagrammed sew chart telling you just how to go about making every step of this delightful model. By now, you know how serviceable the "shirtwaister" has been all Summer, and it's only natural that you make a new version—with either short or long sleeves to carry you through Autumn and cold weather wear. See the pleated skirt and cute collar of this grand style! and just for dash-there's a pert, square pocket! Select shirting, dull surface crepe, vividly colored synthetic, cotton crepe or jersey.

Pattern 9762 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 4 1-8 yards 36 inch fabric.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, AD-DRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.
Send your order to Henderson Daily Dispatch, Pattern Department, 232 during these "three lean years" under Roosevelt.

"I told Chairman Farley this week in New York that North Carolina would cast more Democratic votes this fall than ever before, in spite of greatly increased Republican efforts to carry the State," Miss Beatrice Cobb of Morganton, national committeewoman, said. "For I am convinced that any increased activity by the Republicans will be offset, by even greater activity by the Democrats, especially since the Republicans are directing so much of their fire at President Roosevelt."

New York "L" Wreck Kills 1, Injures 19

The motorman of a Third Avenue elevated train was killed, and nineteen persons were injured when a southbound local ploughed into a work train at 73d Street. The antiquated wooden cars telescoped, and firemen had to cut the motorman's body from the wreckage. Responsibility for the crash was laid by officials to the dead motorman, Howard J. Hagen. The elevated structure at that point is fifty feet above the street. (Central Press)
