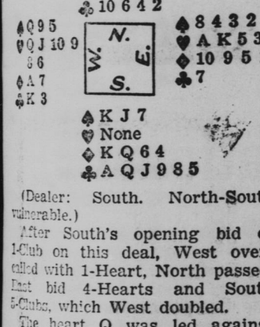
"The Authority on Authorities"

WHY BE A GUESSER?

THE GOOD GUESSER usually has a fifty-fifty chance of success. But who wants to be a good guesser? If there is some way to eliminate all guesswork and make your result 100 per cent sure, why not use that instead of trying to figure out who probably holds a particular queen?



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

After South's opening bid of 1-Club on this deal, West overcalled with 1-Heart, North passed, East bid 4-Hearts and South 5-Clubs, which West doubled.

The heart Q was led against this contract and ruffed by South. The hand looked simple, with the loss of the diamond A and even the club K, if the finesse failed, provided South could decide just which way to finesse for the spade Q.

The diamond K was led and won by West, who returned the heart J. After ruffing this, South led to the diamond J and ruffed the heart 7. By now, it was apparent to declarer that the club K was held by West, so he laid down his club A, cashed the diamond Q and ruffed the diamond 6. Now a club was led to West, who had the choice to leading a spade or a heart, either of which suited the declarer.

Protamine Insulin as Used For Treatment of Diabetics

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

PATIENTS WITH diabetes do not like to start taking insulin because (1) it looks like an endless thing and (2) because it requires a hypodermic injection. The idea that if you once start insulin you have to keep it up is only partly true. It is true that if the condition of the body requires it, the best thing is to continue, but it isn't true that if for some reason it has to be stopped, any serious result is likely to occur.

Dr. Clendening

So far as the second objection (the use of a hypodermic) is concerned, it still holds, but in the new protamine insulin we have lessened the inconvenience because it can be given in one dose in the morning, and continues to work all through the 24 hours.

If the hesitant diabetic who needs insulin would just try it once, he would need no further argument. He doesn't realize how much better he will feel immediately. I know one patient who said she woke up the morning after her first shot of insulin and felt as if her body had been supplied with something it had needed for a long time. As, indeed, it had.

Dr. Elliott Joslin, an eminent diabetes expert, says:

"A quite unanticipated benefit from the introduction and daily use of protamine insulin has been an alteration in the attitude of the diabetic patients toward their disease. Instead of being neglectful and indifferent, as they often were, to their tests, resisting efforts to keep them more nearly sugar free, they now watch their reports very closely and expect and demand that the physician produce his expected good results. This is a healthy sign. It certainly is desirable for us medical men to be challenged to improve our treatment."

Designed for Patients

Protamine insulin is best designed for patients who have never used insulin, but really need it. For those who have been using regular insulin and have learned how to control the dosage, it is probably disadvantageous to switch to protamine insulin.

Age plays an important role in the degree of control of diabetes with protamine insulin, in that those above 40 years of age did better. The dividing line is 40.

Protamine insulin is also superior to regular insulin in the treatment of underweight individuals who are not diabetic, according to work done at the Scripps Metabolic laboratory. It will be remembered that insulin was urged for this purpose several years ago.
