

ENGLAND'S KINGS

No. 19

Edward I

EDWARD I (1272-1307) was a great King. One of his Parliaments that of 1295 was called the Model Parliament. He made wise laws and helped trade. He united England and Wales.

When he beat the Welsh under Llewelyn he built strong castles to be his gates. As Carnarvon Castle the story goes, he worked his little trick with his baby son—a Prince born in Wales who could speak no English. A pretty tale, even if not true.

He meant to make a Great Britain under one King by some day marrying his son to a three-year old Norwegian princess who became Queen of Scotland. He sent her gifts of ginger-bread, figs, raisins and walnuts. Perhaps that is why she died on her way here.

The Scots joined England's enemy, France, and although Edward won the victory, their brave leaders, William Wallace and Robert Bruce, remember the spider I kept the cause of Scottish freedom alive.

Edward seized one treasure—the historic Stone of Scone. It is part of the throne in Westminster Abbey, London.

NEXT—Edward II rules weakly. Battle of Bannockburn, against Scots. Edward imprisoned by Queen Isabella and Roger Mortimer and murdered.

Jackson Hurls No-Hitter As Highs Defeat Dabney

Bulldog Hurler Fans Six; One Reaches First on Error; Locals Pound Two Visiting Hurlers for 20 Safeties; Coghill Gets Homer With Three on Hassocks

By SEYMOUR DWORSKY Yesterday the Bulldogs trimmed Dabney in a seven inning game at League Park, the final score being 26 to 0. Jackson went out on the mound, and entered the hall of fame, by pitching a no hit, no run game. The only man that managed to reach first was Hunt who was error'd there in the first of the seventh. The game was an exciting one from the time that the first ball left Jackson's hand until the last one was hurled over the plate. The leading batters were Edwards, Stewart, and Calloway, while Coghill knocked a homer in the fifth, with the bases full. Coghill also made a beautiful catch in left field, and certainly deserves ample credit for this catch. When the Bulldogs came up to bat it looked more like a track meet with them running around the bases, and until Dabney could manage to get three men out I thought that the crowd would go mad. Jackson not only didn't allow any hits but he struck out six men and didn't walk any. Calloway also deserved credit for his unequalled mastering of the foe behind the plate. I could go for ever, and write a book about yesterday's game, but I am going to stop for I want you all to turn out and see the squad play on Thursday afternoon.

NEW RULING GIVEN ON COMPENSATION

Two Corporations, Though Separate, Considered One if Under Joint Control

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Six Walter Hotel, By J. C. BASKERVILLE Raleigh, May 5.—Two employing units, corporations, partnerships, individuals, or other kinds, which are controlled by the same interests, are counted as one employing unit for the purpose of determining whether or not they have a sufficient number of employees to bring them under the provisions of the N. C. Unemployment Compensation Act, an interpretation by the Unemployment Compensation Commission holds.

General Counsel Adrian J. Newton, in making the interpretation, cites Section 19 (f) (4) of the act, which reads as follows: "Any employing unit which together with one or more other employing units is owned or controlled (by legally enforceable means or otherwise) directly or indirectly by the same interests, or which owns or controls one or more other employing units (by legally enforceable means or otherwise), and which, if treated as a single unit with such other employing units, would be an employer under paragraph (1) of this subsection."

There is a possibility of a faculty recital which if given will be held at the end of the season. Plans for this will be announced later. For COMPLETE Markets and Financial News THE WALL STREET JOURNAL
