TODAY'S HOROSCOPE

Today's native will possess considerable versatility, and an inquiring mind that will lead toward the study of unusual subjects. There is some lack of perseverance and an undue tendency to worry under certain aspects which, if unchecked, will sometimes prevent the attainment of the desires, and even a due success in life.

1793—Assassination of Marat, notorious leader of the French Revolution by Charlotte Corday.

Wednesday, July 14; Bastille Day in France and possessions and in Panama Canal Zone, too. Founders day in Rhodesia. Venus in greatest heliocentric latitude South.

Weather Beliefs: "Easterly winds bring rain." TODAY'S YESTERDAYS July 14, 1788—Congress proclaimed the federal Constitution ratified with nine States the necessary number, having given their assent.

Four others still opposed the Constitution at the time, and North Carolina and Rhode Island held out against it until after Congress had been elected and organized and the government was in operation under President Washington.

In Providence, R. I., a July 4 celebration was broken up by 1,000 men led by a justice of the Supreme Court, who forced the citizens to omit from the ceremonies anything favorable to the Constitution.

July 14, 1808—M. de Grandpre and M. Le Pique fought the most unique duel on record. The latter when challenged to fight with blunderbusses in balloons floating over the Tuileries in Paris. The firing began when they were half a mile up and 80 feet apart. De Grandpre's first shot put a ball through Le Pique's balloon, sent his adversary crashing to death. Le Pique second had to be with him in the balloon; he was killed, too.

AMERICA AT WAR DAY-BY-DAY 20 Years Ago Today—House of Representatives passed a bill appropriating $640,000,000 for war aircraft. Senate gave its approval on the 21st.

(Up to the time of the Armistice, 16 months later, not one single American-made plane was flown in battle by Americans in France.) A thousand foreign-born miners were driven out of the Flat River region of Missouri, by armed American coal miners protesting use of foreign labor. Lord Northcliffe, the British newspaper tycoon who headed the British war omission over here, said: "I trust the United States will not make the censorship blunder that England for nearly three years. I hope that America may permit her newspapers and magazines to be absolutely frank about what is going on. It is as important for the nation to know the worst as it is for a nation to know best."

IN WASHINGTON WHAT IS TAKING PLACE BY First R. Reynolds UNITED STATES SENATOR

Although there has been no let-up in committee consideration of new federal legislation, labor standards, Federal reorganization and numerous other matters, in preparation for congressional action on the proposal to reorganize the judiciary is out of the way, the latter measure is now the highlight of widespread interest. As this is being written, opponents of court changes are presenting their case. By the time this is published a vote in the Senate may be near.

However, developments are coming so rapid that the subject must be left to the daily press and the radio which are keeping the public informed on the more significant trends. This opens the way for timely mention of a subject of unusual interest to those unfamiliar with the daily movements of their members of Congress. In other words, the senatorial day.

The senator's day begins at varying hours. I have seen members of the Senate headed for their offices as early as six in the morning. I have had visitors knocking on my own door as early as seven. But by nine o'clock from ten to twenty people are usually awaiting interviews, and the number increase up to noon. Some have appointments and others await their turn. The majority are hopeful of assistance in securing jobs and all feel that their demands can be met. To these daily interviews is added anywhere from one to several hundred letters, post cards, and circulars, the majority requiring immediate attention. As attention is given to visitors and mail, telephone calls add to time required.

Many people believe that the purpose of Congress convening at noon is to allow members to have the morning free. Such is not the case. The average member of Congress is on several committees. These committees meet during the morning hours. It is the time when hearings are held on important legislation and when committee members confer on reports to be made to their respective bodies, Senate, or House, as the case may be.

And the Congress functions by committees, the prestige of an individual member, being largely based on his rank on committees. The new member begins, always, at the bottom on a committee list and moves upward over a period of years to the coveted chairmanships.

Senators, and representatives as well, unless they have some important or pressing appointment in their offices, go direct from committee rooms to the floor of the Senate or House. All endeavors to be present for the roll call.

Shortly after twelve, congressional pages bring the daily trek from reception rooms to the wells of the Senate and House, with calls for members. Constituents and even strangers want time for interviews. Unless the business on the floor is of extreme importance, the interviews are granted. They result in every conceivable request. Some are merely friendly calls.

When free from duties in the committee room or on the floor of office, the member must make departmental calls. Advice is sought on pending Federal appointments, contracts of interest to the congressional member's state, and perhaps some particular phase of government activity in which the member is interested. And while attending to these missions the member must be in constant communication with his office with regard to telegrams and telephone calls. Not the least of the time-taking demands, is the necessity for short chats with numerous persons encountered by a member of Congress when away from his office.

SOUTH HENDERSON WHIPS NORLINA, 7-3

South Henderson's Lucky Strike nine trimmed Norlina three Monday afternoon 7 to 3 as Vernon allowed the Warren county boys only four safeties, and issued two free passes to the initial sack.

The Luckies liked the offerings of Robertson, and rapped them for fourteen bingles, including a circuit swat by W. Crissom with a mate aboard the hassocks. Monday's win gave the Luckies a percentage of 1,000 in League play, having won five contests and not having been defeated.

CHARLOTTE, BULLS WILL MEET WINDY

Durham, July 14 (Special)—A baseball dish not on the regular menu will be served followers of the Durham Bulls when the local Piedmont League entry clashes with the Charlotte Hornets at Durham Athletic park, Sunday, July 18. Originally an open date in the Bull schedule, President Paul Florence arranged to bring the Hornets here to make up a game postponed by rain and give the Bulls fans a Sabbath attraction. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

Booking of the extra date gives the Bulls a run of 11 consecutive games in their own enclosure, for on July 19 the Norfolk Tars open a regular three-game series. They are followed by the Portsmouth Cubs, who will visit the city for four days, winding up with another Sunday engagement on July 25. The Norfolk clan then returns for three more games. This is the longest home stand of the season for the Bulls, and they expect to pick up considerable ground in their drive to get in the upper bracket of the league race, which will enter them in the fall Shaughnessy series for the Governors' cup.

RAIN BLOCKS PLAY FOR SOFT BALLERS

Rain blocked play in the Soft Ball league yesterday afternoon, and the games will be run off Friday afternoon, according to H. M. Lewis, Jr., generalissimo of the circuit. Rose will meet the Bankers and the Baptist will meet the Presbyterians, the latter tilt at Lassiter's Field. Today's tilt find Wall Street meeting the Methodist at League Park, and the Bankers' taking on the Underwriters at Lassiter's Field. Thursday's card calls for the meeting of Presbyterians and Underwriters at League Park, and Lions meeting Wall Street at Lassiter's Field.

ELON ALUMNI WILL TALK OVER COACH

Elon College, July 13—President L. E. Smith has announced a meeting of the alumni for July 16 at 8 o'clock at which time the coaching situation will be discussed. While the final selecting of a Coach will be left in the hand of the Board of Trustees, President Smith is anxious that the Alumni discuss the matter and make whatever recommendations they desire to the Board of Trustees who will meet right away. Coaches D. C. "Peahead" Walker and Ellys Fissal have accepted work at Wake Forest College which leaves Elon to select men for both positions, head coach and assistant. The fact that the head coach is supposed to be able to handle all three major sports causes the field of eligibility to be very limited. The assistant coach helps with football and has charge of boxing and wrestling, and intra-rural sports.
