TODAY'S HOROSCOPE

Today bestows a forceful mentality, aggressive, perhaps quarrelsome, and ready to pick an argument at the slightest provocation. There is much executive ability, somewhat hampered by the tendency to force a way with but little regard for the feelings or prejudices of others, thus incurring enmity. Seek to curb impetuosity.

Today is the Day

Friday, Sept. 24: Las Mercedes in Dominican Republic. Indian Day—a holiday—in Illinois. Mercury in ascending node.

ONCE UPON SEPT. 24
If any one date can be called the most important in Supreme Court history, this is it.

John Marshall, who established the power of the Court, was born Sept. 24, 1755.

Congress created the Court Sept. 24, 1789.

And 75 years ago today, President Abraham Lincoln suspended generally the right of habeas corpus, one of the fundamental liberties of the American citizen, and defied the Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Roger Taney had denied the right of the President to suspend habeas corpus, in certain cases in 1861, affirming such power was vested in Congress alone, and admonished to have Brig. Gen. George Cadwalader arrested for defiance of the court's ruling.

Congress, in creating what was to become the greatest power and check upon its own authority, gave the court no power to enforce its decisions!

Curiously, the very first congressional action declared unconstitutional by the court was part of the law creating the court itself. This section authorized the court to issue writs of mandamus "in cases warranted by the principles and usages of the law to any courts appointed, or persons holding office, under authority of the United States." The court held it should not have this authority.

In those days the justices by no means regarded the court as sacrosanct. One of the original appointees (Robert H. Harrison) declined to serve. Another, John Rutledge, resigned after a few months, but later was persuaded to return. The first chief justice, John Jay, quit to become governor of New York. Begged to accept a reappointment, he refused. Thomas Johnson had likewise refused to be appointed chief justice.

What Do You Know About North Carolina? By FRED H. MAY

- 1. What is the value of the property of the greater University?
2. What is the oldest record we have of a land grant in North Carolina?
3. How many women in North Carolina are wage earners?
4. How many counties showed a decrease in population in 1930?
5. What inquiry into partisan political activities was ordered by the 1936 legislature?
6. What North Carolina congressman is buried in Arlington National Cemetery?

ANSWERS

- 1. The three institutions, The University, State College and N. C. C. W., combined own property valued at $20,424,846. The valuation is based on the latest appraisal, June 30, 1933.
2. That of the land on Perquimans River granted to George Durant by King James I, in 1603. This land still bears the name of Durant's Neck. There were grants earlier than this, as a reference is made in this deed to an earlier grant, however, no records of the former grant have been found.
3. The 1930 census reports show that 282,665 women over 15 years of age are wage earners. The total number of women over 15 years of age in the State is 1,001,408.
4. Three western counties, Alleghany, Swain and Yancey, and two eastern Currituck and Perquimans. The census of 1920 showed that 14 counties and most population during that census period.
5. A joint resolution was adopted, requesting the State Treasurer to report if he had paid out any sums of money to defray the expenses of the celebration of the republican party held at Raleigh on July 4th, of that year. The request also covered the use of any State owned property.
6. John T. Dewesse, carpenter congressman, Dewesse, was born in Arkansas and came to North Carolina at the end of the war. He was sent to congress from Wake county after the State was readmitted to the Union. He took his seat July 6, 1868. He was charged with selling appointments to the Naval Academy and resigned February 23, 1870, while investigations of these charges were being made. He died in Washington July 4, 1906 and was buried in the Arlington National Cemetery.

AMERICA AT WAR DAY-BY-DAY
20 Years Ago Today—To get at the socks of small wage-earners and others unable to buy Liberty Bonds, the Treasury Department announced it would issue War Savings Certificates, of denominations $5 and up. They were to bear four per cent interest and be redeemable in five years.

Higher Prices Checking Trade Volume in Nation
really gone through the roof. Their rise approximates 75 per cent. Pork chops at 44 cents a pound—up 120 per cent—and sirloin steak at 50 cents a pound—up 70 per cent—are in the class of rare delicacies. Most families cannot afford to buy them, while many who can afford to buy refuse to do so because the price is out of line with other foods.

STOCKS GO LOWEST IN LAST TWO YEARS
Declines of Ten Points or More Shown in Some Instances; Bonds, Commodities Off

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Stock market leaders today crashed through support areas and landed in new low territory for about two years. Losses of one to four points were widely distributed. Here and there declines running to 10 or so were in evidence. Large blocks of stocks were thrown overboard and the ticker tape fell behind three minutes at one time. Bonds and commodities skidded with stocks.

Trade Below 1936
There are other illustrations of consumer resistance. Prices on 1938 automobile models are to be higher and dealers have their fingers crossed. Under pressure of a 16 per cent increase in costs, building has now dropped below the level of the preceding year for the first time since May, 1934. Fuel oil is another product which feels the effects of higher prices. Automatic stoker sales are catching up with oil burner sales. In some Eastern cities higher prices have put fuel oil on a $14 a ton equivalent to stove coal which is still $12.50 a ton.
