ROOSEVELT, LANDON BOTH AFTER VOTES IN NEW YORK AREA

President Makes Three Speeches During Day in Populous Metropolitan District

REFUSES TO STATE PLANS FOR FUTURE

Parries Reporter's Question About NRA; Landon, In Bitter Attack on New Deal, Promises House-Cleaning If He Is Elected President On Tuesday

(By The Associated Press). The campaign paths of both President Roosevelt and Governor Alf M. Landon led today to the New York metropolitan area, with its vast voting populations, while throughout the country their friends and foes hammered away in the hottest kind of fighting.

Three speeches were on President Roosevelt's program as he devoted himself to a tour of the metropolis. The dedication of a new PWA-financed gymnasium at Brooklyn College, an address at the 50th anniversary of the Statue of Liberty and a short talk at Roosevelt park on the East side combined to give him a full day.

Recalling recent controversy over James Roosevelt's remarks concerning the future of NRA principles, a reporter asked the President late yesterday whether he would favor reviving NRA.

The chief executive referred the interrogator to his present and past speeches. A check of his addresses to date showed that he has praised NRA, but has not indicated whether he contemplated any new move to revive such undertaking.

Governor Landon, before reaching New York, where he will speak tomorrow night, dedicated to stop at Trenton, N. J., and Newark. After a speech in the latter city, he planned to reach New York late in the day.

Mrs. Simpson Well Guarded From Now On

London, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, now twice a divorcee, forsook the haunts of Mayfair today.

In contrast to the heavy force of guards which snapped to attention when the king's friend came home from the Ipswich court last night, a lone bodyguard followed her in front of her home.

Friends pointed out that Mrs. Simpson's activities now will be most guarded. Under the terms of her divorce nisi from Ernest Aldrich Simpson, she is responsible to the court and the king's proctor for six months, or until the decree becomes absolute.

And Mayfair wondered if and when Mrs. Simpson would marry the king.

Six grumbled words—"Oh, very well a decree nisi"—testily voiced by Justice Sir John Anthony Hawke at Ipswich assizes provisionally released Mrs. Simpson from her second unsuccessful marriage.

For half a year she must act with the greatest propriety to avoid the strictures of the king's proctor.

Freedom Of U. S. Must Go On, Roosevelt Says

At Statue Of Liberty

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Standing near the base of Bartholdi's famous Statue of Liberty, President Roosevelt today praised the nation's settlers for their love of freedom, and said:

"We shall continue to build an even better home for liberty."

On the 50th anniversary of the reason, which France gave to America, Mr. Roosevelt declared that "new generation must carry forward American freedom and American peace by making them living facts in a living present."

Described as a "re-dedication of the statue to the ideals of freedom," the ceremony attracted a number of men well known in public life. Andre de Laboulaye, French ambassador, and grandson of Edouard de Laboulaye,

Mollison Is Off For Hop To England

Famous Flier Wants To Reach London In 17 Hours Out From New York

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Attired in a dinner jacket, Captain James Mollison, the trans-Atlantic flier, took off at 8:44 a. m. today in a one-stop flight to London by way of Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, hoping to establish a mark of 17 1/2 flying hours from Floyd Bennett field to Croydon Airdrome.

"I do my best flying at night," explained the Englishman. So, don't you know I have to be properly dressed."

Mollison figured he could reach Harbor Grace in five and one half hours.

Just before the take-off, Mollison received a cablegram from his wife, Amy, wishing him luck on his voyage. She announced in London last week she and Mollison had separated.

Both Sides Claim Gains On Changes

People of State Becoming Aroused Over Amendments to Constitution

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Oct. 28.—Interest is growing steadily in the five proposed new constitutional amendments which will be voted on November 3 and the public generally is talking more about them and thinking more about their provisions than at any time so far, political observers here agree.

The proponents of the new amendments are convinced that this increase in public interest is a good sign and that as the people know more about them, the more likely they will be to vote for them and are predicting that all or most of the amendments will carry.

The opponents of the amendments, on the other hand, are convinced that this increased interest is merely an indication of a better understanding of the dangers contained in some or all of the proposals and are more than ever convinced that all or at least some of the five amendments will be defeated.

Statue of Liberty Marks 50th Anniversary

Three views of the Statue of Liberty

Fifty years ago the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island in New York's harbor, was dedicated. To mark this anniversary, a re-enactment of the dedication ceremonies took place today. The statue, symbolizing international friendship and good will, was the gift of France to America. Auguste Bartholdi, French sculptor, executed it. His Grandson, Andre De Laboulaye, now French ambassador to the United States, was among the dignitaries at the celebration.

Durham Man Draws $150,000 From Irish Sweepstakes Pool

New Market, England, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Sir Sid Bailey's "Dan Bulger," the established favorite at odds of seven to one, won the 97th running of the Cambridgehire stakes today by two lengths, with Sir George Bulough's "Daytona" beating off M. H. Benson's "Laureate II" by a short head for place.

With the victory of Bailey's three-year-old brown colt, "Bulger," the big pay-off of more than $8,000,000 in the Irish sweepstakes tickets was

Relief Load Cut As More Work Opens

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Oct. 28.—The rapid rate at which former relief workers are obtaining jobs in private industry is greatly reducing the relief load in North and South Carolina and Virginia, as well as in almost all of the other states, with the result that many WPA projects which had been planned and approved are being cancelled for lack of WPA labor.

Ellen S. Woodward, assistant administrator of the Works Progress Administration in Washington, told the various WPA executives who have been here attending the Tri-State WPA Conference in session this week. Mrs. Woodward also told of some of the definite results of the WPA program in these three states and lauded both the spirit of the workers and the work they have done and are doing.

"The return of relief workers to private employment has been very

COURT TO RULE ON ATTENDANCE ORDER

Banning of Children Not Six by Oct. 1 Headed for High Bench

Daily Dispatch Bureau, Raleigh, Oct. 28.—The State Supreme Court is expected to be the final arbiter in the controversy as to whether the State School Commission has authority to fix a definite date for the admission of six-year-old children to the first grade to exclude them from the schools after that date and a test case will probably be started on its way the Supreme Court next week.

Injunction proceedings have already been brought against two school principals enjoining them from enforcing the regulations of the School Commission and temporary restraining orders granted the plaintiffs, with the result that the children of these two plaintiffs are now in school, the regulations of the School Commission notwithstanding. The first temporary injunction was sought and obtained in Greenville, Pitt county, and the second in Burgaw, Pender county. No date has been set as yet for the Greenville case but the Pender county case is set for hearing before Judge Henry Grady in Burgaw on Monday, November 2. The belief in informed circles here is that Judge Grady will make the injunction permanent, in which case the school principal is expected to appeal to the State Supreme Court so that it may decide definitely whether the School Commission has the authority to fix the school age dates for first grade children.

These two cases resulted from the ruling by the School Commission that no children could enroll in the first grade of the public schools this year

ITALY SAYS RUSSIA IS GIVING HELP TO THE LOYALIST ARMY

Long, Sr., for F. D. R.

Huey P. Long, Sr., father of the late Louisiana Kingfish, has announced he will vote for President Roosevelt, whom his son bitterly fought. The elder Long, 84, who lives quietly at Winnfield, La., has rarely lifted his voice in politics. Concerning this campaign, he says of President Roosevelt: "He is three times as much in favor of the platform advocated by Huey P. Long, as Landon."

CONFUSION REIGNS IN BESIEGED CITY

Roaming Army of Refugees Is Hungry and Penniless and Food Supply Is Waning; Fascists Hoping for Surrender Without Any Destructive Attack

(By The Associated Press) The Spanish Fascists shoved their outposts today within ten miles of Madrid, almost within range of their heavy artillery.

While the capital struggled to organize for its defense, against a rising tide of confusion and disension within, and an encroaching wave of Fascists on its outskirts, the insurgents commanded jubilantly drew plans for a triumphant entry.

Fascist leaders, having taken five new villages and having advanced their vanguard to a point 16 miles south of beleaguered Madrid, announced they were ready for the final thrust.

Government officials, meanwhile, ordered mobilization of all able-bodied Spaniards between the ages of 20 and 45 to bolster the yielding lines of raw recruits hurled against the man power and armaments of the Fascists.

They combatted the difficult problem of a roaming army of war refugees in the city, tattered, cold, hungry and penniless throughout, its thousands of mouths to be fed from the city's dwindling supplies.

The date for the attack—rumored imminent—remained a military secret, however, and the extent to which the city itself would be shelled was left for the future to decide. It was to depend on effectiveness of Fascist strategy which seeks to foment a

Alumni Ask Clean-Up At University

Charlotte Men Charge Prof. Ericson Dined With Negro Communist

Charlotte, Oct. 28 (AP)—Dr. Roy W. McKnight, president of the Mecklenburg chapter of the University of North Carolina Alumni Association, issued a statement here today calling upon the University administration for a "general house-cleaning" after being advised that "one of its professors had attended a dinner at Durham with Negro Communist leaders."

Dr. McKnight, who spent nine years at the University as undergraduate, post graduate and associate professor, said he was informed that Prof. E. E. Ericson, of the University faculty, had attended a public meeting in Durham addressed by James Ford, Negro communist candidate for vice-president of the United States, and that after the meeting, Professor Ericson was among a few other white persons at a dinner with Negro communist leaders in Ford's hotel suite.

Rationing Of Food For All Madrid Begun

Madrid, Oct. 28 (AP)—Besieged and swarming with ragged, hopeless refugees, Madrid began the rigors of rationing of food today to feed a million and a half mouths.

The civil governor, Carlos Rubiera, announced an emergency provisioning committee, working day and night, was prepared to dole out sustenance to 1,500,000 persons.

Authorities said the normal population of the capital—slightly under a million—had increased virtually 50 percent with thousands of refugees and provincial troops pouring in from the nearby countryside.

Simultaneously, the new high command announced a new army of 35,000 men had been formed by virtue of the mobilization of all able-bodied men between the ages of 20 and 45 not already under arms.

This fresh force, officers said, may crush the better armed insurgents now within ten miles of Madrid.

Winborne Predicts Victory By 200,000

Says in 90 of 100 Counties More Work Will Be Done at Polls Than In Generation; Roosevelt and Hoey Going To Be Proud of North Carolina

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—"Yes, I'll make you a prediction," said State Democratic Chairman J. Wallace Winborne today to newspaper reporters who were urging him to make a forecast of the results of next Tuesday's election. "I predict that in 90 of the 100 counties there will be more work done at the polls this election than has been seen since we recaptured the State from the Republicans."

"The precincts are organized better than I have ever known them to be. For that reason I feel confident we will show a Democratic majority of over 200,000 for both national and State tickets, despite the fact that the Republicans are spending more money in North Carolina than I have ever known them to . . . They might have the money but we are going to have the votes."

State Chairman Winborne and Mrs. J. B. Spilman, the State vice-chairman, this week sent their final appeal to the thousands of workers they expect to have at the polls from sunrise to sunset next Tuesday. These seven points were stressed:

1.—Get all your challenges filed Saturday and heard out of the way Monday.

2.—Have all watchers named and secure their personal agreement to
