

Eight Athletic Events For Tar Heels Next Week

Phantoms Meet State Tuesday and Wake Forest Thursday; Matmen Battle W. & L.; Mittmen Tilt Maryland and Frosh Take on Oak Ridge at Home

Chapel Hill, Jan. 16—Eight events are scheduled on the University of North Carolina athletic program next week, only one of which is scheduled at the Tar Heels.

North Carolina's White Phantoms, who return tomorrow from their invasion of New York City and Philadelphia where they met the strong Y. U. and St. Joseph's hardwood representatives, start the ball rolling Tuesday night when they are matched against Doc Serron's fine N. C. State team at Raleigh. The Phantoms' first other engagement of the week is set for Thursday night when they go to Wake Forest for a return meet with the vastly improved Deacon loopsters.

Coach Bo Shepard's crack freshmen outfit will seek to keep its record clean at the expense of State and Wake Forest, whom they battle in the preliminary features of the varsity contests.

Coach Mike Ronman takes his varsity boxers into the north again Saturday to entangle with the hard-hitting University of Maryland ringmen. Not until January 30, when the University of Virginia's five consecutive year Conference title winners come to Chapel Hill, does Ronman make his debut before the home folks.

Highs Fight Hard But Drop Tilt To Middleburg

Miss Jackson Leads County Team to Win Over Local Girls by 21-16 Score; Boys Battle Hard but Come Out on Short End of 25-22 Score Here in Gym

Flashing the best brand of basketball they have shown thus far this season, the Henderson high school basketball team, boys and girls, thrilled their supporters in the high school gym last night as they threw a scare into the highly touted Middleburg team, only to lose both games by narrow margins. The local lassies lost their contest, 21-16, and the boys dropped their encounter 25 to 22.

Henderson girls threatened several times but were unable to cope with the deadly shots of Miss Jackson, of Middleburg, who looped 13 points into the hoop for her team. Miss Blake and Miss Daniel led the Henderson attack while Miss Stainback turned in a nice defensive performance.

The boys' battle was a thriller from the start to finish, although Middleburg enjoyed the lead practically all the way. Middleburg had the Bulldogs 10 to 6 at the half, but in the third quarter, the locals moved into striking distance, but were unable to get ahead before the final whistle.

Billy Peace played his first game for the Bulldogs last night, running eight points into the basket for individual honors of the Bulldogs. Ellington topped the winners with 12.

Middleburg teams showed greater experience under fire than did the local Henderson having staged its season since the Christmas holidays.

Both teams have been coming along fast under the tutelage of Coach Bing Miller, and before the close of the season, the Bulldogs and the lassies will be flashing a fine brand of ball.

A large crowd was on hand last night to witness the encounter.

Undeclared in Big Five and Conference play, the Techs hope to turn back the Tar Heels on Tuesday night in State's Frank Thompson Gymnasium. Carolina is one of State's most respected rivals.

Carolina got the better of State in three meetings last year, Carolina taking the Big Five crown as a result of two of these wins as no other Big Five team was able to defeat the Techs. The first two games were won by two point margins and were rescheduled games. The third meeting came in the semi-finals of the Southern Conference tournament and Carolina won by three points. The team went on to defeat Washington and Lehigh in the finals to take the Conference title.

State will be favored to take Carolina, but the Tar Heels, having gotten themselves out of a losing streak, will come to Raleigh with a powerful team and hopes of upsetting the Techs. A capacity crowd is expected to witness the game.

The game with Duke on Saturday night also will be run off in Frank Thompson Gymnasium and another full house is expected. Duke is considered one of the strongest teams in the conference and also is undefeated in Big Five play. State conquered Duke the two times the teams met last year.

STATS BOXERS TO BATTLE GAMECOCKS

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 16.—Boxers of the University of South Carolina will open North Carolina State's home schedule for '37 when they meet the Tar Heel pun'ers at 8 o'clock in Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

It is the second engagement for both teams this winter and each will be seeking their first win. Last Saturday at Durham, South Carolina was beaten 6-2 by Duke. On the same evening at Washington, D. C. State was beaten, 7-1, Catholic University.

Several new men have been added to State's team this week and Coach Lee Johnson believes that his men will be able to take the Gamecocks.

With little or nothing approaching fireworks on display, the gallery attendance has been larger than might be expected, particularly in the House. It seems that approximately as many women as men are interested in the proceedings, as the gallery is usually pretty well divided between the sexes.

EPSOM WINS OVER NASHVILLE CAGERS

Double Bill in State Eliminations Taken On Local Court Thursday

Epsom high school basketball teams swept Nashville in a doubleheader Thursday night in Henderson high school gym, the girls getting a 12 to 0 verdict while the boys chalked up an 18-8 win. The games were in group three of district three basketball state eliminations.

Miss Mildred Wilson led the Epsom attack with 10 points. Miss Elizabeth Smith accounted for the other two points.

Edgar Edwards topped the boys in their victory with seven points. Every Epsom man looped the basket at least once. Ballard led Nashville with six points.

Epsom will meet Benvenue in Louisville next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

State Will Meet Carolina and Duke During Next Week

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 16.—The Big Five and Southern Conference basketball spotlight falls on North Carolina State's Techs next week as they engage Carolina and Duke in two of the outstanding games of the week.

Undeclared in Big Five and Conference play, the Techs hope to turn back the Tar Heels on Tuesday night in State's Frank Thompson Gymnasium. Carolina is one of State's most respected rivals.

It begins to look as though this winter will go down in history as the Year Santa Claus made the big mistake of giving junior a sled instead of a bathing suit—considering the weather in certain supposedly cold regions.

Makers of "Monte Cristo" Repeat With "Mohicans"

About a year ago, two comparatively youthful and exceedingly ambitious motion picture producers, Harry M. Goetz and Edward Small, dug the old, familiar "Count of Monte Cristo" out of the library shelves and produced it with perfect fidelity for the major screen sensation of the year, making its leading actor, Robert Donat, a screen star of first magnitude and of their company, Reliance Pictures, a new and major force in the industry.

Today this same pair, with a number of screen hits tucked under their belts, are repeating with another familiar classic, "The Last of the Mohicans," by James Fenimore Cooper, which comes to the Vance Theatre Sunday night, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

What has delighted millions of people in book form, they argue, will delight more millions in a good cinema adaptation. Not every classic, not every popular work, is successful in motion pictures, but certain familiar authors—and they enthusiastically nominate Dumas and Cooper—were natural screen writers, born too soon.

The elements of suspense, hair-breadth escapes, the lone scout battling his way through hordes of savage enemies, the chase, the dramatic hand-to-hand combat—all the elements that make a film a source of never-failing delight to thousands of movie fans—are present in large measure in the Cooper masterpiece.

LEGISLATIVE CHATTER

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Jan. 16—Rumors that Hubert E. Olive, campaign manager for Governor Hoey in the primary, is seeking one of the two Supreme Court places to be filled in accordance with the constitutional amendment adopted in November seem to be without any real basis in fact. At least so it is positively stated by one who was extensively close to Mr. Olive in the primary battles. This source, which should be reliable, unhesitatingly said that the Lexington lawyer isn't even considering a justiceship.

Asked what Mr. Olive does want, or is likely to get, the informant became much less communicative, in fact he shut up closer than several dozen clams.

It takes approximately three and a quarter minutes to call the roll of House members, several things of the process show. Figure the number of roll call votes in the session and it will be seen that considerable time is taken by this rather mechanical process.

If there are any liquor lobbyists anywhere around Raleigh at this stage of the game, their presence has been very artfully concealed. The dry "lobby" headed by Cale K. Burgess, however, has been much in evidence.

"We don't need new election laws, we need honest election officials," said D. F. Giles, McDowell county representative, in making clear his opposition to repeal of the absentee ballot law. Yet in the very next breath he told an eastern colleague he would gladly vote to abolish absentee balloting in Democratic primaries.

Mrs. Charles J. Hutchins, Yancey's House representative, has so far been perhaps the most active member on the floor. Not only did she introduce the referendum plan liquor bill, but she has since been stirring about conferring with her co-sponsors and evidently planning to play anything

Golfers May Use Course Tomorrow

West End Country Club's golf course will be all right for play tomorrow, it was stated today, providing Sunday enjoys the sunshine that has beamed through today.

The heavy rains and cloudy weather for the past several days has kept the greens in such a condition that they were too soft for a mower to be used to cut grass there, and it is extremely long at this time. Golfers may play the course tomorrow, but they are reminded that the grass will be long on every green and accurate putting will be something impossible.

It was stated today that if continued sunshine was enjoyed throughout the week-end and Monday, the grass would be cut, and the course would be in fine condition by Tuesday.
