

COMMITTEEMEN OF SOIL BODY CHOSEN

County Committee Chosen At Meeting of Directors Here Today

ELECT TOWNSHIP MEN

These Local Groups Selected At Meetings Held Earlier in Month; Cooperation on Large Scale Here

A countywide committee of the Vance County Soil Conservation Association to administer the soil conservation act during the current crop year was named at a meeting here today by the county board of directors, following the election of township committees at meetings held in all of the townships of the county in the past two weeks, it was announced today by J. W. Sanders, county farm agent, and director of crop control activities in the county.

Mr. Sanders said there was general cooperation in the program throughout Vance county again this year. Payments to growers here for their cooperation in the 1936 crop aggregated more than $125,000, he said.

The county committee election to day resulted as follows: T. B. Parham, Jr., president; R. B. Taylor, vice-president; M. T. Greenway, third member; J. C. Kittrell, alternate; J. W. Sanders, secretary; H. E. Brewer, treasurer.

Township committees and the dates on which their elections were held are as follows: Dabney, June 12—L. D. Hart, M. D. Tillison, J. M. Capps; N. G. Crews, alternate. Henderson, June 12—W. E. Hight, Ned Wortham, E. B. Wiggins; C. B. Baskett, alternate. Kittrell, June 14—H. J. Parks, W. A. Kittrell, G. L. Tillery; J. E. Pulley, alternate. Middleburg-Nutbush, June 14—F. H. Spain, Henry B. White, Jr., I. J. Jackson; E. L. Fleming, alternate. Sandy Creek, June 15—C. E. Hoyle, G. T. Robertson, E. D. Adcock; Julius T. Adcock, alternate. Townsville, June 15—R. B. Taylor, J. J. Matthews, Charles H. Howell; C. U. Samford, alternate. Watkins, June 16—H. L. Wright, R. G. Cawthorne, L. R. Wright; W. H. Newton, alternate. Williamsboro, June 16—J. H. Rice, H. H. Averett, C. O. Tillotson; C. H. Sneed, alternate.

BUD WORM CAUSES TOBACCO DAMAGE

County Agent J. W. Sanders Gives Remedy For Controlling Pest

Considerable damage is being done to tobacco in this county by the bud worm, J. W. Sanders, county agent, said today. At the same time, Mrs. Sanders gave the formula for a cheap, simple and effective remedy for controlling this pest. It follows:

Large Amount
Arsenate of lead, 1 pound.
Corn meal, 50 pounds.

Small Amount
Arsenate of lead 6 heaping table-spoonful.

Corn meal, 1 peck.
Carefully mix the poison throughout the corn meal. The meal should not contain coarse husk.

Rate of application:
1 peck or 12 pounds (corn meal-arsenate of lead mixture) per acre.

Make applications early in morning when tobacco bud is open. A small pinch of poison should be dropped into center of bud. Applications carefully made are of no value. Best results will be secured by placing the bait directly in the tip of the plant.

Applications should be begun ten days or two weeks after the plants are set in the field and should be repeated every week or ten days until the plants are topped.

It is very important to begin applications early. Many growers delay applications until serious injury is noticed.

IMPORTANT: The bud worm prefers corn to tobacco; do not substitute any other material for the corn meal. Use only arsenate of lead for the poison.

MRS. CRICKMORE, 71 SUGGUMBS TODAY

MR. HIGHT BURIED IN CEMETERY HERE

Rites for Prominent Citizen Held from Home on Burwell Avenue

Funeral services were held this afternoon from the residence for the late Thomas Howard Hight, 67, prominent citizen and farmer of the county, who died suddenly of a heart attack at 2:45 o'clock Monday afternoon at his residence on Burwell avenue. The services this afternoon at 4 o'clock were in charge of Rev. T. J. Whitehead, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, and interment followed in Elmwood cemetery.

Mr. Hight was a native of Franklin county, where he was born May 21, 1870. He moved to Henderson in 1892, and had resided here continuously since that time. For many years he was a rural mail carrier, having retired several years ago on reaching the retirement age. Since then he had been engaged in farming activities, and was at his farm Monday morning and apparently in good health. He had suffered from a heart ailment for the past two years, but had never been confined to his bed on account of it.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Kate Brame Hight, two sons, Clyde E. Hight and Charles E. Hight, all of this city, and three sisters, Mrs. L. C. Parvise and Mrs. Hugh Ellington, both of Vance county, and Mrs. W. H. Harrington, of Louisville. Mr. Hight was the son of Harbard Thomas Hight and Mrs. Henrietta Nunn Hight, both of whom have been dead nearly a quarter of a century.

A large gathering of friends joined with relatives for the final rites this afternoon, with many floral offerings sent. Pallbearers for the services were announced as follows:

Active, Leslie, Josh, Roy and Owen Harrington, William Fordue, Forrest, Charles and Hugh Ellington, and Thomas Newman; honorary, Gideon Lamb, J. W. Jones, W. M. Young, W. B. Daniel, Jr., Dr. R. T. Upchurch, W. J. Alston, M. F. Legg, Burrell Smith, T. T. Marrow, W. J. Parham, J. H. Murrell, W. S. West, J. H. Brodie, F. L. Toepelman, S. P. Brummitt, E. C. Kittrell, C. H. Epps, J. E. Hight, E. O. Falkner, J. F. Coghill, Jr., C. S. Finch, W. E. Hight, A. H. Moore, P. E. Wilkerson, J. U. Fleming, Edward Holloway, R. H. Duke, Elvin T. Cuthell, A. A. Hughes, B. E. Hughes, R. T. Cottrell, W. A. Mixon, Archer Boyd, S. T. Peace, A. A. Bunn, K. L. Burton, R. E. Clements, Edmund Waddill.

Mount Auburn section near the Vance-Warren county line, and was known by many here. The editorial follows:

"HIS WORK ENDED and that well done, Dr. P. H. Fleming has passed on to his reward to leave a vacancy in the field of Christian teaching, Christian missions, Christian living.

"His long service in the ministry was his love of that service, his belief in the Divinity; his knowledge that people needed to know more of and about God promoted him always to serve well where he believed he could serve best.

"During his work in the field of education, in the field of public welfare, Dr. Fleming held true allegiance to the Church and after giving up his pastorate at the First Church, he labored among rural Churches and answered the call whenever it came to fill the pulpit for others.

"He was a man who observed no hours when duty called him; to visit the sick, to minister to the needy, to care for the under-privileged children, undernourished, ill or crippled.

"Few men, perhaps, ever knew the tragic side of life as he knew it in his work; his missions as welfare superintendent was one carrying him always to the heartstone of those who through some stroke of misfortune were without food, clothing, medicine... and sunk in the despair of sorrow and grief. "What more than this, a life dedicated to the love of God and man, to a sincere and unselfish service to both?"

NEW PRICE READY ON LIQUOR BRANDS
Schedules Fixed by State Control Board Effective in Counties as of July 1.

Daily Dispatch Bureau, in the Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, June 29.—The new uniform liquor price list, which will apply in every county operating liquor stores in the State on and after July 1, has been printed and is now being sent out to all the county liquor control boards and to all liquor stores, Chairman Cutler Moore of the State liquor control board said today. Clerks in his office are busy sending out batches of the new list to the 75 or more liquor stores in the 22 counties in which stores are already operating.

The new price list is printed on both sides of a single sheet of paper almost as large as a newspaper page. It starts off with the straight whiskies, followed by whiskies, blended whiskies, blends of straight whiskies, bottled-in-bond whiskies, Canadian whiskies, and Scotch whiskies, all on

GEORGIA STUDIES N. C. HIGHWAY PLAN

Officials Here Viewing Safety Measures, Patrol and License Law

Daily Dispatch Bureau, in the Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, June 29.—Two officials of the Georgia Public Safety Commission were here Monday studying the organization plan of the North Carolina highway patrol, the drivers license law and the general plans along which the highway safety division and the patrol are operating in this State. They were Major John C. Carter, Commissioner of Public Safety for the State of Georgia, of Atlanta, and T. C. Rowland, treasurer and auditor of the commission.

"We decided to come up here and see and learn what we could since we have heard of your safety division, drivers license law and highway patrol for a long time—and we have learned a lot," Major Carter said after conferring with Captain Charles D. Farmer of the highway patrol, Director Arthur Fulk of the highway safety division and assistant director Ronald Hocutt.

The last Georgia general assembly created the new state safety commission and set up the highway patrol and drivers' license administration under the new commission, Major Carter said. There will be 120 men in the new highway patrol, the same number as in the North Carolina patrol. The Georgia law requires that the captains and lieutenants must have had service in the U. S. Army or in the national guard and the patrol will be organized along strict military lines, Major Carter, a former army officer, said. He estimates that about three months will be required to select and train the patrolmen and get it operating smoothly.

The Georgia drivers' license law requires every automobile driver to make application for a driver's license and to be examined by a highway patrolman before being given such a license. A fee of $2 is charged for each license granted, which is good for two years, must be renewed every two years upon payment of the license fee.

Cotton Bloom Brought In.
Willie Wilkins, colored, brought to the Dispatch office today one of two cotton blooms, the two being the first brought in this summer. Willie picked the bloom in his patch just below South Henderson this morning, he said.

Cio Union Making Little Headway In State Factories

fused to join the union and have gone back to work, preferring steady jobs at prevailing wages and under prevailing conditions, to no jobs at all under a CIO strike.

The thing that is slowing up CIO efforts here in North Carolina more than anything else, however, is the realization on the part of the workers that if they should join the CIO unions, they would at once come under the complete domination of the CIO officials, most of them from other states through the check-off system and the closed shop policy. For it is generally known that the CIO is insisting upon contracts with employers pledging them to these two things.

Under the closed shop plan, no person can get a job in a mill or factory under CIO domination unless he or she is a member of the CIO union. This means, in turn, that if any employee does anything that the union head does not like, he or she is dropped from the union and then automatically loses his or her job, with virtually no chance of ever getting it back. The result is that the worker becomes almost the slave of the union and its officials, since he or she must retain the favor of the union officials in order to stay on the payroll.

Under the check-off system, the employers are required to deduct the amount of the union dues or assessments from the pay envelopes of the workers whenever any member fails to pay his dues promptly while in the same industries, as in the coal mining industry, employers are required to deduct the union dues from their employees each week or month, regardless of how much it is and without consulting the workers. Reliable reports are to the effect that John L. Lewis, CIO head, gets $600,000 a month from the coal miners alone, to say nothing of hundreds of thousands more from SIO members in other industries.

As old fashioned as it may seem, there are still many workers in North Carolina who feel that their loyalty is to their employers rather than to some outside union organizers, who believe they are just as able to bargain with their employers as those outsiders, who feel they are getting a square deal and fair wages and that they have no reason to organize into a union or call a strike. Many of these also feel that they can use the $2 to $2.50 a month that would be deducted from their wages for union dues just as well as the union can, that they see no reason they should pay out this money which they need for themselves and their families, to buy the salaries of high-priced organizers or to buy food for strikers in other states. It is maintained. As a result, the CIO is reported to be making slow progress in North Carolina right now.

Fun?

SURE IT IS

... and mighty strenuous too!

"SPORT, even for the fun of it, can be tiring," says Miss Gloria Wheeden, who here shows her skill at aquaplaning. "Yes, I smoke," she says. "When I feel a bit let-down, I light up a Camel and get a 'lift' in energy." A suggestion: When an active day drains physical and nervous energy, you can get a delightful "lift" from a Camel. They never get on your nerves.

20 MILES AN HOUR on a skittery board is thrill enough! But Gloria Wheeden is a daring miss who hikes it up to 40 (upper left picture). Executes a hand-stand (above). Stews around a fast turn with two aboard (right). There's no doubt about her nerves being healthy. "Camels are head and shoulders on top for mildness," she says. "Much as I smoke, they don't bother my nerves a bit."

1060 PARACHUTE JUMPS. That's the record of Floyd Stinson, who started smoking Camels 10 years ago. "I've found just what I want in Camels. Mildness—tastiness—a lift when I'm tired," he says.
